With the two Marys came Salome (Mark 16:1) and Joanna (Luke 24:10). They had left their different homes at a very early hour, some while "it was yet dark" (John 20:1), to reach the sepulchre at about daybreak, to see the sepulchre—Their purpose was e body of Jesus, since they had no thought that he would leave the tomb in the manner he did. 2. a great earthquake—This occurred very early in the morning before the women reached the sepulchre. There was an earthquake attending Christ's erucifixion, and one attending his resurrection. the angel of the Lord-A messenger sent on a special errand. His mission was to roll back the stone to over-awe the guards and to show the Jesus' body was not removed from the tomb by the disciples. Luke and John speak of two angels, while Matthew and Mark mention one. - The fact that they mention but one does not prove that there were not two. rolled back the stone—A stone, in shape something like a mill-stone, was used to close the entrance to the sepulchre. Christ could have rolled it back himself, but angelic agency was employed in the great transaction. sat upon it—The Roman soldiers had been supernaturally overpowered; the angel was sitting by the tomb that had been supernaturally opened. The Mission of the Women (vs. 5-8). 5. the angel. . . . said unto the ! women—The women had come to be sent on a joyous mission, for their Lord was alive and the good news probable that Mary Magdalene reached the tomb first and saw that the stone was rolled away. She hastened to tell Peter, and while she was gone, the other women arrived and entered the sepulchre. They were naturally affrighted at the absence of Jesus and the circumstances attending his disappearance. One of the two angels mentioned by Luke and John spoke words of comfort to the women. fear not ye-The guards were terrified at the presence of the angels, but a message of comfort was borne to the women

Joseph of Armsthaea-sought the privilege of burying the body in his own new tomb. places are claimed as the tomb of our Lord, and each of these places has its strong supporters. The Church of the Holy Sepulchre stands over the spot which is claimed to be the place of the crucifixion and burial of Christ. It is within the walls of Jerusalem, while the place where Christ suffered was without the gate. This location seems to lack the hill Calvary, or Golgotha. The church is held jointly by Greeks. Roman Catholics, Armenians and other sects, and adherents of these faiths now seem to worship places and images there instead of the living God. Outside the walls of the city on the north is a hill that many regard as Calvary,. Its shape is like that of a skull. Close by is a garden and a tomb hown out of the solid rock. The hill and the tomb answer well the description we have of the crucifixion and resurrection of Christ. It is the belief of many, that if either place is the tomb where our Lord was laid.the one under the church in the city. or the one outside the walls on the north, known as the Garden Tomo,the latter is the one. The Lord's body was placed in a tomb. The Roman officer had pierced his side, so there could be no doubt of the fact of Christ's death. 6. he is risen—A reason why he is not here. The death and resurall ages have gathered encouragement and strength from this simple, yet forceful, recital of the resurrection of our Lord. They have been strengthened for the duties and conflicts of life. and have been encouraged to be true until death with the hope of a glorfous immortality beyond this life.

7. Tell his disciples—The sorrowing despairing disciples must be told quickly that Jesus is risen. Peter's sad and penitent heart must be cheered. Into Galilee-Beiore his crucifixion he had told his disciples that he would go before them into Galilee (Mat. 26: 32: Mark 14: 28). He appeared to them before going there, but his appearance to the greatest number of his followers was in Galilee. 8. Departed quickly from the sepulchre-There was no further attraction for them there since Jesus was gone. With fear-Because of the awe-inspiring, angelic visitation. All was now changed. Jesus was alive, and their faith and hope would be greater than ever in the past from the very fact that he had risen from the dead. III. Meeting Jesus (vs. 9, 10). 9. As they went-In obedience to the angel's command. It was a glad message they were bearing. Jesus met them-This was the second appearance. The first appearance was to Mary Magdalene (Mark 16: 9). It seems that when she told Peter and John of the empty tomb they at once ran to the sepulchre to see for themselves (John 20: 2-10). and she also returned at once to the tomb. During her absence the other women had received their commission from the angel and had hurriedly left. Peter and John soon left also, and Mary remained alone at the tomb weeping. It was then that Jesus appeared to her (John 20: 11-18), Later in the morning Jesus met the other women who had gone to tell the disciples, who were probably scattered and may have been some distance away. All hotl-Literally, rejoice; the Greek salutation on meeting and parting. 10. Shall they see me-This public appointment was made in order that the whole body of disciples might meet the risen Lord.

Questions.-How long was Christ's body in the temb? What proofs are there that he was dead? When did he rise from the dead? Who came early to the sepulchre? Why did they come? Describe the appearance of the angel. What was the angel's message to the women? To whom did our Lord first appear? How did the Jews explain the disappearance of Christ's body from the tomb? What were the feelings of the disciples when they learned that Christ had risen from the dead? What appointment did Jesus make with his disciples?

PRACTICAL SURVEY. Topic.—The Meaning of Christ's Resurrection. I. Its certainty.

II. Its assurance I. It's certainty, Five great nonginal events are inseparably connected with Christ's work of atonement. Incarnaion. errofficion. resurrection, ascension, intercession. Four of these transpired within the realm of the visible and on the material plane; the last on the plane of the spiritual and within the unseen. The first four are finished transactions; the priestly work of the fifth will continue until intercession gives place to judgment. The resurrection stands midway in redemptional processes. Toward it all the preceding tend, and in it find consummation; from it the succeeding flow. It is one of the elementary truths of the Christian system. Its place and importance set it among the Christian verities, a corner-stone in the edifice of human redemption. Jesus predicted His own recurrection. His death and afford firm footing for rection of Christ are always associated in apostolic preaching. The one is completed in the other, and with it the whole gospel stands or falls. Without the resurrection there is no message. Paul makes it the pivotal point of Christian faith. "If Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins." No fact of Christ's earthly sojourn is more fully attested. There are recorded ten distinct appearances between the resurrection and ascension. With one exception the place and with two exceptions the time are definitely stated. On one occasion above five hundred witnesses were present. "He showed Himself alive after His passion by many infallible proofs." II. Its assurance. The resurrection of Jesus confirms the past. Ages of preparation culminated in the cross. the decisive meeting-place between man's sin and God's grace; but withdeclarations and hopes were in susestablishes Christ's own stupendous firms His entire claim and publicly attests the Father's acceptance of His work of atonement. It was the crowning demonstration of His Sonship and Messiahship and the culminating proof that he was "a teacher sent from God." He was "declared to be the Son of God with power...by the re-surrection from the dead." It was the natural and necessary completion of tne work of atonement, the sequel to the crucifixion and the ground of justification. "He was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our fustification." If He remained a prey to death, He could not redeem others and His priesthood vanishes. The resurrection of Jesus certifies immortality. It is the ground and pledge of the resurrection of believers . Without it the Christian dead have perished. Jesuse came from God and went to God, and He has shed a flood of light into the unseen world, revealing a conscious and positive life of holiness, of blessedness and of glory in a perfected likeness to Himself in body, soul and spirit.

The history of the early life of Benjamin West, the most remarkable of all American-born painters, reads almost like a fairy tale. It is all the more interesting because it is true. His father and mother lived more than a hundred years ago in Pennsylvania. They had nine children, and one day, when another little chap arrived, he made ten, and because he was the youngest of the flock they named him Benjamin.

From Pioneer Boy to Friend

John West, the father, kept a store. so that there were always people for Benjamin to see as he grew into boyhood. Among the people were members of a tribe of Delaware Indians. Upon one occasion they saw him drawing pictures of birds, flowers and fruits with colors that he had mixed of chalk and berry juices, into which he dipped a brush made of hairs from the family cat, tied into a goose quill. They took so much interest in hie rude work that they showed him some time I often had to get up as often of their own pictures, and taught him as twenty or thirty times a day. how to prepare the red and yellow colors, made from earth, with which they stained their weapons and drew figures on the inside of their skin robes. Blue he got from his mother's indigo bag. One day Benjamin was left to watch his sieter's baby, which had been rocked to sleep and lay in a wooden cradle. Presently the baby smiled in sleep, and he thought she looked vety pretty, and why shouldn't he make her picture?

"I tried many remedies, but got little benefit till I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. In three days I got relief, and three boxes cleared all the pains out of my system. I also rest much better at nights. "I am always glad to tell other suf-

Encouraging Fact.

I know of no more encouraging ability of man to elevate his life by conscious endeavor. It is something to be able to paint a particular picture or to carve a statue, and so to make a few objects beautiful, but it is far more glorious to carve and paint the very atmosphere and medium through which we look, which morally we can do.
