The evening services in the Methodist and Presbyterian churches will change back to 7 o'clock, beginning next Sunday, instead of 7.30 which has been the hour of service during the summer months.

Rev. Dr. Robert Johnston, who conducted the recent mission in Knox church, has been called to Green church, Calgary, at an initial stipend of $6000. His induction is to take place about the middle of September.

Have you considered Stenography as a profession? In from six to eight months you can be prepared to earn from $700 to $1000 a year. The Bowden Business Colleges can give you the training. Fall Term commences September 6.

His Honor Lionel Clark, Lieutenant Governor of Ontario since 1919, died Monday afternoon at Governor House following an illness extending over six months. A state funeral has been or which takes place this (Wednesday) afternoon.

Wanted young ladies with two or three years' high school experience to train for the better positions in the business field. Training Stenographers has been a specialty with the Bowden Colleges for over seven years.

This is an age of specialization. The specialty of the Bowden Business Colleges is the training of Stenographers and typists in which they have been most successful. If you wish the best training enroll with this College on September 6.

The barn and outbuildings on the farm of Wm. Fallon, Mud street, were totally destroyed by fire on Saturday afternoon, together with the season's crop of hay and grain. Mr. Fallon's loss will be heavy, although he carried insurance in the Walpole Mutual.

In the final game between the Harvesters of Hamilton and Campbellville, played at Dundas on Saturday, the former won by a score of 12 to 8. Caledonia and the Harvesters will now fight it out, playing home and home games, the first game being played at Hamilton on Thursday, at 4:30 p.m.

The Simcoe ball team has won out in Norfolk league and will meet Hickson, winners of the North Oxford league, in the first round of the O.E.A.A. intermediate semi-finals. First game at Simcoe on Thursday, with second game at Hickson on the following Wednesday.

Potatoes in Western Ontario are not only a light crop, but blight has made its appearance in some localities and the yield will be further reduced as a result. The weather of late has been conducive to blight, and in some fields there is already an odor from the plants affected.

The frame of the new rink building was raised on Tuesday. A number of willing workers from the village and surrounding country were on hand to lend a helping hand. The ladies of the village entertained them to dinner and tea in the Methodist school room. Work on the new building will be rushed along, and it is expected to be completed before the Fair on October 8th.

Mrs. Robert Porteous died at her home in Simcoe on Tuesday morning, August 23rd, in her 83rd year. She was born in Dundee, Scotland. Deceased was the last surviving member of the late Alex. Clarke family in Woodhouse, and sister of the late Dr. Daniel Clarke, Superintendent of the Insane Asylum, Toronto, for many years. Her husband predeceased her a number of years ago. The funeral was held on Friday afternoon to Oakwood cemetery.

A serious accident occurred near Port Rowan last week, when Dwight Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Miller, of Seikirk, while motoring with friends, was badly hurt. The car, which upturned in a deep ditch, pinned Mr. Miller under it, and before assistance could be rendered, he was badly burned on the limbs by oil from the car.

NEW SCHOOL ACT

Adolescent Section Will Become Operative

On September 1, section three of the Adolescent School Attendance Act will come into force, compelling school attendance until the age of 16. School Boards throughout the Province have had almost a year's notice of the proposed change in conditions and Provincial Department of Education officials anticipate that there will be little or no difficulty in effecting general conformation to the new Act.

The general and principal purpose of the act, is to see that the boys and girls of the impressionable age are either at school or at work. The years intervening between leaving school and engaging in industry (usually those between 14 and 16), the law makers regard as those in which a waywardly-inclined youngster makes bad associations and his or her idle hands and brain get into bad habits.

No Drastic Move Expected
Official anti enforcement comment is to the effect that the Adolescent School Attendance Act will be put into force in September with "moderation and commonsense."

Those young people below the age of sixteen already at work will not be bothered at all. Those whose home conditions require their presence in remunerative employment will readily be granted permission from the authorities to engage in work, instead of continuing at school as the act specifies.

Task Is On School Boards
Upon the School Boards, and through them the school attendance officers, will fall the task of checking up the 14 to 16 year olds who are neither at work nor at school. Department officials do not anticipate that any increase in staff will be necessary to furnish the additional supervision, and in any event they regard the notice given since the close of the Legislature as ample for School Boards to have made their own preparations.

Section seven of the same act, which makes compulsory part-time attendance of adolescents between the ages of 16 and 18 years, comes into effect on September 1, two years hence.

The most important question that parents can ask themselves about their children is: "For what vocation in life are they best suited?" It is not a matter of what you would like to have them do, but of what they can do, and want to do. There is no greater mistake made in the world than to force a young person into a professional career when he prefers to follow farming or some other line of work.

Farmers of Charlton, Ont., district have recently become discouraged with the low price of cream and dairy butter, and have appointed a provincial board of directors for a co-operative cheese factory to be built there. In addition to this sign of progress in agriculture has been the purchase by the Clover Valley Breeders' association of a pedigree Shorthorn bull, Pansy Chief, from the Martindale Stock farm, Caledonia, Ont.

About the most foolish thing people can do is to kick about the weather. There may be a little more reason for kicking about your clothes or your food or the way you sleep for there is every reason to think that you may be able to change such condition. But the weather is something that all the kicking in the world will not alter. The only thing to do is to dress suitably for it and then forget about it and go ahead and enjoy yourself. Try it.

The Right of Way
Our enterprising baker and grocer, D. C. Allen, is moving to day into his new store, formerly known as "The White House." Mr. Allen purchased this building some time ago and has had it completely re-modelled. A large new bake oven of the latest kind has been built at the rear of the store. He has also put in an elevator. The whole interior has been re-painted and decorated and when everything is in its place Mr. Allen will have one of the most up-to-date bakeries and grocery stores in this section. We wish him the success his enterprise deserves.

"Why do you turn out for every road hog that comes along?" said the misses, crossly. "We have the right of way haven't we?"

"Oh, undoubtedly!" answered he calmly. "As for our turning out; the reason is suggested in an epitaph appearing in a newspaper recently: Here lies the body of William Jay, Who died maintaining the right of way. He was right, dead right, as he sped along— But he's just as dead as if he'd been wrong!"

Haldimand U. F. O. Picnic

The picnic held by the U. F. O. and U.F.W.O. in Webber's Grove, Byng, on Wednesday afternoon, was blessed with ideal weather and attracted a crowd of about three thousand people. Needless to say everybody had a grand outing. Warren Stringer, the popular U.F.O. member for Haldimand in the Legislature, was chairman and performed his duties most acceptably.

Addresses were delivered by Charles Swayze, Labor Member of Niagara Falls; S. D. Sandy, M.P.P. for South Victoria; Mr. J. V. Fradenburg, Haldimand County U. F. O. President; Mr. McKee of the Central U.F.O. organization. J. W. Richardson of Caledonia, County Councillor W. A. Houser, and W. M. McQuillen.

Bob Wilson, the celebrated Toronto singer and entertainer, and with him Miss Grace Bonnick, pianist and accompanist, delighted all in character songs and sketches. Songs were also rendered by Mrs. Lindsay and Miss Walker of Nanticoke.

The speech of the day was provided by Mrs. J. S. Amos, of Woodstock, Vice-President of the Provincial U.F.W.O. She has a fine command of English to express herself, an easy style of delivery, and the quality that not only interests but convinces her audience. Her address dealt largely with home conditions, and drew attention to the fact that while the power truck and labor saving machinery have revolutionized the man's end of the farming business, the wife still has to put up largely with conditions of the past.

The I.O.O.F. Band played many selections, and played no small part in the enjoyment of the day.

Taken altogether the picnic spirit prevailed, and it was a day long to be remembered with pleasure—a day the like of which we in this day of business drudgery have far too few.—Dunnville Chronicle.

Virtues of Lightning Rods

Years ago the wiles of the lightning rod agent were a fruitful source of newspaper wit and humor. And there was reason for the jibe of the paragraphers. There were few parts of this continent so remote and inaccessible that no lightning rod agent reached it and succeeded in swindling unsuspecting farmers by unloading upon them useless rods at fabulous prices. These swindlers discredited not only the lightning rod agent, but the lightning rod itself, and there developed a wide spread skepticism as to its value as a protection against lightning.

But the skeptic was not justified. If experience and statistics can prove anything, they have established the fact that lightning rods properly put up and well grounded, do afford protection against lightning. The fire insurance companies know this to be a fact, and they do not demand so high a rate for rodded buildings as for buildings which are not so protected. The figures supplied by the Mutual Fire Insurance Company and the facts of its experience are conclusive. That company declares that for years it has not had to pay for the destruction of a rodded building by lightning, and that the damage done has been very small. In 1919 Ontario alone had 1104 fires caused by lightning in all classes of buildings, most of them farm houses and barns. Of these almost all were unprotected.

With good reason the provincial fire marshal is directing public attention to the virtues of the lightning-rod and urging its greater use.

The Killers

The tongs are busy everywhere, we hear their weapons bark and ring, the smell of powder's on the air, and undertakers dance and sing; the crime of murder, erstwhile rare, has now become a common thing. The burglars now are prompt to slap, it saves a lot of precious time; don't block the eager gunman's way—be'd shoot you for a bogus dime; I'm dodging bullets all the day, amid this carnival of crime. We're censoring to beat the band, forbidding this, forbidding that, and our inspectors roam the land, with large brass badge upon each hat, and many evils have been canned—the old stone jug, the brewer's vat. And we endorse all laws so blue they make the sinner wilt and fade; if there's a cigaret in view, we form our ranks to creak a raid; we yet will jail the godless crew who swallow circus lemonade. We're censoring the movie shows, to shield the youthful sports from sin; we raid suburban bungalows to look for bottles in a bin; and we inspect our garden hose, lest it's been used for squirting gin. Oh, our inspectors close hotels, and pinch the baker for his bread; each day they try to sound the knells of some abuse, some evil dread; but who inspects the man who sells the guns that fill our streets with dead.
