The Mail Carrier's Soliloquy

Oh! What is the use of complaining. For where there's a will there's a way: To-morrow it may be a raining. Although the sun's shining to-day. Then what is the use of repining. For where there's a will there's a way: To-morrow the sun may be shining. Although it is raining to-day. Then what is the use of us sighing. For where there's a will there's a way: To-morrow the roads may be drying. Although it is raining to-day. Then what is the use of us talking. For where there's a will there's a way: To-morrow you may be a walking. And ride in an auto next day. Then let us sing and be jolly. For where there's a will there's a way: To growl and grumble 'tis folly. There's good roads coming some day.

Lecture on India

There was a crowded attendance at St. Paul's Schoolroom on Tuesday last when upwards of 130 were present to hear the Rev. Frank Anderson lecture on India. Mr. Anderson took his hearers successfully to Madras, Calcutta, the former capital of India, Banares, the sacred city of the Hindus, Lucknow and Delhi, with their memories of the Indian mutiny, as far north as to Cashmere, situated beneath the shadow of the Himalaya Mountains and ended with views of Bombay, the home of the Parsees. In the course of his remarks the lecturer gave much interesting information with regard to the life of the inhabitants of our great Indian Empire. With its ancient civilization and strange manners and customs. The lantern slides were kindly shown by Messrs. Arthur and Will Hodgson, the latter of whom as President of the A.Y.P.A. expressed the thanks of all present to Mr. Anderson for his interesting talk. At the close refreshments were served by the members of the A.Y.P.A. and altogether a delightful evening was spent. It is hoped on Tuesday, Dec. 9th, that a similar gathering will take place when the Rector of St. Paul's, a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society will give an illustrated account of his travels in Morocco, the Canary Islands and Madeira. The proceeds will be given towards the extensive repairs which are urgently needed on the West wall of the church.

Sandusk

Mr. and Mrs. James Bush returned home on Wednesday after spending a week in Toronto.
Mr. Joseph Aude of Hagersville spent Wednesday in this vicinity.
Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Bush motored to Toronto last Wednesday, Mrs. Bush attending the Provincial Convention as a delegate for this Institute.
Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ineson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lindsay, Blackbeath.
Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Wright of Erie spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. F. Sternaman. Miss Maud Evans and Miss Iona and Phyllis Hatelan of Hagersville were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Westerby on Sunday.
The Sandusk Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Peacock. The President, Mrs. H. Peacock enlivened the afternoon by piano music. Mrs. T. Westerby, who is English by birth and a very patriotic Canadian, gave an excellent paper on "Our Debt to the Motherland." Mrs. C. Bush gave some splendid ideas on "What is Democracy." After singing the National anthem a social hour was spent during which the hostess served lunch.

Moved to Wynyard

Mr. H. Rodgers and family will move in the near future to Wynyard, Herb having been promoted to a larger territory. We understand Martin Youngquist will take over his work here. Mrs. Rodgers will be greatly missed in social and church circles.

Presented With Jewel

Dr. Newell Leaving the Village—Local members of King Solomon's Lodge No. 329, A. F. & A. M., gathered in their lodgeroom on Tuesday evening to do honor to one of their members in the person of Wor. Bro. Dr. O. Newell, on the eve of his leaving to take up his new residence at Hamilton. The Doctor recently sold his practice to a Dr. Leatherdale, lately returned from Overseas, and has purchased a practice at Mount Hamilton East.

A light banquet had been prepared in the lodgeroom and shortly after nine o'clock some thirty of the brethren gathered around the festive board. The Master of the local lodge, Wor. Bro. Roy Misner, presided, and in a most praiseworthy and appropriate address, drew the attention of those present to the honored guest of the evening, explaining that it was the wish of the Lodge in some small way to show their appreciation of his efforts and efficient service in the local lodge as well as a valued citizen of the community. The Secretary of the lodge then read the following address and the Master presented the Doctor with the Past Master's Jewel.

TO WOR. BRO. O. J. NEWELL,
We, the Brethren of King Solomon Lodge, are too well aware of the purpose of our meeting to-night—to present a Brother Mason with a farewell testimonial of the high respect we entertain for him. We regret very much that Wor. Bro. Newell is about to depart from our village. As a citizen he has always been ready with a kind word and a helping hand to assist any movement for the benefit of the citizens and for the good of the village. As a medical man he has always been an honor to his profession; he has ever been prompt with his great skill and ready sympathy to relieve the sick and suffering. As a member and officer of our Lodge he has always proved himself a true friend to the Brethren and has done everything to promote the forward movement of Masonry.

For all these services he has won the grateful thanks of every brother and he carries the best wishes of every brother for all success and honour into the bigger field of service for what he is departing.

In closing, we would ask Wor. Bro. Newell to accept this Masonic Jewel, not for its value, but as a slight token of remembrance of the officers and brethren of King Solomon Lodge.

Signed in behalf of the Lodge,
ROY MISNER, R. W. SMITH,
W. M. Sec'y.

Wor. Bro. Newell replied in a few well chosen and appropriate remarks stating his appreciation of the honor conferred on him.
Most Wor. Bro. Dr. Wm. Jaques was then called on and in a masterly address paid glowing tribute to his fellow practitioner and brother Mason during the past eleven years of his residence here. Later the Doctor branched off into the all important question of the "Social and Industrial Unrest of the World," impressing his audience by the forceableness and simplicity of his remarks, and in concluding stating that if the Masonic mantle of Charity was felt and acted upon by more people in the world the present unrest would be greatly alleviated and impressing his hearers that all true Masons have a noble work to perform during the present time and age. Wor. Bro. Parsons was then called upon and testified to the esteem in which he held Dr. Newell and his other excellent remarks were heartily applauded. Appropriate and amusing remarks were made by Wor. Bros. Geo. L. Miller, and Ivan W. Holmes, Jun. Wm. J. S. Burwash and Sen. Stewart Rev. A. W. Hare, the latter quoting very appropriate pieces of poetry.
At the conclusion of the addresses the members sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and after an hour's social chat the members dispersed to their respective homes with the fervent wish of "Deus Vobiscum" for the Doctor and his family.
Dr. Newell and his family are moving to the city this Wednesday and while sincerely regretting their departure the village as a whole will greet Dr. and Mrs. Leatherdale to their new abode and duties.

Death of Mrs. Walter Wetzels

Word was received in the village on Tuesday of the sudden death in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, of Mrs. Walter Wetzels (nee Zena Simmons), formerly of Jarvis. We understand that Mrs. Wetzels was ill only a very few days and died from the effects of an operation. She leaves to mourn her loss besides her husband and two little daughters, her father, two sisters and two brothers. Deceased was a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Park and niece of the Misses Simmons of this place. The funeral will be held from her late residence, 42 Oakwood Ave., Friday, Nov. 21, at 2 p.m. to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Shall Armenia Perish

COMING LECTURE

The Armenian Relief Fund Association of Canada has requested Mr. Eric Lewis to undertake a month's tour in this part of Ontario on behalf of the above fund. The latest cable from Mr. Hoover at Paris declares that 700,000 Armenians are facing starvation and that if financial help comes quickly and generously, it will be possible to save half a million of them. A large staff is on the field, administering relief, but the numbers are too overwhelming and scattered for it to be possible to undertake the whole work. How this state of things has come about is without doubt the darkest of all the dark chapters in the late war. For many centuries past the Armenians have been oppressed and persecuted by their Moslem neighbors and overlords. As a nation they became Christians in the 4th century and have remained faithful ever since. Their devotion to their faith, their industry and culture, their business capability and success, have made them the objects of Moslem envy, hatred and fanaticism. Not long before the war a German writer pointed out that the Armenian people lay as a geographical barrier between the Turks and the Russians, and suggested their "removal" so doubt with the ulterior aim of Germany having undisputed influence from Constantinople to the confines of India. Nazim Pasha, fanatical Turkish Minister of War, caught the idea with enthusiasm and when Turkey went into the war, the extermination of the whole Armenian people within the Turkish Empire was decided on, and encouraged quietly for the most part, and in places even actively by German agents, was ruthlessly carried out. The plan was simple in the extreme. The Armenian men of military age were conscripted for the Turkish armies and used chiefly in transport work. These out of the way, the leading men who remained were gathered, each in their respective town or village, marched out a little distance, sometimes merely confined in a local church or large building, and there massacred in cold blood. Next, the whole remaining population were ordered to leave their homes with such belongings as they could carry or move by donkey cart or muleback and to present themselves in the public square in one or two days' interval. Thence to march no one knew whither. Before long, the boys and men would be massacred on route, and the women, girls and children marched on and on, till the great proportion were dead of cruelty or starvation, or in the case of the case of the girls and young women, disposed of by sale to the Turks, or seized and carried off by Kurds. In this way it is estimated that from 800,000 to one and a quarter millions of peaceful inoffensive Armenians have been done to death. Of stragglers and refugees who survived some reached Russian territory in safety; some were rescued by a French gunboat and brought to Port Said. Many reached the British lines in Palestine and powerful committees have been sending out staffs of workers, doctors, missionaries and others, and medical and food supplies. Britain, through a representative committee in Palestine, is working for the relief of Armenians and Syrians there. The U. S. A. with a representative committee in New York, backed by a Canadian branch has been relieving the Armenians in Turkish Armenia. A staff of over 200 are now on the spot, and the surviving Armenians have been gathered together, great numbers of girls and women having been set free by their Turkish and Kurdish captors and masters in fear of the Allies and the retribution they know they deserve. The story of one living witness of these awful sufferings has been written. Azzura Mandragian, a refined educated beautiful girl of 14, was driven with her family from their wealthy home, in April 1915, and after three years of incredible suffering and horror, she escaped at last the one survivor into the advancing Russian lines. Cared for there by an American medical missionary, who had advanced with the Russians to help and save all Armenians he could reach, she was brought to America and there her story was translated and published.

Mr. Lewis' lecture will be taken largely from the story of what this one child passed through, omitting many details too awful for repetition on a public platform. But in its barest outlines, it is right that we should know what those, our fellow Christians, have suffered, and that we should listen to the passionate cry for help from those that remain. Azzura is but a sample of tens of thousands, and her story will be illustrated by photos taken on the spot by Rev. S. Barrett D. D., a Canadian worker, sent out by the American Red Cross, representative of our Canadian Sunday School, who last January gave to this great cause about $100,000; and who will be appealed to for a renewal of their help next Easter. From the little told above, it will be obvious that the work for Armenia is twofold. First, to save them from starvation
