My dear Mrs. Della:

It will be a source of comfort to you to know that before I went to France your son, D. J., came to Holy Communion. He has been attending Bible Class and Church, and is, as far as far as I can learn, trying to lead a clean, manly Christian life, no easy matter in the army.

His address is 3106577, 59th Can. Batt., E. F., France.

If I can be of service to you at any time, command me Yours Sincerely Capt. R. L. Carson, C. of E. Chaplain, 8th Can. Res. Batt., Whitley Camp, Eng.

The many friends of "Jack" will be pleased to learn of the above.

We understand that Pte. Kenneth Church is in the same battalion as Pte. Dellar and has also left for France.

Thanksgiving Day Oct. 14

Ottawa, Sept. 6.—Thanksgiving day this year has been fixed by the government for Monday, Oct. 14. In selecting that day the government has conformed to the practice adopted in recent years. Formerly Thanksgiving day usually fell on a Thursday in late October or November, but the commercial Travelers' Association and other bodies agitated for a Monday holiday earlier in the season in order to increase the opportunity for family reunions during the season of thanksgiving. This year there has been an agitation to have the holiday fixed for a Thursday and it has also been suggested that the Canadian holiday should conform to that of the United States, which occurs in November.

Walpole Man Wins Prizes

He secured the following awards: In the Canadian bred Clydes—first in the two-year-old filly, Haldimand Bessie; third in filly, 1 yr. old, Lady Kimpurnie; and second in the heavy draught single, in harness. We heartily congratulate Mr. Peacock on his success. We understand he is showing at the Western Fair.

Public Library

Members are respectfully notified that the annual fee of one dollar became payable on the first of May last. All those who have not paid for this year, (1918), are requested to hand their money to the Librarian or Mr. Andrew Rodgers, the Treasurer, as new books are urgently needed.

THOS. H. LEWIS, Sec'y.

In Memoriam

A memorial service in memory of the late Ralph Townson, who recently died of wounds in France, will be held in Christ Church, Nanticoke on Sunday afternoon next at 3 o'clock.

The consumption of Atlantic fish in Ontario for the first six months of 1918 was 500 percent over that of last year. In the western provinces the consumption of Pacific fish has also been vastly increased since the war, but Canadian fish consumption is still far short of the one pound per week standard recommended by the Canada Food Board in order to conserve meat supplies.

New sugar regulations have been put into effect by the Canada Food Board by which restaurants are limited to two pounds of sugar for 90 meals served, while soda fountains and ice cream establishments are restricted to 25 percent of the average monthly amount of sugar used during 1917. The various manufacturers using sugar have also been subjected to revised regulations.

The Prize Lists of the Jarvis Fair will be in circulation this week and offers a list of unusual attractiveness. The different sections have been carefully revised and the special prizes offer a much greater showing. The special attractions are also especially good this year and the talent secured for the concert in the evening is of the best. Don't fail to make arrangements to enjoy this outing. A card to the Sec'y-Treas., Mr. Gordon Miller, will ensure you a prize list containing full particulars.

Teaching Our Children True Patriotism

The following paper was read by Mrs. Dee Parkinson at the last regular meeting of the Sanduski Women's Institute.

Love of that which is one's own seems to be one of the primitive instincts of humanity. The small boy will agree that his dog or his wagon is better than any other. In the older individuals he is a poor man indeed who does not voice his resentment when his church, his family or his party is attacked. Such a feeling should provide our mind in regard to our native country and we should by example and story try to impress it on our children. Not that we are the one and only country and that no other has a right to its place in the sun but to think as Goldsmith writes—

"Such is the patriot's boast wherein we roam—

His first, best country ever is his home.

Now why should we love Canada and teach our children to do so? Because it is our greatest earthly heritage. If a Canadian be millionaire or pauper he enjoys the advantages gained from the work of the early settlers, the early explorers and those who worked to give us just laws and free religion. They sowed and we of to-day reap the benefit. Canada also makes her citizens self respecting. No Canadian to-day has to bow his head to the war-lord or cringe when the aristocrat passes. These are not found in Canada. Then again our lives and property have the protection of our country's laws. How long could we consider anything, which we hold dear, safe, if the guardians of the law refused to act? These are a few reasons, some of them selfish perhaps, why we should love and realize a duty toward our country.

One of the best means of teaching on children patriotism is by stories of the early settlers, impressing on them that the dangers were braved, the hardships were endured, the battles were fought, for them. Take the Jesuit priests, those simple men living men who were the first to make their way across Ontario and around the north of Lake Superior. No Indian torture or hardships were great enough to discourage them. Later on we come to the old country emigrant. Picture to the child pioneer life—the country covered with forest and filled with wild animals. Homes were established under the greatest of hardships and privations. Can we wonder that these Canadian boys, the descendants of those who battled against such odds, are showing themselves red blooded on the field of battle to-day? They are showing the 'grit and stick' of their forefathers. Let us instill it into our children.

Canadians are especially blessed in that they have a double heritage—they are British as well. Tennyson says: "Love thou the land with love far bought From out the storied past And what a wonderful storied past has Britain! Become acquainted with British history and you will find that God has always been with the Anglo-Saxon race in their defeats as well as their victories. Show your children how the true British character has been developed, this character so aptly described by Sir Francis Doyle:

Our English hearts beat true
On land, on sea we had our colors, sir
To keep without a spot
There rose no murmur from the ranks, no thought
By shameful strength unhored life to seek
Our post to quit, we were not trained, nor taught
To trample down the weak.

This spirit has been slowly but surely developed by the outstanding lights of British history. It was found in Nelson, Wolfe, Wellington, in the daring of Drake and Hawkins, in the fight Cromwell waged, in the writing of Tennyson, Shakespeare and Milton, and the reforms of Pitt. This all formed a composite character, the Anglo-Saxon, which we may be proud to have our children inherit. Then again let us not forget the thrilling stories of patriotism of our own day. I am safely that if we knew the history of each of our own boys on the battlefield, those we could not account as heroes would be very few. Perhaps you have heard the story of that little Dutch boy who left Simcoe with the 133rd. He was friendless in Canada and all he could say in his broken English was "I love Canada and I go to fight for her." After being sent to the trenches he wrote back for a small Canadian flag as he wanted to carry it in his pocket over his heart when he marched into Berlin. He will not march into Berlin, he lies buried in Belgium. The flag came back to Simcoe, among his effects stained with blood—his life blood. What higher example of patriotism could we require.

In order to love we must have respect. If our children are to love Canada they must respect Canada through its rulers and its citizens. How can this be done if we are continually nagging at the government and those in authority if we grumble about the war taxes and complain about the food regulations—if we
