Vicest mas

own beautiful very nicest

y. Jack heard o his mother. ven mouths to nd, how can a any toys for nie heart tho're good young illy upstairs to a pile of toys tmas he knew y new ones I h my old ones t the beautiful ly head!

ounted; "well.

ly head!

retty good toys just pick them lers, a wooden hat could ba-ae she was gor each of your ey will all have

sa7. rning came such a won-thought, sevlay, "that the hildren didn't y while I have nicest Christufferers. - Like ock in a weary Eclectric Oil to nain. It holds and realizes if verywhere. It. the blessings It is on sale e found wher

Wise Men.

en came from hristmas day, not by re but by Chris ey were domn, but by in ins represent-David rather tion of Jacob mon. This by profit-takrophet-giving. om the East, created that ht in self-sac-Il Christmas. ddly wisdom o the quick, s conducted: resounding

f peace based e of old or new to Holloway's

t and best cure

edictions not

E EAST.

long ago chem layafar. ight, O Star!

e night were rrace

comes to cheer rkest place, e see or all and me.

v us the way

Childand offer them lehem!

Eugene Field.

reason to bless Exterminator, the little ones them healthy.

SOMS.

the year. e thrus upon must hunt for matter -invaror us. Ill not only find ck to us.

ear-round condie blossoms.

G FATHER.

ate consumer?" replied Mr. in get a chance ng paper until s of my family

SIR WILLIAM'S

CHAPTER XXIV.

Jack reached London in a condition of mind, to use the well-worn phrase, more easily to be imagined would not ask them of himself.

When one comes to think of his position, his resolution will not appear strange; for most assuredly the man who is dving of thirst in the desert does not criticise the cup in which the water is offered him, and does not, before drinking the precious life-saving fluid, demand to know where and how it was come by. It is sufficient for him that the water is there and that his panting soul is satisfied. Men only half as much in love as Jack was have walked eagerly through darker and more crooked way sto gain the women they loves than this Clytie had set for him.

It is scarcely necessary to say that he did not sleep that night, or that he was out the first thing in the morning to obtain particulars of the steps by which he could make Clytic his own at the earliest moment.

When one considers how easy it is to get married, one cannot help feeling surprised that people are given to making so much fuss about it.

Jack found no difficulty in obtaining the special license, and his conscience was quite easy over the extraordinary and somewhat mendacious statements he was compelled to make in the pursuit of his object.

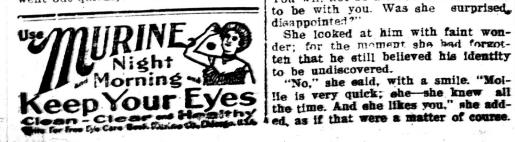

He returned to the hotel to get some food and make some little preparation for the visit to Weybridge, toward which he had been looking eagerly all the day; and he found Chope waiting for him. He had quite forgotten the man and his strange story, and looked as if he had, for Chope stared at him.

"Anything happened, Mr. Jackson?" he said. "You look as if-well, as if you had been on the spree; or as if you had lost a fortune or found one, I don't know which. Look here, I've been dodging in and out here all day in the hope of catching you. I want to speak to you about that proposal of mine; I mean that you should come out with me. So speak plainly, I've set my heart on it. I want you to Jack was eating his food with a haste and absent-mindedness which were certainly not conducive to good digestion; and, at first, he only laughed somewhat strangely; but suddenly he arrested his knife and fork, and looked thoughtfully before him.

"Thinking it over, are you?" said Chope. "Well, that's all right. I'm not going to bother you-though, mind! I think you might do worse than come out, and take a hand with me in this game of mine. Look here, I'll tell you what I'll do; I shall take a berth for you on the White Witch on the chance of your coming with me. No; don't say anything," as Jack opened his lips. "I'm willing to chance it; for something seems to tell me that you will come, right enough. You go on thinking it over, Mr. Jackson. Ta! ta! I've got an appointment."

"Hi! Hold on a minute, Chope!" called out Jack. But Mr. Chope shook his head and went out quickly.

heart and mind were fixed on that which Mollie had caused to be set for little cottage nestling amid the pine them; and be sure, Mollie helped him. trees, and he started for it presently. Her spirits seemed overrunning, and than described. He was still like a Clytic and Molice were walking in the even Clytic could not refuse her triman walking in a dream, like a ves- garden when he came from among bute of smiles and gentle laughter to sel drifting without a chart on an un- the trees; and Mollie, with a whis- Mollie's characteristic sallies of wit. known sea: but he refused to make pered, "Here he is!" pressed Clytie's Clytie refused the prayer in his eyes any attempt to solve the problem; he arm encouragingly and sympathetical- that she would come out to say good had given his promise to refrain from | ly, and ran indoors. Clytic stood wait- | night; and he had to say it in the asking Clytic for her reasons, and he ing for him, her heart beating fast, a room, with Mollie looking on, for the shield weighs but six or eight. faint color in her face. She had spent Clytie detained her under some prethe day thinking of him and the tense. momentous step she had taken; and now that the weakness, the strange up late talking. They slept together; companied the attacks, one of which had assailed her last night, had passed | She was sitting up in bed, with her away, she almost regretted what she arms outstretched, as if to ward off had done, though she knew that the some threatened peril, and her face attack might return at any moment, and was convinced that her heart was her, and at last Clytic fell asleep. affected and that she would die.

It was an extraordinary conviction for a girl of so healthy a mind and down outside St. Luke's. As he had body as Clytie's to entertain; but the said, the tiny church stood in a little conviction was there, and it became more fixed after each mysterious atwas conscious of only one desire—to restore Wilfred Carton to his own; and her mental action was as strange as her physical condition; she felt as if she stood aloof from the world, as if she had become impersonal, a mere instrument for attaining a certain end. This feeling was not so strong upon her to-night as it had been last night. Then she was so absorbed in her purpose as to be scarcely touched by Jack's words of love, his tender, passionate glances; but to-night she was better, and her heart throbbed with a kind of sad joy at his approach.

His greeting was a formal one, for they were within sight of the windows; but they passed through a little gate into the wood, and there he took both her hands, and, while she stood before him with downcast eyes, he gazed at her with all a lover's rapand trouble.

"I have come with good news," he sion. "I have arranged everything: have got the license"-he patted his breast as if there were something precious there-"and have even found the church." He tried to laugh, but the moment was too serious. "I came upon it during my wanderings in London yesterday; it is a tiny church, in an out-of-the-way corner in the city. it looks as if it had been asleep for centuries and no one ever went into it to wake it. I interviewed the verger, if that's what they call him, and arranged for-for to-morrow." He faltered, for she had started, and he saw hat she trembled. "You are not afraid, dearest; you will not- draw back?" he said in a moment of terriole anxiety.

"No," she said, in a low voice. "It is not I, but you; you may want to draw back. It—it is not too late."

He laughed. "I! I draw back! you, what the thought of making you my own means to me. When I think of it I can scarcely believe that I am not dreaming; in fact, that's just what I feel like." "I have told Mollie." she said. He nodded. "That's right. It was best so. And why shouldn't she know? You will not be alone, she will be able to be with you. Was she surprised. disappointed?"

ten that he still believed his identity lie is very quick; she she knew all the time. And she likes you," she add-

"And I love her," he said. "She is the brightest, the aweetest, the best little girl in all the world-bar one." He took her hand; but Clytie withdrew it as she had done last night and turned toward the house. Mollie came toward them, at first with a demure step and face; then suddenly she ran forward and flung her arms round Jack's neck and kiesed him. It struck him at the moment that Clytie had not yet kissed him, had shrunk from any kind of endearment on his part. "I am so glad, Jack!" whispered Mollie, giving him a little final hug. You see, Clytle has told me all about it. And that the marriage is to be secret. Oh, yes; I know all!" He glanced from her to Clytie quickly; did Mollie know all, or was she partly in ignorance, as he was? "I mean that know there is some reason for the secrecy. And I think it's delightful. It's like a scene in a novel or a play. But don't you think it's setting me a bad example?' They turned back into the wood again; and Jack gave them some details of his plans for the morrow. Clytie listened in silence, her face averted; but Mollie broke in every now and again with little exclamations of admiration of his cleverness and resource.

"It is all delightfully easy," she said. "Oytie and I go up to Lodno to-morrow. to do a day's shopping—what more natural? We meet you at St. Luke's at twelve o'clock; there will be a nice clergyman, a short but significant service, and then—and then we come home to the cottage to a wedding-breakfast of-mutton cutlets and mashed potatoes. Oh, it is better than any play I ever saw! Have you had any dinner, Jack? Never mind if you have, I'm going to get you some supper. Don't be long." She ran in and left them alone; but though they were alone, Jack felt no nearer to Clytie. She seemed lost in thought, and so aloof from him that he could make none of the lover's approaches; but presently, as Mollie called them from the veranda, Clytie raised her eyes to his.

"I want to say how much I feel your goodness to me," she said painfully. You have kept your promise; you will still keep it. I know how strange, how-how unreasonable what I am doing must seem to you. but you will be patient, will wait-will forgive?"

"That is right," he said. "I will be patient, I will wait; and, as I said, there is no question of forgiveness. My feeling in the matter is all summed up in this-I love you; and my only wonder is that you should deign to give yourself to me, to make me so happy.'

He determined to throw off the constraint that seemed to hold him in a kind of bondage, and he was bright Jack did not go after him; all his and light-hearted at the little meal

After he had gone, the two girls sat feeling of faintness which always act that is Mollie slept until she was awakened by a sudden cry from Clytie. was drawn by terror. Mollie soothed Long before twelve o'clock on the following day, Jack was pacing up and street, comparatively unfrequented, like an island in the sex of the tack. In the morbid and absolutely city. Even at that moment he did not unnatural condition of her mind, she realize that he was going to marry eleventh hour, she would draw back: but even as his face blanched and he asked himself what he should do if his dread proved accurate, a fourwheeled cab drew up at the door, and Clytie and Mollie got out. He hurried to them.

Of the two, Mollie seemed the more excited and nervous; Clytie seemed quite calm; her face was pale, but she met his eyes steadily and did not tremble; and when he murmured, 'Dearest, thank God you have come!" her lips relaxed for a moment and she smiled; but there was a sadness in the smile that struck a chill to him. They went into the church, and in a few minutes the clergyman appeared; the verger and the pew-opener were already there, and proceeded to marture, and yet with a certain anxiety shal Jack into his proper place at the altar.

A gleam of sunlight filtered through said, and his face, thought it was as the old stained glass of the window grave as his face, had its note of pas- and fell upon the little group; the hum of the busy city streets around them came vaguely through the opon deor. The church was weirdly old and green and shabby, and the clergyman seemed as old and as remote as his church; his feeble voice rose quaveringly at the beginning of the sentences and died away at the end.

It all seemed to Jack a part and parcel of his dream; and he would not have been surprised if church and parson, the withered verger and pewopener, Clytie-his bride!-and Mollie had suddenly disappeared, as if in a wreath of vapor. He started as the clergyman gave him Clytie's hand and signed to him to put on the ring; and he repeated the words he was told to speak as if he were an automaton: Even as he turned away from the altar, with Clytie on his arm, he felt like a somnambulist. They went into the vestry, and the old clergyman began to Ah. well, I could hardly expect fill in the register and make out the certificates. They signed their names, and as Clytie took the pen and weight, and realizing nearly $1.00 you to realize how much I love certificates. They signed their bent over the musty volume, Jack in hard cash looked at her keenly, expectantly; but she evinced no surprise; uttered no exclamation, and seemed to write her name mechanically.

(To be continued.)

CURES WITHOUT U and irritable throat. is no longer necessary.

The most approved tre sists of a healing vapor rescribe This soothing vapor is full of germ-destroying substances, and at the same time is a powerful healing agent. It is sent to the bronchial tubes and lungs through a skillfully devised inhaler, that can be carried in the very health of the carried in the very pocket. Simplifying the latter than the carried in the very latter than the very latter than the carried in the very latter than the carried in the very latter than the carried in the very latter than the pocket. Simplicity itself is the beypocket. Simplicity itself is the laynote of this splendid treatment.

CATARRHOZONE is the name of this wonderful invention that is delly curing chronic cases of weak throat, bronchitis and catarrh. Every breath through the inhaler is laden with soothing, healing substances that destroy all diseased conditions in the breathing organs, it can't fail to cure because it goes where the trouble really exiets, and doesn't attempt to cure an illness in the haad or throat by means of medicine taken into the stomach. Catarrhozone is a direct breathable scientific cure.

There is no sufferer from a grippy cold or any winter ill that won't find a cure in Catarrhozone, which is employed by physicians, ministers, lawyers and public men throughout many foreign lards. Large size lasts two months and cost $1 and is guaranteed;

In making beef soup or lamb broth add the onions as soon as the meat begins to boil, and there will not be any scum effect.

In cooking macaront, fice, oyster months and cost $1 and is guaranteed; small size 50 tents, sample eize 25c, all storekeepers and druggists, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Failures of Soldiers' Armor.

Many years ago several inventors developed bullet-proof ciothes or breastplates, and in spite of much advertising their suggestions were never adopted, much to the surprise of civilians. The reason is very simple. If the bullet is stopped its energy is transmitted to the shield, which in turn delivers a blow to the soldier's body. The severity of the blow depends upon the velocity of the bullet. and if the shield is very light the chest wall receives more or less injury. In order to be effective the shield must weigh at least ten pounds.

It is a repetition of the old circus trick of striking with a sledgehamme an anvil on a man's chest. If in place of the anvil we substitute a thin metal plate the blow would be fatal, and the sledgehammer has about the same energy as a bullet at high velocity. If knocks a man down. Soldiers are not to wear armor, but to get behind it, as in armored ships, forts and motorcars.—London Tatler.

Relic of Long-Past Age.

While cutting peat in the Leithen headwater area, the shepherds unearthed a horn, which may have belonged to Bos primi-genus or Bos longifrons, the wild even that roamed over Britain from the glacial age to near historic times. It was found at a depth of four feet from the surface. and the shepherds also averred that there was a small patch of brown hair Clytie Bramley; and he was oppressed attached, which is quite probable, as by a vague dread that at this, the the peat would act as a preservative. -London Mail.

Spanking Doesn't Cure!

Don't think children can be cared of bedwetting by spanking them. The trouble is con-stitutional, the child cannot bein it. I will send FREE to any mother my successful home treatment, with full instructions or your children trouble you in filter way, send no money, but write me to day. By treatment is highly recommended to adults troubled with urine difficulties by day or night. Write for five init treatment. If your children trouble you in this way, sen

Mrs. M. Summers WINDSOR, Omarie Box &

Gone Forever.

The murderer had committed his crie without leaving any trace, except that he had found there were bloodmarks on his handkerchief. How could he get rid of this tell-tale article? For a moment he sat deep in thought, Then a diabolical smile crept over his cruel features. He sat down at a writing desk and, with great care he marked his name on his handkerchief. Then, wrapping it up in a small parcel, he addressed it to his laundry.

A sigh of relief escaped him as posted it in the letter box. It was gone, this ghastly evidence of his crime, and he would never see in

The Toronto Fat Stock Show.

The Toronto Fat Stock Show scored a notable success when new high re-cords for practically all classes of live stock were made at the Union Yards. The greatest interest, of course centred around the cale of "Black Hegtor," the grand champion, sold under the hammer to the H. P. Kennedy n hard cash. Mr. Kennedy stated that this splea did animal will go forward oversess with a big shipment of high-class cattle, three or four loads of them prize-winners. The champion steer will be used as an object lesson and shown in various parts of Great Britain and later turned over to the company's representative there and sold, the funds to be given to some charitable movement.

First prize hogs sold at $50 per cut., winning the United Formers Commative Co., Limited, special prize The exhibit was fine and big prices were obtained all round.

gins to boil, and there will mit be any seum rise.

In cooking macaroni, rice, oyster stew or milk for a custard, by greating the kettle with a little butter it will never stick.

After washing the small silver, stand it for a couple of minutes in a kettleful of very hot, clean, soapy water containing a few drops of an and you will always have bright spoons, forks and knives.

SLIGHTLY AMENDED. Snapper You seem to think I am nothing but a miserable idiot.

Mrs. Snapper—Oh, no; you are cheerful enough.

IDLE PITY GIVING WAY TO PRACTICAL EFFORT ON BEHALF OF CANADA'S SIX THOUSAND BLIND

You have doubtless been interested in what you have read or heard garding the progress of a national effort on behalf of the blind of Cana Do you realize just what this effort means?

Here are some of the things that are being done:
Industrial training and employment is being provided for the blind in centres established in Halifax, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

Useful handicrafts and the reading and writing of embassed characters are taught in the homes of those blind people who for various reasons are unable to take training at one of the regular centres.

The product of the home-workers is bought and sold.

Personal contact is established with recently blinded perso with cases which are sometimes so old that they become new is with cases which are sometimes so old that they become new in a vertical sense. This work is done by an experienced Field Agent.

Books, magazines, and music in embossed types are circulated from the blind of Canada. The monthly average throughtion of books of the close to eight hundred. The Institute also arranges for the transcript of music for any of its members at cost-price.

An active publicity propaganda dealing with various cangers to with the eyee is subject is carried on, and this is followed up with personnel to the larger co-operation of medical men and arrangements of labor, Boards of Education, etc., in the vital matter of payanting blindness.

venting blindness.

venting blindness.

A residence and training-centre, "Pearson Hall," has been provided where blind soldiers may find congenial conditions while taking vocational instruction. In this connection it may be interesting to know that the Institute has entered into an agreement with the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment, under which the Institute has established an after care department for Canadian Soldiers blinds in the war.

There are other things, but they may all be summed up by saying that the Institute endeavors in every practical way to advance the interests of the blind and to ameliorate the conditions under which they live.

Will you aid in supplying the most vital need of this work?

Then mail your cheque to the CANADIAN NATIONAL INSTITUTE

Then mail your cheque to the CANADIAN NATIONAL INSTITUTE FOR THE BLIND, 36 King St. East, Toronto, Out.

DR. WARD The Specialist

79 NIAGARA SQUARE, BUFFALO, NEW YORK. Men, Are You in Doubt

As to your trouble? Have you some skin eruption that is stubborn, has resisted treatment? In there is nervous condition which does not improve in spite of rest, diet and medicine. Are you going down hill steadily?

ARE YOU MERVOUS and despondent, weak tated; tired mornings; no ambition memory gone; easily fatigued; extable and irritable; lack of energy and confiis there failing power, a drain on the Consuit the old reliable specialists

SYMPTOMS OF VARIOUS AILM ENTS

Weak and relayed state of the body, nervousnes, despondency, poor more, lack of will power timid, irritable disposition, diminished power of plication, energy and concentration, fear of impending danger or mistored drawsines, and tendency to sleep, unrestful sleep, dark rings under the drawsines and tendency to sleep, unrestful sleep, dark rings under the loss of weight insomnia. Dr. Ward gives you the benefit of 29 years through practice in the treatment of all chronic, nervous, blood and attractions. The above symptoms, and many ethers not mentioned, show plaintenance. The above symptoms, and many ethers not mentioned, show plaintenance are supported by the street of the condition and that you need that something is wrong with your physical condition and that you need to tention.

ten why suffer longer? Let me make you a vigorous man. Let we reyour physical condition to full manhood. Don't be a weakling any your physical condition to come to me and I will give the best treatin. Make up your mind to come to me and I will give the best treatit mown to science—the one successful treatment based on the experiit years in treating men and their ailments.

Dr. Ward's Methods Unrivalled, Thorough and Permanent To you realize that you have only one life to live do you realize that you missing most of that life by ill health? A life worth living is a healthy life. Neglect of one's health has put many a man in his grave.

I have been telling men these things for many years but still there is the sands of victims who, for various reasons, have not had the good set the sand get. well.

Specialist in the treatment of nervous conditions, nervous enhaustion, but she humbago, rheumatism, stomach and liver trouble, ache, skin diameter, asthma, rectai troubles, piles, fistula and blood conditions.

OFFICE HOURS: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sundays—10 a.m. to 1 p.m. FREE CONSULTATION EXAMINATION

Before beginning treatment you must make one visit to my affice for a personal physical examination. Ratiroad fare will be considered as part payment of fee. Canadian money accepted at full value.

DR. WARD. 79 Mingara Square, Publishe, M. Y. DR. HERRIGH.