The Y.P.S. of Knox church, motored over to Hagersville on Monday night, where they took the meeting for the Y.P.S. of St. Andrew's church. After the regular meeting a most enjoyable social evening was spent, the Hagersville young people proving most admirable hosts and hostesses. A very painful accident recently befell Charlton Swartz, near Chespeide while driving a team of horses, being kicked under the jaw, breaking it right through and otherwise smashing the side of his face. Mr. Cook, one of the contractors in town, had the misfortune of having his overcoat taken from the hotel on Wednesday last. He recovered them in Simcoe on Monday from a man who had dinner at the hotel on that day, who was moving from Hamilton to Simcoe, claiming that he had taken it by mistake. The mistake cost him $15, as that was the amount Mr. Cook was out in tracing the missing articles.—Caledonia Sachem.

J. W. Bengough, the far-famed cartoonist, delighted a fair sized audience in the Music Hall here Wednesday night with his caricatures when he appeared here under the auspices of the Jarvis Baseball Club. A couple of local hits caused considerable merriment, one of which showed Reeve McCarter with a pick working on the Good Roads in Haldimand, while the other showed Rev. Hare making a pastoral call. Mr. Bengough added to the evening's entertainment with his recitals and stories. The baseball club, after paying expenses, had a small balance to add to their funds in their treasury.

Mr. James Walker has purchased the contents of the Commercial Hotel from Mr. Geo. A. Depew, and will take possession on the 1st of June. Mr. Depew is leaving to take possession of the Welland House at Welland. Mr. Depew is a first-class hotel man and a good citizen, and during his short stay here has made many friends who will wish him success in his new undertaking. We are pleased to know that the local hotelery will be kept open for the accommodation of the travelling public. Hotel accommodation is getting to be a serious matter in the villages, and even some of the larger places, and will be possible to keep up a house to accommodate the public with the "stop" they are now privileged to sell. The trouble is the people who WANT it DON'T want it. If the hotels were permitted to sell light beers there would be a big falling off in the demand for strong drink.

Standing Field Crop Competition

Farmer Kills Sister Attempts Suicide

Elizabeth Badley, Rainham, Killed By Blow Over Head.

George Badley is in Cayuga Jail With Wound in Throat.

Cayuga, May 18.—Without any apparent provocation, and without warning, George Badley, a farmer living near Selkirk, seized a piece of gas piping this morning, rushed at his sister, who was with him in the house, and struck her a terrific blow on the head, killing her instantly. Immediately afterwards he attempted to cut his throat with a razor, but succeeded in inflicting only a superficial gash. On a charge of murder, Badley was arrested by Constable Lamb of Selkirk, and brought to Cayuga Jail this evening.

It is stated by persons who have known the family for many years that neither the sister, Lizzie Badley, nor her brother was mentally sound. With their father, Thomas Badley, they operated a farm about eleven miles from here. The mother died about a month ago.

Coroner Quance of Selkirk opened a preliminary inquest to-night. Arrangements have been made for the funeral of the girl, who will be buried on Thursday. Badley will appear before Police Magistrate T. E. Cline on Thursday for a preliminary hearing.

A SAD ACCIDENT

The Little Son of Herman Meill Has Life Crushed Out.

A large attendance at the funeral of Master Bruce Albert Meill on Sunday last evidenced the sympathy of the whole district with Mr. and Mrs. H. Meill in the loss of their young and only son through a very sad accident.

After eating his supper on Friday evening, the little lad, aged 2 years and 6 months, went out as he had done many times before to gather some eggs, with the idea of helping his mother. This time, in some mysterious way, he managed to pull over a row of nests on himself with fatal results. The mother finding him sent at once for the doctor but nothing he could do availed.

The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon, the service at the house and at the church was conducted by the pastor, Rev. H. L. Smith.
The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Four little girls, Grace Snively, Nettie Elliott, Irene McMurchy and Violet McPherson, carried the flowers, while the pall bearers were: Murray Anderson, Regie Orr, and Harry and Leslie Snively.

The floral offerings were: a wreath, the Father and Mother; a bouquet, grandmother and uncle, Mrs. Gnanfield and Ed.; Sprays: Dr. Gnanfield and Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Harrop, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McMurchy, Young Peoples' Adult Bible Class, Senior Adult Bible Class, Little Men's Sunday School Class, taught in 1915 and 1916 by Mr. H. Meill, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott and Nellie, Grace Snively, Miss McDermott, and the Cradle Roll.
Interment in Garnet Methodist cemetery, just back of the church. While little Bruce will be much missed by his parents yet all is glory for him.

What About a Park?

Is it possible that the village sooner or later, is going to be denied a ground for sports, such as baseball, etc.? It is true that the boys have the use of the fair grounds, through the courtesy of Mr. McNeill, but only under certain conditions—so long as the boys keep the gates closed and allow no rigs on the grounds. Is it not time the citizens came out of their Rip Van Winkle doze and secured grounds suitable for all kinds of sports, including the fair, and if we wish to have a day's sport there will always be a place to hold it. There is a fund in the Bank which was started some years ago for just such a purpose and which now amounts to about $800 which would go part way in providing such a ground and this amount could easily be increased if any effort was put forth. A ground for the purpose of sports is very important in any village and no time should be lost in securing the same. There is a great deal of truth in the old saying "you'll never miss the water till the well runs dry." Other villages have grounds, why not Jarvis? Let's make a move!

Our Departed Friends

By James H. Dean.
One by one they're passing on Beyond the realm of time, Their hold on life has broken been Like branches from the vine. No fruit they'll bear in future years, Their working time is done, And never more can be recalled, Because their race is run.

We sorrow for the kindly face That we shall see no more, And for the kindly greeting look In vain, for nevermore Their hands we'll clasp in friendly grasp, Nor meet their friendly smile Which waked in us the friendly glow Of sympathy worth while.

No more we'll meet them on the street, Or in the marts of trade; No more we'll hear their voices tell Of sacrifices made, Or those within the home, Where they'll be missed much more than We can ever hope to know.

Their life, no doubt, was not quite all They wished that it should be, For they were human and their faults Were much the same as we Are guilty of, as every day We mingle on the street; For none can boast above the rest Of earthly life complete.

One perfect life alone has been On this old globe of ours; He came to show us how to live To reach fair Eden's bowers, And as each life conforms to His, Each future life will be More nearly like to what it should When we "put out to sea."

We will not think of friends as dead, They've simply stepped within That shadowy land of mystery From which none once therein Can ever come back to mortal life To tell experiences there, Or whether they're in Paradise, Or home of dark despair.

There's nothing else for us to do Than wish for them a home With all the good in Paradise, Where sorrows never come. Shall not the Judge of all the earth Go what is best for them? Then let them sleep, while others weep To see them once again.
