Members of the local I. O. O. F. lodge will celebrate the 101st Anniversary of the Order by attending divine service in the Methodist church next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The sermon will be preached by the pastor, Rev. Bro. H. L. Smith. Mr. W. H. Tuck and Miss Eileen Tilbury will sing at this service.

The advertiser while benefitting himself helps his town. A town in which the business men advertise in the newspapers is always a live town. The merchants who use printer's ink are always the progressive spirits of the place, and deserve the patronage of the community they help support and push forward. Deal with the business men whose advertisement you see in the newspaper and you will make no mistake.

Sheriff McConnell, of Cayuga, has gone to Clifton Springs for the benefit of his health.

Marshall Roberts last week purchased the house he at present occupies, from Henry Jackson.

H. M. Atkinson, of Cheapside, had the good luck to have 250 ducks hatch from the first trial with his Buckeye incubator.

N. G.—John Deller; V. G.—Orill Williamson; R. Sec.—J. S. Burwash; F. Sec.—N. R. Pond; Treas.—I. W. Holmes; Dist. Rep.—N. R. Pond and A. Ionsen; Grand Lodge Rep.—J. B. McMicken.

Birthday Party

On Monday evening a very agreeable surprise awaited Mrs. Annie Fallis, of Manson, Man., who has been spending some months visiting friends and relatives in Jarvis, when on the occasion of the anniversary of her 67th birthday, she, together with a number of her immediate relatives, were invited to the home of her sister, Mrs. James Davidson, where a delightful evening was spent.

After the serving of a most bounteous lunch by the host and hostess, the party retired to the spacious drawing room where a short program of toasts, music, speeches and recitations, presided over by the toast-master, Mr. Charles Walter, brother of Mrs. Fallis. Miss Pearl Rebeck, on behalf of the company present, presented Mrs. Fallis with a well filled purse of bank notes. Mrs. Fallis, though taken entirely by surprise, in a few kindly remarks tried to express her sincere thanks and great pleasure of being privileged to spend such an enjoyable evening in the old home of her childhood, and that the gathering, though far past the horizon of youth, would serve as the culmination of youthful days, and that she hoped that if those present were not spared for such another pleasant meeting, they would meet in the great beyond. Led by Marshall Roberts all joined in the singing of "God be with you till we meet again." After extending personal congratulations, the company dispersed to their several homes in the wee sma' hours of the morning.

Mrs. Fallis expects to leave for her home in the West early in May.

Card of Thanks

Mrs. Wm. Sowter desires to express her deep gratitude and sincere appreciation to the many kind friends and neighbors for the great help and sympathy shown her in the recent illness and subsequent death of her husband, the late Wm. Sowter.

Death of William E. Sowter

It is our sad duty this week to chronicle the death of one of our most highly respected citizens in the person of William E. Sowter, who passed away on Thursday last. Deceased was in his 65th year, and was born in the township of Woodhouse in the year 1856, coming to Jarvis in 1872, as an apprentice to the blacksmith trade with the late James Elmer. After completing his term of apprenticeship he with Daniel Steel formed a partnership, known as Steel & Sowter, carriage manufacturers, in the year 1879, which continued until 1908, when this partnership was dissolved, Mr. Steel continuing the business and Mr. Sowter starting in the machinery and implement business, which he successfully carried on until about one year ago when, on account of failing health he was forced to give up his business entirely and undergo an operation, which for a time rendered some relief, but ultimately proving fatal.

Of a family of ten brothers and sisters and sisters only one brother remains, all the others predeceased him. He was married to Sarah Lambert in 1880. Of this union two children blessed them, one of whom died in infancy, and the other, Mrs. Wadington Mason, predeceased him four years ago.

The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon, a very large congregation gathering at St. Paul's Church to show by their presence their sympathy and respect for the deceased.

A brief service of Prayer having been conducted at the house by the Rector, the coffin was borne to the hearse by the following gentlemen, who acted as pallbearers: Messrs. George Webb, Daniel Steel, Silas Snyder, Richard Mason, Nathan Pond and Dr. Lewis. At the Church doors the bier was met by the Rev. J. Hirst Ross, Rural Dean, and the Rev. G. Wreford, Rector, the former of whom read the appropriate lesson from 1 Cor. XV. After the singing of the Hymn "On the resurrection morning Soul and body meet again:"

the Rector preached a short sermon on words of the Apostle Paul, "Thanks be to God which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." The preacher alluded to the Christian's sure and certain hope of immortality and mentioned three great facts which brightened the gloom of every funeral service. Death itself was a gain to every believer in Christ. It meant for their friend, whom they mourned that day, the exchange of pain and weakness, suffering and sorrow for the perfect joy and peace of the Redeemer's presence. Secondly there was the glory of the celestial inheritance of the child of God which far transcended the very best which human heart could conceive. Thirdly, there was the hope of a speedy reunion with departed friends who had gone before. The Rector spoke of the example of courage and fortitude under severe trial and suffering which their dear friend had displayed, as well as his valued services as one of the Wardens of that Church for many years. Their sympathy, he said, went out to the bereaved members of the family and the many friends of the deceased, but for Him they rejoiced that he had exchanged sorrow for joy, the suffering of earth for the joy of his Redeemer's presence. The service in the Church was brought to a conclusion by the singing of the hymn: "Peace, perfect peace."

The floral offerings were many and beautiful, among which were: Mrs. Wm. Chambers and Mrs. Ross, Easter lilies; Mr. A. Sowter, bouquet of pink roses; Doria Mason, spray of pink roses; Wife and Mr. W. Mason, pillow; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Jones, spray; Anglican Church, spray; Richard Mason and family, spray of white carnations; Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Aiken, spray; Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Lewis, spray; Mrs. Elmer, Toronto, spray; Mrs. Theyer, Aylmer, spray; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Graydon, Paris, spray.

To Odd Fellows

The members of Jarvis Lodge, No. 191, I. O. O. F., will attend Divine Service in the Methodist Church, Jarvis, on Sunday evening next at 7 o'clock. Members are requested to be at the Lodge Room at 6:30 sharp. By order of P. BANKS, N. G.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Davidson, of Paris, arrived on Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McMicken. Mr. Davidson left on Monday morning for Waterford where he is at present employed by the Penman Company, while Mrs. Davidson will spend the week with her mother here.

Wm. Elson, a farmer living near Wingham, is believed to have established a Western Ontario record for profits in the timber business as a result of a recent felling of a huge soft elm tree. The trunk of the tree was cut into three 12 ft. logs and made into lumber, there being 2,804 ft. worth $25 per M.—$99.14. In the top of the tree he found a coon's nest with three coons, the pelts bringing $70—total profits $169.14.

An Appreciated Letter

The following very complimentary letter was received from Mr. E. M. Harris, an old Walpole boy, who is now President of the Chamber of Commerce at West Branch, Mich. We appreciate the words of encouragement contained therein, and are pleased that our humble efforts are appreciated by our subscribers, even at a distance:—

West Branch, Mich., April 22, 1920. The Record Printing Co., Ltd., Jarvis, Ontario.

Gentlemen,—Always believing that true and honest endeavor, whether affecting persons or property, to improve individuals or communities, should be fostered and encouraged by the people, and that a smile and kind word to those deserving helps drive away the miasmas of business cares and monotony, I have taken this opportunity to congratulate your staff upon the splendid improvement of your paper, in every way, and trust that the whole community will feel proud of it and stand behind, for surely their duty directs such.

Am acquainted with some of the personnel of your staff, because undoubtedly by the fervent and affectionate Walpole sand yet holds the molds of the barefoot of my youth, and such acquaintance justifies my belief in the golden future of your paper.

Behind the smile should be the dollar, whenever necessary, and please enclosed find my personal check for $1.50, as per your advertised rates, being for one year in advance.

Again wishing you success in your very laudable undertaking, I am pleased to be

Yours very truly,
E. M. HARRIS.

More Pay for Postmasters

The postmasters of the country are petitioning the government for consideration in view of the altered value of the dollar. The claim is unquestionably a good one. No service rendered to the public is so cheap as that given by the post office department, and this has been brought about largely through the economies practised in the payment of those who are engaged in the service. It is said there are something like 8,000 post offices in Canada yielding to the postmaster the absurd sum of 19 cents per day, or a total of $69.57 per annum. In 1917 there were 670 post offices receiving $75 per year, 1,450 whose return was $150, 660 obtaining $250. Less than 500 post offices received $1000 and over. It is to be remembered, of course, that most of these offices were conducted in conjunction with some retail business and that the patrons of the post office were to some extent induced through their constant visits to the post office to be patrons also of the private business of the postmaster. This consideration however, is a relatively insignificant one, and cannot be held to justify the small payments which are made for a service which the country could not otherwise obtain for many times the present cost. In view of this the postmaster-general would seem to be well advised in taking the whole case of the postmasters and postmistresses under advisement, with the object of working out a rate of remuneration more in accord with the services rendered.—London Free Press.

FINAL
Canada.....12 Sweden.....1

The Falcons, of Winnipeg, by defeating the Swedish team won the Olympic Championship for Canada. It is a noteworthy fact that the result of every contest up to the final was a whitewash for the losing team. The Canadians in carrying off the world's championship have figured in three games with only one goal scored against them in the series.

Under the Olympic rules all teams beaten by the champions must compete for second prize. Thus the Americans, Czechoslovak and Swedish teams will now play off. The Americans are easily favorites in this series.

A volunteer fire brigade of fourteen has been organized at Hagersville.
