Moya was not unaccustomed to be silent with strangers. Usually, the chattered gaily enough to them, found it easy to make small talk. But now the silence was not one of inability of speech. It was not an awkward silence at all. Rather, Moya found it full of interesting thoughts, as if in the silence she and Guy had found a great deal to say.

He turned rather suddenly at last and spoke. He had deep grey eyes, with wrinkles at the corners-wrinkles that could indicate fun and laughter, and occasionally anger. She noticed them for the first time as he spoke now.

If every girl who suffers as Miss Blackwell did, or from irregularities, painful periods, backache, sideache, dragging down pains, inflammation or ulceration would only give this famous root and herb remedy a trial they would soon find relief from such suffering. •

It hardly seems possible that there is a woman in this country who will continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, proving beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine in the world. The Acting Minister in Pretoria had telegraphed to Botha on Saturday that there was no need for anxiety in regard to the European situation, as it was certain that Britain in any case would not be embroiled. As it happened Sir David Graaff had returned from a sojourn at a German watering-place to London on the Friday, and, though the Eritish Cabinet's final decision had conclusions on the Sunday morning that war with Germany was inevitable, and telegraphed to Botha: "British Government declares war Force through a sieve or strainer Germany to-morrow." The steamer sailed from Beira on August 4, and was never afterwards heard of in South Africa. But for the almost accidentally and wholly unofficial telegram from Sir David Graaff. Botha would either have disappeared, or, if the steamer ever reached Germany, would certainly have been interned. It is needless to suggest what a sinister interpretation might have been placed on such an incident in South Africa, or what untoward political consequences might have ensued.

"Well," was the reply, "by means of a pedal attachment a fulcrumed lever converts a vertical reciprocating motion into a circular movement. SPRING FEVER Following Colds, Grip or F.J.

Thin, Watery or Poisoned Blood

(BY DR. VALENTINE MOTT.)

At this time of year most people suffer from what we term "spring fever" because of a stagnant condition of the blood, because of the toxins (poisons) stored up within the body during the long winter. We eat too much meat, with little or no green vegetables.

Bloodless people, thin, anemic people, those with pale cheeks and lips, who have a poor appetite and feel that tired, worn or feverish condition in the spring-time of the year, should try the refreshing tonic powers of a good alterative and blood purifier. Such a tonic as druggists have sold for fifty years, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a standard remedy that can be obtained in tablet or liquid form. Made without alcohol from wild roots and barks.
