Franglais a New Tongue.

"Franglais" is a new language that you hear in France to-day. The word is made out of Franglaise and Anglais, the French words for French and English—and the language itself is made out of a fearful jumble of words that were perfectly good when they played by themselves, but don't always mix.

Franglais is what you hear where Americans and English men and women without a very good knowledge of these hosts' own speech find themselves at work alongside of French men and French women—soldiers, nurses, relief workers, shopkeepers and all sorts of folk.

American Red Cross workers say that when you gather up several hundred little French babies who hardly begin to speak any language at all and several hundred little ones who are speaking the universal and universally incomprehensible language of babyhood, the results are one degree harder to understand than grown-up Franglais.

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians

RAISIN DISHES.

Some Good Ways to Use Healthful Article.

Lemon-Raisin Pie may be tried for a change. Simply cook two-thirds cupful ground seeded raisins in one and one-quarter cupful water about twenty minutes. Mix two tablespoonfuls each of flour and cornstarch with two-thirds cupful sugar, dilute with four table-spoonfuls water, add to raisins and cook until smooth and clear.

Take from fire, add three table-spoonfuls lemon juice, grated rind of one lemon, one table-spoonful butter and two or three slightly beaten. Bake in crust as custard pie. When crust is well baked and filling firm cover with meringue from stiffly beaten whites two eggs, two table-spoonfuls powdered sugar and three-quarters table-spoonful lemon extract.

Banana-Raisin Pie—Cook one-half cupful chopped seed raisins in one cup water until plump. Take from fire, add two table-spoonfuls sifted cracker crumbs mixed with one table-spoonful flour and one table-spoonful butter. Let stand covered until cold. Cut one large banana in thin slices, add one-quarter table-spoonful cinnamon, one-quarter table-spoonful nutmeg, three table-spoonfuls sugar, three-quarters table-spoonful lemon extract and grated rind of one-half lemon. Combine mixture, add one well-beaten egg and two table-spoonfuls seeded raisins cut in pieces. Bake between two crusts.

Raisin Puffs—Cream one-third cupful butter, add two table-spoonfuls sugar, two well-beaten eggs, one cupful milk, two cupfuls baking powder and one-quarter table-spoonful salt, one cupful seeded raisins cut in small pieces and mixed with one-quarter cupful flour. Turn into buttered cups. Steam about 15 minutes. Serve the plain or whipped cream, sweetened and flavored to taste.

Raisin Cup Cakes—Two-thirds cupful butter, two cupfuls sugar, four eggs, one cupful milk, three and one-half cupfuls flour, four level table-spoonfuls baking powder, one-quarter table-spoonful nutmeg, one table-spoonful lemon extract, one and one-quarter cupfuls seeded raisins cut in halves and small pieces, a little in muffin pans. Cover with frosting and put seeded raisins in centre of each.

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

There is no medicine for little ones to equal Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative; pleasant to take; do not grip and never fail to relieve the little one of constipation, indigestion, colic or any of the other minor ailments. Concerning them Mrs. Jos. Monzerolle, Eel River Ridge, N. B., writes: "I believe Baby's Own Tablets are the finest medicine for little ones I have ever used. From my own experience I would recommend every mother to keep a box on hand." The Tablets are sold by medical dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WANDERING LAKE

Strange Body of Water in Turkey.

Lake Lop-nor, the wandering lake of the desert of Tayla-makan, in eastern Turkistan, is the termination of the River Tarkin. Like a pendulum, the lake has swung from the south to the north of the desert, and back again, since the memory of man. The wanderings of the lake are a tradition handed down from father to son for centuries. The natives of the lake shore have always followed the waters.

At present Lop-nor is in the southern part of the desert; a shallow reedy body of water hardly deserving the name of lake. Murky and unpleasant, it furnishes a livelihood to the inhabitants of its banks, the majority of whom are fishermen. In their frail shallow boats they cut through the reeds, fishing and hunting for water fowl along the banks. In some places the reeds are too thick to admit the passage of the boat; in such cases, however, it is possible to walk over the water on rafts of dried and rotting stems. The chief native delicacy is the eggs of the reed-birds.

Lake Lop-nor is one of the hottest places on the map in the summer and the coldest in the winter. During the winter months the lake is entirely frozen over, the temperature diving to 20 degrees below zero. In the summer the combination of a temperature of 106 degrees and the innumerable flies and mosquitoes which swarm on the banks make Lop-nor anything but a summer resort.

The explanation of the lake's wanderings lies in the fact that Tayla-makan carries every year quantities of silt to the lake bed, which slowly rises in time, a hundred years or so, the river must seek a new outlet, and the pendulum swings to the north or south of the desert, as the case may be.

EURASIAN CANAL.

French Engineer's Scheme to Use Euphrates.

Gustave Defosse, a French engineer, has worked out a scheme for a canal from the Mediterranean Sea to the Persian Gulf, involving a revival of the proposal of opening the middle Euphrates to navigation on a large scale. His plan, which is based on surveys made on the spot from 1901 to 1912, and which were prepared during the years 1913 to 1917, provide for a canal 69 miles in length, with a width of 328 feet on the surface and of 230 feet on the bottom, and a uniform depth of 32 ft. 9 in. The canal would start from the Mediterranean at Suedich, following the course of the River Nahr-el-Asi to Lake Abiad, from which point a channel would be excavated to Khalat Betis, where it would join the Euphrates, and this latter stream, trained and improved, would provide the waterway to the Persian Gulf.

The scheme provides for a number of regulating dams of his own design, for which he claims the double advantage of not hindering navigation and of enabling constant levels to be maintained over great lengths. These dams, of which there would be one on the Suedich-Khalat Betis section and four between Khalat Betis and the Persian Gulf, would consist of two massive piers having in their faces broad grooves between which slides the steel calsson that constitutes the moveable dam. As water is pumped into or out of this calsson it sinks till its upper part is flush with the bottom of the canal or rises so as to block the channel entirely, or occupies any intermediate position that may be desired to regulate the flow of water. At the points where regulating dams of this kind are placed the channel would be gradually narrowed to about a third of its normal width.

M. Defosse puts the cost of the canal and its appurtenant works at $24,000,000 (about $320,000,000), and considers that it could be completed ready for traffic in seven years. The gross revenue from international traffic he estimates at a minimum of $5,960,000 (about $239,000,000) on the basis of a daily entry of 50,000 tons from the Mediterranean, and of 30,000 tons from the Persian Gulf, and a charge of 5¢ (4s. 2d., about $1) a ton for the whole transit of the canal.

Scientific Discovery by Cat.

While the cat has often served the purposes of science, it has generally been not to her own comfort and frequently with the loss of her life. One cat in Australia, however, proved her usefulness in the advancement of human knowledge without being compelled to sacrifice herself on the altar of science.

This cat belonged to a member of an expedition into the interior of Australia. One day she brought to her master a strange little animal which she had captured among the rocks. The man handled the animal over to the naturalist of the party, who saw at once that pussy had made an important discovery. The animal she had caught was a new and apparently rare species of the tribe of insect eating marsupials belonging to the great family of which the giant kangaroo is the most conspicuous representative.

The Social Fabric.

To uphold the social system women submit to uncounted tests of their constancy. They endure physical discomfort, ennui, the peril of cold drafts and damp places, hours of weariness and moments of acute annoyance for the sake of what, to a man, is an unimportant social matter. And even though at times she feels that it would be little if the whole social scheme of things should perish—and that instantly with fire and bloodshed if need be—rather than require so much of her, she stands to her colors.

Footed the Reporter.

A good story concerning De Valera, the Sinn Fein leader, is going the rounds of London.

It appears that recently a certain London newspaper sent a reporter over to Ireland to take shorthand notes of one of his speeches. The audience objected, but De Valera was all smiles and urbanity.

"Let the gentleman remain," he said, "So far as I am concerned, he is at liberty to report my speech verbatim, if it pleases him."

De Valera advanced to the front of the platform. Eyes glistened, ears were all attention, and the reporter's pencil was poised in the air. De Valera bestowed one more benignant smile on the newspaper man, winked wickedly at his audience, and began his speech—in the Gaelic language.—Pearson's Weekly.

Beer Ancient Drink.

Beer is believed to be one of the most ancient of drinks. Manuscripts written at least 2,000 years before the Christian era show conclusively that even at that primitive period the manufacture of an intoxicating liquor from barley or other grain was extensively carried on in Europe.

Worth Knowing.

A delicious soda biscuit to serve with afternoon tea is made as follows: A table-spoonful and a half of butter, two table-spoonfuls of cream of tartar, one table-spoonful of soda, one pint of milk, a little salt, and one quart of sifted flour. Mix the flour, salt, butter and cream of tartar together; then dissolve the soda in the milk, and add the liquid slowly to the flour. Work the whole mixture together well, roll the dough out to a quarter inch thickness, and cut it into rounds about the size of a quarter. Bake brown in a quick oven.

Warm Though Far North.

It is difficult to realize, but it is none the less true that the Murman coast of Russia is as far north as King William Land, where Sir John Franklin and his men abandoned the Erebus and the Terror. But the Gulf stream makes all the climatic difference. For that reason it is possible for Quebec to be much further south than London, and New York to be on the parallels of latitude of Spain and yet have winters of great severity.—Christian Science Monitor.

REMEMBER THAT

A Baker's Dozen of Reminders for the Home-Gardener.

Flower seeds should not be sown until May 1, even though the weather seems settled. While night remains cool, seeds lie inert and often rot. Sweet peas are an exception.

Meanwhile home gardeners should not lie idle. April should be their busiest month.

Every minute spent in preparing beds for seeds or perennials brings its reward. Dig, turn, pulverize, sift soil. If necessary, remove stones, old roots, etc.

Where soil is hard-baked and clayey, or sour and wet, well-rotted manure is essential.

FOR SALE—DAVIS & FURBER Mule, 360 spindles, 24-inch gauge, 25 spool drums, 15 ends per spool. Machine in good condition. All particulars apply Slingsby Mfg. Co., Ltd., Bramford, Ont.

When fifteen inches high to induce a bushy growth. Repeat with chrysanthemums several times before Sept. 1. To get big blooms and brilliant colors with dahlias and gladiolus, fertilize weekly after buds appear.

Cultivation of the soil means more to the average plant than tons of manure on unbroken soil.

Annuals do not bloom until July 1, so set out clumps of perennials (peonies, iris, bleeding hearts, columbine, gladiolus, spirea, plantain, daisy and sweet William) to give spring and early summer bloom.

All transplanting, whether of seedlings or old-established plants, should be done on a cloudy day or after sundown. Then water well.

Regular attention is the main essential to success. Even Golden Glow, that outcast from most gardens, becomes a handsome, stately plant if well fed, well cultivated, well watered and staked.

Transferred.

Jack: "Well, old man, she has accepted me and named the day. That's a load off my heart."
An Old Bird: "Yes; now the load is on your shoulders."
