Six Nations Indians On Way To Protest to King George

Claim That Under Treaty They Are Not Subject to Rule of Canadian Government

Stanford, August 7.—Levi General and David S. Hill, of the Six Nations Indians, have left for Rochester where they will meet Attorney G. Decker and Chief General, to form a deputation which will go to present to King George himself the Six Nations Indians' protest against interference by the Canadian Indian department in the affairs of the Six Nations.

The united tribes claim that by virtue of the treaty under which they came to the Grand River Valley after the war of the revolution they are completely independent within their own limits. The specific cause of complaint is the bill to provide for enfranchisement of Indians as Canadian citizens. They contend that they are allies of the British Crown, and not subject to Canadian rule.

The expenses of the delegation were raised by popular subscription.

Corn Borer in Norfolk

Presence of Pest Reported by the Agricultural Representative

Simcoe, August 5.—The local agriculture office has announced the presence of the corn borer in the vicinity of Delhi and Waterford and the local district is considerably interested, for, besides the general large acreage of fodder corn for silos, which are seen everywhere, much corn for factories is produced within six or eight miles of Simcoe.

Inroads by the borer in this county would be a serious blow to Norfolk farmers and especially to the dairy industry, which has, during the past three years, been decidedly on the ascendancy and has been marked by the establishment of three large milk concerns at Courtland, Renton and Simcoe.

PLANTS FROM CUTTINGS

Plant Propagation as Described by a Master Hand.

Be Your Own Developer of Geraniums—Light Fall Pruning of Orchards is Safe—The Barberry Hedge a Spreader of Rust in Grains.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Toward the end of the summer, the amateur flower grower often wonders how the stock of geraniums in the flower border can be increased and preserved by some other means than by taking up the old plants in the autumn; the last named method not having, perhaps, proved successful in past seasons. By starting fairly early, toward the end of August, before cold chilly nights appear, a nice supply of young plants, more especially of all kinds of geraniums of the flowering kind, or those having fragrant leaves, or even the bronze or silver leaved kinds, can be had by starting cuttings or slips of these plants. First of all obtain a shallow box about three inches deep, ten or twelve inches wide, and from twelve to twenty-four inches in length; an empty huddle (fish) box will do very well. It should have some small holes bored through the bottom for drainage. Pack this box firmly with moist, clean, gritty sand; sand that will make good store mortar will do. Then take the terminal top part of the young growth of plants about four or five inches in length, each shoot or cutting having from four to six joints where leaves are produced. Make the base of the cutting just below one of these nodes or leaf joints, making a clean cut with a sharp knife flat across. Cut off some of the lower leaves, leaving two or three leaves at the top. Cut off all bloom buds and blossoms where possible. Make a hole or drill in the wet sand deep enough to set fully the length of stem of cuttings in the sand. Water them well once, and keep the sand moist until cuttings are rooted, which should be in five or six weeks' time. The box can be set out of doors in partial shade until the first week in September when they can be taken into the window. When cuttings have roots about an inch in length dig them carefully from the sand without injuring the roots and pot them singly into small 2 1/4 inch pots or set them about two inches apart in well drained shallow boxes in a soil made up of one part sand, one part leaf mould, and about six parts of light loamy soil, enriched with one part of dry pulverized cow manure from the pasture field. This last is one of the best possible fertilizers for soil for pot plants. Set the young plants in the window in a temperature of 60 to 70 degrees Fahr. an ordinary house temperature. Salvia, Ageratum, Lady Washington Geraniums, Fuchsias, Iresine, Lobelia and many other plants can be started from cuttings in this way.—The late Wm. Hunt, O. A. College, Guelph.

Light pruning in fall is permissible, but heavy pruning is dangerous and likely to result in serious damage from winter killing, especially if the succeeding winter is severe. The injury is caused by drying out of the cut area and may be prevented by covering all wounds of any size with a good covering of paint made from pure lead and oil. Do not use prepared paints, as these contain injurious benzine or turpentine driers. To make an effective covering it will be necessary to give not less than two coats, because one coat will not prevent checking and drying of green wood. Coal tar makes an excellent wound covering and is easily applied.

This matter of covering wounds made in fall or early winter is frequently slighted by orchard men, but the writer has seen such serious damage result from neglect of this precaution that he feels justified in warning fruit growers with regard to the practice. In experimental trials in the College apple orchard, varieties so hardy as Snow and Scott's Winter have suffered very serious injury following November pruning with the cuts left unprotected. The wounds dry out around the edges and by spring the dead area is greatly enlarged, frequently extending down the trunk or branch for a foot or more. The dead bark comes away later leaving a large dead area, detrimental to the parts above and certain also to decay later.

It is not likely that injury would follow the cutting of branches below an inch in size unless many were removed and there probably would be no necessity for covering such wounds. All above this size, however, should be thoroughly protected.—J. W. Crow, O. A. College, Guelph.

Barberry Hedge Spoiled Ten Crops.

Hundreds and hundreds of instances can be cited to show that the common barberry is the most important factor in the spread of rust in northwest states. In a Government bulletin on rust and barberry, Dr. C. E. Stakman of Minnesota University Farm relates the experience of a farmer at Crystal Bay, Lake Minnetonka, Minn., who had a barberry hedge of 825 bushes. He had tried to grow oats on his farm for ten years, but each year the black stem rust destroyed almost all the grain. Then one spring he destroyed the hedge before the bushes had become rusted. Ten days before the harvest the field was examined thoroughly and no stem rust could be found. The yield and quality proved to be excellent. It was the first time in ten years that a crop had been grown successfully on that farm. Every land owner should begin early in the spring to destroy the barberry for the protection of grain crops.

You Must Have New Furniture

Why Not Get It When Prices Are Low?

IN EVERY HOME there is need of new Furniture—of one piece or two pieces, of a Bedroom Suite, a Diningroom Suite, a Chesterfield or a whole houseful. Now, whoever wants new furniture wants also to get it for prices that are as low as possible; and especially to get furniture that is reliable and good; furniture that can be depended upon, whether it is only a rocker, or whether it is the complete furnishing of a home. The best opportunity is to get it in the FALLS' ANNUAL AUGUST SALE OF FURNITURE.

With the greatest stocks, with the largest variety, with the most definite reliability, with the low prices, quality considered, this sale appeals to more people than any other sale, and in return it renders the greatest service. Now is the time and the height of the opportunity. Come in this week and see the great displays.
