In politics he was a staunch liberal while in religion he was a Baptist, being a deacon for many years of Century Baptist church, MacPherson avenue. Rounding Up the Slackers

There are slackers in every community and in every trade. But Canada has won worldwide fame because she has been credited with comparatively few of them. During the war the popular enthusiasm drowned the voice of this unhappy minority but instances of those they are better. During the present Victory Loan drive they have been very successful in framing excuses as to why they should not help in the movement for a greater and more prosperous Canada by buying Bonds.

"Let the profiteers buy the bonds" is one of their cries which in reality means "Let the profiteers reap the profits and corner Canada's money resources. I shall go on wasting!" Then there is a farmer who says "Let the city folks subscribe," which means "I don't care what I get for my wheat; the future trade of Canada is nothing to me." There is also the city man who says, "Let the farmers buy," which in the last analysis means "I have nothing at stake, production and trade can go to pot. My money goes into gas-line till Canada goes broke." And so on and so on; the same blindness to his own and his country's interest which keeps him in the rut, and prompts him to leave everything to someone else.

Subscriptions to the Victory Loan mean profits for everyone, but chiefly to the buyer himself. Many of the slackers do not realize what rot they are talking, and go on cheating themselves in their eager to leave duty to others. If you are a slacker in connection with this Loan turn over a new leaf. There is only a day or two remaining in which to retrieve yourself.

No Better Investment That Canada must save, produce and trade, is emphasized in a letter written recently by the Hon. T. A. Cresser to Sir Augustus Nanton, of Winnipeg, in connection with the Victory Loan campaign. After stating that the loan should be supported throughout Canada in the strongest possible way by every section of the people, Mr. Cresser says:

"Unfortunately, it was impossible at the time of the signing of the armistice to stop the expenditures caused by the war. Even yet our soldiers are not all back and demobilized. Much money is required for soldiers' land settlements, for pensions, for vocational training of returned men and for the special care of boys who came back shattered in health of mind and body. The Canadian people must provide the means to do so. I have no fear but that they will."

"Our country has heavy financial burdens to face; as a nation we must meet them in the same way as would as individuals; we must save, produce and trade. To the person who saves there is no better investment than Canada's bonds."

Our Empire in India

Jarvis is to be favored on Tuesday next, November 13th, when a meeting to be held at St. Paul's Schoolroom will be addressed by the Rev. Frank Anderson, M.A., for fifteen years a Missionary in India. He is intimately acquainted with both India and his Lecture will be illustrated by a special series of lantern views.

The meeting has been arranged in connection with the St. Paul's Branch of the A.Y.P.A., the members of which will provide light refreshments in the course of the evening. The meeting will be open to all. To cover expenses there will be a nominal charge for admission of 10 cents and it is earnestly hoped that all interested in our great Indian Empire will be present on Tuesday next.
