Prominent Minister Endorses Hacking's Heart and Nerve Remedy

Was almost a Nervous Wreck from Overwork; this wonderful remedy brought back his old time Vigor and Vitality. Read the story of a Great Medicine in three letters. $1.00 in cash will be paid to anyone who can prove that these letters are not genuine. The name of Minister will be given to anyone who doubts these remarkable statements.

Here is Letter Number One
"Please send me one box of HACKING'S HEART AND NERVE REMEDY, I am suffering from a bad attack and have been unable to fill my nights for three months, doctors say that it may be six months or more before I am well again. I used to be able to hold my large congregation from start to finish, now, I can scarcely hold my own thoughts.
My Heart Action is bad and I am subject to Faintings and Dizziness, and am very despondent. I hope that your remedy will help me."
We sent on the one box of Hacking's Heart and Nerve Remedy and 11 days later we receive this letter.

Letter Number Two
"Please send me 6 boxes of Hacking's Heart and Nerve Remedy. I have used the box you sent me and I feel that it has already helped me. My head is clearer and the pain that has followed the preparation of my sermons has been greatly relieved and I feel that with proper treatment I will again be restored to my old-time vigor.
I am so pleased with the success of your remedy that I am giving part of it to some of my friends."
Now comes the proof in letter number three, a few weeks later.

Letter Number Three
"Having used your medicine, Hacking's Heart and Nerve Remedy for a few weeks for Neurasthenia (Nervous Breakdown) I have become as a new man. For five months I have suffered from Sleeplessness, Nervous Chills, Fainting Spells, Severe Headaches and I could not place my mind on the preparation of my sermons. To-day, my old ambition and strength is renewed—thanks to the use of your remedy, which I am pleased to recommend to anyone suffering from Nervous Diseases."
This testimonial comes voluntarily from one whose reputation is unassailable and is given for the sole purpose of helping others. The above statements are true—or as near to the truth "as the men of Benjamin could throw a stone" Jud. 20 15.

HOUSES SURROUNDED BY GRAND IN FLOOD

Cayuga Boatmen Go to Assistance of One Family.

CAYUGA, March 19.—The Grand River went on the rampage yesterday morning and rampaged with a vengeance. It had been gradually rising from about ten o'clock on Wednesday night and when the ice broke its jam the crush was tremendous. The water covered the abutments of the bridge and broke the telephone wires along it and also a gas pipe lower down the river. Fortunately the pipe was not the one that supplies gas to Cayuga from the Lake Erie wells and the town connection was not cut off as were several telephone connections.
The cellars of houses on both sides of the river were flooded as were also some dwellings along its banks. Two families residing farther down the river were completely surrounded by water and ice and in one the lower rooms were flooded to about three inches of depth. At the other house the inmates became alarmed and phoned for assistance. James Baird, one of the best boatmen in Cayuga, went down with a couple of men to their assistance, but by the time they got down the water was lowering.
At the sawmill some damage was done and work was not in evidence on Thursday. The engine-room was flooded and several barrels of oil spilled with other damage. The high water mark of 1905 in this mill, which has not since been reached was over-reached by six inches. By sunrise the water had fallen about four feet, but continued high all day with the ice jammed a couple of miles down the river. Tons of ice rest along the banks and in the gardens of the houses that were surrounded.

USE IN ADVERSITY

Generally a Working Out of the Law of Compensation.

Undoubted Fact That Opposition or Hardship Tends to Bring Out the Best There is in Man's Composition.

"I wish I could slide along in business as easily as George Seagrave," said John Nelson, as he joined his father in the library after dinner.
"What's up now?" asked his father.
"Oh, nothing," replied the son, "only George has just been appointed assistant general manager of his father's firm. It doesn't seem right for a fellow to have an advantage like that given to him, while fellows like me have to dig for everything they get."
"But that seems to be the way the world is made, John, and the more I see of it the more I'm convinced it's a capital arrangement. I used to feel as you do, but I've lived long enough to see a great many things adjust themselves. There is a law of compensation at work, my boy, and no class has all the advantages. It would be a very poor world if we all slid along as easily as George does."
"What do you mean by that?" asked the son.
"Just this: it takes opposition or hardship, or whatever you please to call it, to bring out the best in us and make us good for anything. You know the old saying, 'It's three generations from shirt sleeves to shirt sleeves.' A man goes out in his shirt sleeves and gets his living, but he decides that his children shall have more opportunity than he, so he gives them an education. The sons make money by their educational advantages, and they pass it on to their sons, who have never known the struggle of acquisition. The sons' sons go through it. And so the shirt-sleeve process begins again. It doesn't always happen so but it happens with sufficient regularity to form the basis of a proverb. The exception proves the rule."
"Yes, but it needn't be so," replied the boy.
"I know that," replied the father, "but there is enough truth in it to prove what I want to say. Even God himself put the Jews through the process of adversity to whip them into shape. It was only about four hundred miles in a bee line across the wilderness. But God made the Jews take forty years to get to Canaan, because he wanted to toughen them and make them ready for the conquest, when he got them there. The Bible says he led them not through the way of the land of the Philistines, although that 'was near.' They would have got there too quickly to stand the hardship. And if they had defeated the Philistines, they would have been unprepared for a still worse enemy. I mean the oppression and plenty of Canaan."
"Men are defeated by easy victories and cheap successes more than by adversities. Disraeli was hissed down in the British parliament when he made his maiden speech. But that only toughened his fibre and stiffened his resolve. Grant's reverses were the school in which he learned how to win his later victories. It makes all the difference whether a closed door is a final rebuff or an invitation to battle through. I'm more afraid of a cheap and easy success for you than I am of struggle. If you struggle before you achieve, you will have character to hold you steady when success arrives. The trouble with many persons is that they have no character to go with their acquisitions. It is a case of diamonds on dirty fingers."
"Have you never seen an engine pounding itself to pieces on a slippery rail in winter? What it needed was sand, opposition. Friction spelled progress. Even a kite can't rise with the wind. It must ascend against it. Don't spend your time quarrelling with the order of things or fretting about some one else's easy success. An oak grows in the open, tortured by a thousand storms. The hothouse plant never knows the glory of the sky."—Youth's Companion.

Russian Bison Exterminated.

What has happened, during the war, to the bison herds of Central Europe? Protected by a ukase of the Czar Alexander, bisons still existed in some private parks of Poland and Lithuania, the last of their kind in Europe. Count Potocki's herd was kept in an immense park, and for some time was protected by the Cossacks of the Don. But according to a French writer, M. Grandfèler, there is no doubt as to their ultimate fate. In 1917 the bolsheviks thought fitting to include the herd in their policy of extermination. Bisons could not be owned by everybody, therefore they must be owned by nobody, and so, in the general cataclysm, the famous herd disappeared.

Maggie Pet of Picnic.

The magpie in Kensington gardens has many friends who attend his daily levee. One of so tender a heart that she conceals chicken bones in her muff for his delight was told that an offering of meal-worms would prove irresistible.
She sought this delicacy, but only to learn that it is now unobtainable. For meal-worms, as an article of bird-fare, came from Germany.
Most of us will bear with equanimity the disappearance of this strangest of Hunsish trades. To the authorities of the Zoological gardens, however, the problem of meal-worm production is said to be a weighty one still unsolved.—London Chronicle.

Every Day There's a Joyful Rush for New Spring Clothes at Falls'

It is a plain and delicate fact that there is more temptation in many quarters today to sell low-grade clothing than at any time in many years. The lure of the bargain price now and then blinds a man to this fact and causes him to "take a chance" with a cheap suit from an unreliable dealer.

That is, he thinks he "takes a chance." As a matter of fact; he doesn't get a chance.
His money is clean gone, and in a few weeks he realizes that he has a suit that even the "old clo" man would hardly accept from him as a gift. If there ever was a time when it behooves every man to be extraordinarily careful in the selection of clothes, that time is now. There is only one way to be absolutely sure of the good quality of your new spring suit and that is to be sure of your store.

In Falls' men's store you will find suits for men and young men that are sound and true at $25, $30, $35, $40 and $50—equal suits will cost considerably more at some other store.

Women and Young Women are Buying Fine Blue Suits for Spring.

There is a delightful new collection of the garments, dark blue serge and wool tricotine, at prices going from $25 to $125.

Their tailoring is a matter of admiring comment, their style is so good most women fall in love with them at first sight. Some are quite simple, and are rather plainly tailored, and perhaps a shining line of silk braid for piping or a row of buttons. Some are richly embroidered. There are short jackets and longer ones; there are little box coats and blouse jackets, all are richly lined.
