Help Our Town To Plourish

Every citizen of a town ity has some personal responsibility resting on him or her and everyone Day in St. Paul's Church, also morning should feel such duty incumbent upon them. It has been said that a town is very like an individual. To be flourishing, it must have energy and enterprise. The people in town should remember the individual prosperity depends to a large extent upon the character of the place in which their business is located. Every good public measure should be liberally supported by all, especially the business men. At the present day there is as much competition between towns as there is among persons and business enterprises. Miss Helen Bain, a nurse, who has A large man seeking a location will been spending the past few months in invariably select a town that is up to the village and vicinity, left on Monday for her home at Fort William.
