Arrests in Hartford Case

Three young Indians have been arrested in connection with the shooting of Joseph Howard, general storekeeper at Hartford on April 5th. Their names are Elmer Henry and Hilton George Sherry, aged 23, and James Webster, aged 19. They were taken to Simcoe and appeared before Magistrate Guntton on Saturday and remanded for a week. The first two admitted being concerned in the hold-up of Howard, who received a bullet through the shoulder as he was coming down from the loft of his barn. They admitted going after money, but denied intent to kill, though prepared, if necessary, to injure their victim. Webster, after being remanded, made a statement denying any guilt or responsibility for the affair.

Agricultural Instruction

An insight into the progress that is being made in agricultural instruction, both for adults and juniors, is to be gathered from the report on the Agricultural Instruction Act for 1919-20, recently submitted to the Dominion Parliament. Under this Act $1,100,000 is now divided annually between the nine provinces of Canada with a view, as the report says, of aiding and advancing the farming industry of Canada. That the objects sought are being attained is shown by the review of the situation regarding agricultural instruction as it now exists in this country. Schools have been established, colleges extended and brought nearer to the farmer, research has been greatly encouraged, the agricultural representative system has been aided and fostered, home life improved, school fairs have been brought into being, and knowledge in every branch of agriculture and domestic science has been made more readily available. How the funds forthcoming under the Act are applied is illustrated by the fact that of an allotment of $256,413 was devoted in 1919-20 to the Agricultural Representative system, and $644,070 to instruction and demonstration. Boys' and Girls' clubs were extensively aided, and women's institutes, homemakers' clubs and similar organizations, had their funds augmented in such a manner as led remarkably to their growth and increased spread of their usefulness. How important a figure in the direct advancement of agricultural instruction the Act is, will perhaps be best appreciated by the fact that in the six years of its existence $1,890,143 has been allocated to colleges and schools of agriculture, exclusive of veterinary colleges, to which a special grant of $20,000 is made annually. The problem facing those responsible for educational policy, says the report, is to provide adequate educational opportunities for those destined for country life, and that in large measure is the purpose for which the funds granted by the Act are being used.
