Letter to the Editor

Editor of the Record:
I would like to ask thru the columns of your paper, what party or parties are responsible for the preservation of law and order in our village? It is high time that such disgraceful scenes, as were enacted in front of the residence of one of our prominent citizens and Monday night, and also on Saturday night in front of another citizen's home, should be stopped. If the authority rests with our Council it behooves them to see that the perpetrator of these outrages be made to publicly apologize thru your paper, and if such conduct is repeated to see that they get the full benefit of the law.

Yours for public decency

CITIZEN.

Part of Port Rowan Village Destroyed by Fire

R. flat car, the squad doing good service in helping to keep the fire from crossing the street. The other hotel was burned some time ago. The total loss is about $200,000.

Chautauqua Coming

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist church have succeeded in securing three Chautauqua concerts to be given on the evenings of Oct. 3rd, Nov. 7th, and Nov. 15th. They will be held in the Methodist Church and exceptional opportunity is given to hear these artists. The prices for course tickets $1.00 and 50c. and for single tickets 50c. and 25c.

The following is a press clipping relating to the first concert to be given on Oct. 3rd, by "The Morrison Girls."

An ever-changing succession of melody and entertainment—a rich soprano solo, a vocal duet, a pleasing pianologue or a charmingly costumed reading, followed by solos and duets on the saxophones and ensemble numbers—such is the opening half of the program.

Then suddenly out of the "Long Ago" step four charming girls bewitchingly attractive in hoop skirts, hand mitts and "buntings." In a minute they sweep aside the work-a-day worries, cares and troubles by carrying you back with them thru story and song to the olden golden days.

You see a dear old couple smile shyly at each other as their lips form the words of "Seeing Nellie Home." Suddenly you hear "Yes we'll rally round the flag, boys. We'll rally once again, shouting the battle cry of Freedom," and you'll start forward with a catch in your breath. From hill, from plain, from farmyard and pulpit you see them, these boys of the sixties, hurrying to rally round their flag. Then the air changes. Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching. Oh! the tender grip of that old chant. Our boys, the pick of the land, thousands of them, dusty, tired, hungry, unconquerable. An old soldier near you is laughing even while the unnoticed tears drop down on his wrinkled hands—hands which for four years bore a musket for Old Glory.

"We shall meet—but we shall miss him." Ah! that was the pity of it. The tense silence about you tells that the heartache of that exquisite old song has gone home. Then you see thousands and thousands of the "boys" sweeping past the tall gaunt figure of Abraham Lincoln down the avenues of Washington to the lively strains of "When Johnny Comes Marching Home." And up from the South, the boys in Gray, our boys too, marching to the strains of "Dixie," the air all true Americans love.

It is an evening long, long to be remembered and cherished—an evening of delightful vocal and instrumental music and readings, heart-satisfying through and through.

ORGANIZATION

WHY—was answered as fully as space allowed in letter II of this series. HOW—to organize will be briefly dealt with in this.

At the outset it is necessary that we get a clear conception of one of the most important fact regarding this Farm Movement. It is not anybody organizing the Farmers—it is the Farmers organizing themselves. The story of its beginning has been often told yet there may be some who are ignorant of it.

Some years ago a handful of discouraged farmers met in the little Western town of Indian Head. The "big interests" had obtained such perfect control of the wheat output that it seemed no use to grow wheat. The question was "Shall we organize to fight them or shall we go back East?" After discussion the former course was decided on and out of that seemingly insignificant meeting has grown the largest co-operative business organization known—The Grain Growers of the West.

Five years ago or a little more when the Grange, in spite of the good it had accomplished, seemed past its usefulness this U. F. O. movement was planned. The Western Farmers practically financed it from the beginning, and a few men gave liberally of their time and thought to interest the Farmer of Ontario in organizing for his own interests.

Steadily, though steadily, the idea gained ground until at last the great Ottawa gathering opened the eyes of the Ontario Farmer to the fact that he is not merely an individual, but one of a great class. He also discovered that his great class has political weight. The result was that the U. F. O. since that time has grown with wonderful rapidity, largely by self organization, by subscribing to the Constitution and By-Laws drawn up by their own representatives assembled in Convention, and payment of One Dollar per member to the Central Organization.

Farmers all over Ontario, yes, all over Canada, are meeting, organizing, learning the lessons that every citizen of Canada must learn if our country is to safely pass through this crisis, viz., every ignorant voter is a menace to the liberty of all. Every voter has a personal obligation to his country in times of peace, just as surely as in war time, and, also, if a citizen is to cast an intelligent vote he must be acquainted with public questions. And the national issue is not "Who is to be in power?" as "What are they going to do in power?" Why are they going to do it? Who will benefit by the carrying out of this system or that? The people are demanding that they be told why such and such a course is deemed advisable.

We have looked up the meaning of some terms—What is Representative Government? What is Responsible Government? They are not satisfied with present conditions. One man said to me at one of our great gatherings, "This is our revolution," and looking into the faces of those earnest, thoughtful men women, I said, "Yes, thank God."

"To thine own self be true."

It needs must follow as the night the day. That cannot not then be false to any man Nor to any cause nor any country.
