The trees, boulevards and the well kept lawns, together with the paved streets and cement sidewalks, makes it one of the prettiest villages on the map. What nicer view could you wish than the one looking from the station down Main street? It is one the citizens may well be proud of.

He will also speak in English to the English speaking people.

The band boys intend giving an open air concert next Saturday night. A band is a good thing in any town and the boys should receive more encouragement from the village than they do. In other places the Council gives their band a substantial grant each year. Why not here? Jarvis has had a band for years and have yet had a uniform. The village should supply them with uniforms.

Bonnycastle Dale, the well known naturalist has written and illustrated a splendid article descriptive of trapping conditions of Rice Lake, Ontario, during the 1919 season. "The Red Gods" are calling insistently now that grim winter snows have gone and even if you are not in a position to enjoy the real outing that you like, you can live again the happy days of former outings by reading the pleasurable narratives set down by fellow lovers of the wilds. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont.

Class Selfishness Vs. Universal Well-Being

Paper Which Was Given By Mrs. W. H. Evans at the Nanticoke Women's Institute Meeting.

CLASS SELFISHNESS.

The wise man said:—"He that lendeth to the poor lendeth to the Lord." Studying over this subject we find this is exactly the thing class selfishness does not do. As a general rule selfishness results in persecution, oppression and greed. Not a very good recommendation for one to be selfish is it?

Why should such be the case? There is an old saying that "Much wants more." How true this is! Missionaries claim that greed is a characteristic they have to contend with many times in their work. Greed becomes a positive hindrance. A missionary from Japan tells us that she has found young girls and young women who had been lured from their homes in the country to the silk factories in the cities by the promise of big pay and good times. Alas! how different they found things. No comfort, no homes when their hours of work were over, no friends to turn to for sympathy. Simply go to the boarding houses provided by the factory owners, get into beds that have never been aired, just vacated by other girls who are taking their places in these factories. The results are: Disease and sin is raging among these girls.

In our own country we have sweat shops where the poor are oppressed. Poor children made to leave school and work for long weary hours before such a thing should be. No happy childhood for these poor little ones. They are robbed of a child's rights, education, purity, innocence, youth beauty, by the selfishness of some one.

We look askance upon the heathen, as we call them, because they care so little for their womenkind, who are the burden bearers and toilers. Men are the warriors, the hunters, but not the toilers.

What about our women toilers? A few years ago in some of our big stores a girl, no matter how weary, sick or lonely she may be, must not be found sitting down, nor talking to another during working hours. Why? Selfishness of some one.

UNIVERSAL WELL-BEING.

We believe a new day is dawning in the world and that means in Canada, our beloved land, doubly beloved because she has been presented to us, and for generations at such a price.

Old ideals have given place to new ideals. A new vision of what may and should be has come. There is a new social consciousness, a new and more tender social sympathies, a new social conscience, a new responsibility.

The men in the trenches were brothers. They shared the common. They vied with one another in service and sacrifice. For such men the lowest vices are not drinking, swearing, tobacco and the like; they are cowardice, smallness, boasting, selfishness, stinginess.

The supreme virtues are: courage, worthy tolerance, big heartedness, open-handedness, eagerness to serve and sacrifice unto death. Their privilege was to give, to help, to serve and save. This is following the Master's example, of whom it was said, when on the cross, "He saved others, Himself he cannot save." The Brotherhood of man teaches us to think of others, teaches that self is to be last in our thoughts.

Christian Chivalry has come into its own. How we reverence and respect the Knights of old, who before leaving for battle, knelt at the feet of their ladies to receive their colors and best wishes. We have been taught by actual experience just what this means. Surely, as we have witnessed the eagerness our dear ones have shown in readiness to fight, suffer and die for the down-trodden, the weak, the victimized, we will not be guilty of shirking our duty. What else took Great Britain, Canada, Newfoundland, the other Dominions and the United States into the war? Was it not in defence of Belgium and Serbia against their brutal neighbors? Is not this the spirit in which Jesus came to earth to save humanity? Never in the world's history was Christian chivalry so widespread or so honored. All the world is richer and therefore Canada.

Efficiency—social, individual, class and community—has a place of honor in it never before enjoyed. Social efficiency, to reach its maximum, requires individual efficiency; yet individual efficiency is not enough. Individuals must be organized, led, trained in co-operation, given a mighty motive, and therefore ready to lay aside all handicap, all that might hinder.

How meekly, nay cheerfully, we have for democracy's sake allowed temporary autocrats to tell us how much fuel we could have, or flour, sugar, wool, leather, or bacon. We surrendered liberty that we might forever secure liberty for ourselves, our children and the world. And what wonders Christian Chivalry and Social Efficiency enabled us to perform, in fighting, in producing, in financing.

Again, human personality has a new value. We are getting nearer the Master's estimate. Material wealth is a secondary consideration. Not things we possess, "life" is what counts. Life is not held cheaper; it is infinitely more precious because of the willing laying down of so many fair young lives for the world to save the world.

Hereafter human rights, health, comfort, culture, leisure, and therefore such wages, hours and conditions as make these possible are vastly more than wealth or profit.

Were we all imbued with this Brotherhood idea there would not be tolerated anything hurtful to humanity, such as—

1. The white slave traffic.
2. Traffic in bad books and literature.
3. Pictures, poisoning the minds or imagination of the young.
4. Helping to form the drug habit.
5. Supplying tobacco to youths under sixteen.
6. Manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes.

May we, as worthy Canadians, help in carrying out these ideas.
