Lesson XII., March 23, 1919. Israel Warned Against Compromise. Temperance Lesson-Joshua 23, 1 24; 28. Print 23: 1-13

Commentary.-I. God's benefits to Ierael (23. 1-5). 1. A long time—It is thought that the farewell assembly took place about seven years after the allotment of Canaan to the several tribes of Israel Had given rest. from all their enemies—The enemies of Israel had either been subjugated or were not waging war against them. Joshua waxed old and stricken in age-"Joshua was old and well stricken in years."-R. V. He must have been nearly or quite one hundred and ten years old at this time, as that was the age at which he died. 2. Called for all Israel-Joshua sent forth a call for Israel to come to him, probably at his home, Timnath-serah or at Shiloh, for we are not told where. And for their elders, etc.-The word "and" is not in the Hebrew, hence what follows it explains who were called. The assembly was made up of the leaders of the geveral tribes, the heads of families, the interpreters of the law and the officials of the nation, 3. All that the Lord your God hath done-In the beginning of his address he called Israel's attention to what Jehovah had done for them in giving them possession of Canaan, which was previously occupied by their enemies and the enemies of Jehovah. For the Lord .. fought for you -Joshua was the leader of Israel in the occupation of the land, but he ascribes the success of the undertaking to Jehovah, who had given them the victory over their enemies. 4. I have divided unto you by lot-The entire territory of the land of Canaan had been apportioned to the tribes of Israel, although parts of it had not yet been conquered. The armies of the Canaanites had been broken into pieces, yet the Israelites had not fully followed up their advantages. The Lord had given full directions regarding the division of the land. From Jordan....unto the great sea- The eastern and western limits of Israel's Dossessions are given. The "great sea" is the Mediterranean. 5. The Lord your God, He shall expel them-Joshhe had when he returned to Kadeshbarnea after spying out the land of Canaan more than sixty years before this and made his report in connection with Caleb. He assured the Israelites that God would be their sufficient help in fully ridding the land of his enemies and theirs.

II. Exhortation to Faithfulness (23:6-16). 6. be ye therefore very courageous-In view of what Jehovah had already done for Israel and had promised to do, Joshua urged them to be strong of heart and faithful in doing his will. all that is written in cumstances could one chase a thouthe book of the law of Moses-This book contained the moral law and the ceremonials, in addition to many directions governing the ordinary affairs of life, and these were all to be carefully observed. 7. come not among you-The Israelites would become fam-Hiar with them and the gods of the heathen would become less odious to them. nor bow yourselfves unto them

-The sin to which the children of Israel were most liable was idolatry, hence Joshua warned them plainly against anything to do with the gods of the heathen. 8. cleave unto the Lord-Cling to the Lord and be not driven out. . . . great nations-Joshua urges this as a reason why Isreal should "cleave unto the Lord" and not turn aside the idols. The gods of these "great nations" were helpless before Jehovah and his people. '10. one man of you shall chase a thousand-This is a strong expression showing how greatly superior Israel, with the help of Gcd, would be to other peoples. II. take good heed. . . . that ye love the Lord-If the Israelites should fully be faithful to him. III. Israel's promise to be faithful (24: 128). Joshua called an assembly of all the tribes of Israel, gathering the chief men of the nation for a second farewell meeting with them. He rehearsed at some length the great things God had done for them from ua retained the faith in Jehovah that the call of Abraham to the settlement of the nation of Israel in Canaan, and exhorted the people to choose the Lord and serve him faithfully. They promised him not simply once, but four times over, that they would serve the Lord, and then Joshua wrote the convenant and set up a stone as a witness that Israel had made this pro-

PRACTICAL SURVEY.

Topic.—Compromising with evil-1. Joshua's farewell.

II. Warning and promise. III. The evils of compromise.

1. Joshua's farewell. This pious solicitude of Joshua is worthy of imitation by all in authority. He set himself diligently to complete and perpetuate the work of his life in the farewell appeal to the great people for whom he had so unselfishly labored. The desires of the godly do not decline with physical strength. The purposes of human lives like those of Job are often "broken off." The greatest lives are but arcs longer or shorter, in the circle of divine purposes. Only the life of Jesus was complete. The great apostle declared, "I have finished my course." Looking into the face of the Father, Jesus said, "I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do.' In the farewell idea of self-concern nor effort to perpetuate his own fame. II. Warning and promise. Both are inseparably associated in Joshua's address and in God's messages to all mankind. Men can not choose promises and reject precepts. God's faithfulness in fulfilling his promises is a guarantee concerning his threatenings. Divine holiness is equally concerned in both. The departing leader would assure the future by pledging the nation anew to loyalty, and demands a personal and universal testimony to God's faithfulness. "Ye know in all your hearts and in all your souls, that not one thing hath failed." Obedience had made them invulner able. The assembled people were reminded that their tenure of possession was still contingent thereon, "Be ye maintained. III. The evils of compromise. The term implies conflicting claims or interests, and means a settlement by mutual concessions. In the nature of things righteousness must be intolerant. It cannot make concessions nor accept compromises without self-destruction. To surrender its claims in the smallest particular destroys its character. It can not consent to discuss terms, for there are none; and even to consider it, is both dangerous and degrading. To preserve a nation that should perpetuate a pure religious faith and worship, provide a medium and custody for 'the oracles of God and custody for "the oracles of God," good results, and got them so quick. and bring to the world its divinely-human Redeemer, God environed His neonle with absolute prohibitions.

which were disregarded at their peril Civil or social contracts would tend to spiritual affinities, and hence were dden. So deadly were the lurking germs of moral contamination, - that the uiter extirpation of the degraded and idolatrous inhabitants was commanded. The underlying principle is perennial and of peculiar force at the present. In various and subtle forms the appeal is made. Spacious reasonings founded on false premises mislead many. The first effect of compromise is a bewilderment of moral judgment. A "single eye" is essential to clear vision. A second evil is the weakening of moral resistance together with a strengthening of the power of appeal. From the "counsel of the ungodly' 'to "the way of sinners" and "the seat of the scornful" is a direct path. The mar who compromises. mortgages his temporal and eternal Unbearable Perfumes.

The perfume of flowers can make some people shiver. A member of the London Spiritualist Alliance tells of a woman who dreads the smell of hyacinths. Once at a party the hostess, knowing her visitor's horror of the flowers, hid them behind a screen, yet although they were concealed from view the woman detected them and fainted shortly after entering the room. The Princess of Lamballe, a friend of Marie Antoinette and a victim of the French revolution, would always turn pale at the sight of a violet, and Vincent, the painter, swooned at the smell of roses.
