The Gas Situation

From the above you will note that 88 per cent. of the total consumers receiving gas from this company or its associated companies are paying 45 cents or more per thousand cubic feet.

In addition to consumers supplied direct by this company, we are also furnishing gas to the United Gas & Fuel Co. for distribution in Hamilton, for which they now receive 75 cents per thousand, of which this company gets 45 cents per thousand without any distributing charges.

Might add that assuming the gas sales in 1920 would be the same as in 1919, this company would have to get a rate of approximately 55 cents per thousand cubic feet to make a return of 8 per cent. on the capital invested.

The following is a summary of the reasons which have led this company to request that they be permitted to charge and collect an increased price for the gas which they distribute and sell in Jarvis:

First—The contract price for drilling has increased 175 per cent.

Second—The cost of pipe and material used in the gas business has increased on an average of 235 per cent.

Third—The cost of distributing gas has increased 75 per cent. and it is only by the strictest economy that we have kept this account as low as it is.

Fourth—Under the Ontario natural gas regulations now in force, the use of gas for industrial purposes is greatly restricted and practically all gas is being conserved for domestic use. It is, therefore, only just and fair that the people, for whose benefit this gas is reserved, should pay a rate in some measure proportional to the benefit derived.

Fifth—To earn a reasonable return on the value of the property now actually in use and for making a reservation out of the income for depreciation of plant and for depletion of gas fields.

Sixth—To be in a position to purchase more gas and to encourage drilling by independent producers by being able to offer them an increased price for their product.

Seventh—To provide sufficient revenue to enable the company to prospect and drill new wells in an effort to not only maintain but to increase the present supply of gas.

Eighth—To provide revenue to take care of the ever increasing cost of producing gas owing to the natural depletion of the gas fields and the increased cost of operations owing to the decrease in rock pressure and the necessity of pumping of the wells to keep them clear of salt water.
