Selkirk Church Trouble WHEN THE HORSE FALLS

Notice, Calling Trustees' Meeting, Torn From Door.
Constable Assaulted—Defendant in Lottery Case Is Fined One Cent.

Cayuga, Jan. 20.—The little Evangelical church at Selkirk has become the scene of further clashes between the two factions of the congregation whose differences led to several court hearings a few months ago.
 Upon his return to Selkirk, after an absence of some weeks, Mr. Cox, the pastor, posted a notice on the church door calling a meeting for the appointment of trustees. The notice disappeared, and a local constable was stationed to watch the fate of its successor. Four citizens of Selkirk, passing, stepped inside the church and trouble followed, the outcome being charges of assault and interference with an officer on duty. Several of the charges were afterward withdrawn, but John Hoover and Mrs. John Hoover were each fined $5 and costs, at Selkirk. They have entered an appeal.
 Then Munro Hoover was charged with conducting a lottery. This case came up before Judge Hopkins here yesterday, and the accused, who was defended by R. S. Colter, was fined one cent and $15 costs. Crown Attorney Arrell conducted the prosecution.
 To all appearances the church feud continues. Judge Hopkins' instructions, when charges of disturbing public worship came before him some time ago, were that the two factions of the congregation should hold separate Sunday services, one morning and one evening.

Good Roads
 Port Rowan News:—There is an uplifting power in good roads which even the horses feel. When the farm pluck strikes the Port Rowan Road he picks up his ears and imagines he is a colt once more and comes striding through the town with the gate of a racer. Good roads have a similar effect upon mankind wherever they are introduced. When a good road is built through any section, the dwellings of the people along its borders soon begin to improve, the farmers become more tidy, the fields by the roadside become more prosperous. Truly good roads are an uplift to any community.

Geo. Foster, London, owns a hen for which a record is claimed in 1920 egg-laying. The hen, whose father was an Andalusian Blue and whose mother was a white Wyandotte, began work on Jan. 1, 1920, and laid every day until September. Then she laid every other day until the end of the year, thus producing 311 eggs.

First Unhitch and Speak Kindly to Him.

Asphalt and Ice a Bad Combination—Special Shoeing Sometimes Necessary—Sheep Raising in the Movies.

WHEN a horse falls in harness he almost immediately struggles to regain his feet. A strong, healthy horse will not remain down voluntarily, but in his efforts to rise he may become frightened. If the driver will give the right kind of first aid he can prevent serious injury to the animal, says the United States Department of Agriculture.
First Unhitch Horse.
 Held down by the harness the horse seldom has sufficient freedom to rise to his feet, though enough to struggle and injure himself by pounding his head on the ground. Accordingly, the driver should calm the horse first by speaking in a reassuring tone, and, by placing his knees upon the animal's neck just back of the ears, endeavor to prevent injury from struggling or from bruising his head. An intelligent horse quickly learns to place good confidence in the voice of a good driver. The traces and breeching straps should be unfastened and the vehicle rolled back from the fallen animal. If the horse is in double hitch, the traces and the strap should be unfastened and the pole, vehicle, and working mate moved a short distance away. An injured horse will then regain his feet readily if he has suitable footing. In case the ground is icy, scatter some fine sand, sawdust, or straw under and in front of him. If nothing of this kind is available, spread a blanket or burlap bagging on the pavement to give him better footing as he attempts to stand.
When the Horse Lies Broadside.
 In case the horse needs more help and encouragement, and especially if he lies broadside, roll him on to his chest, with the hind legs under the belly. Then work both front legs forward until the feet are firmly on the ground and knees flexed. If after repeated efforts and good footing, he continues to fall back upon the ground there is possibly some injury to the hind parts, such as a fracture of the hip or leg, which should be examined by a qualified veterinarian. In all effort to assist a fallen horse do not forget that in rising to his feet he raises the head and flexes the hait. This is directly opposite to the habit of the cow, which elevates the hind parts first.

Asphalt Especially Treacherous.
 Injuries to horses are common during the winter months in cities where snow becomes packed and forms an icy coating on the pavement. In most cities above the frost belt there are times when pavements are slippery. Asphalt is especially treacherous and when covered by a very light sleet or snow makes a very treacherous footing for horses. The milkman or baker, who drove upon a clean pavement at the night before, may find the streets at 4 a.m. so nearly impassable from a coat of smooth ice as to delay his deliveries very greatly or even prevent them entirely.
Special Shoes and Careful Driving.
 In country districts horses remain sharp or rough shod for a considerable time. But if they are driven much on city streets paved with stone, cement, or asphalt, from which the snow has been removed, their shoes quickly become smooth and it is difficult for the horses to keep their feet.
 When the front feet slip backward a horse is likely to fall and injure his knees, while side slipping generally causes him to come down broadside. Shoeing with rubber pads, or the use of emergency appliances may lessen the chance of slipping, but as there is always the possibility of a horse falling, even when well shod, careful driving and precautions against overloading are important additional means for reducing these accidents and injuries to a minimum.—U. S. Weekly News Letter.

 A motion picture film dealing with sheep on the farm has recently been completed by the film laboratories of the United States Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Bureau of Animal Industry. The film is used by county agents, county or state sheep-breeders' associations, agricultural colleges, and other department or co-operative workers or agencies.
 The film is in three sections and four reels. About 45 minutes is required for the showing of the whole production.
 The subject treated in the first and second reels is a year with the flock on the farm, beginning in the fall at the time that the ewe flock should be culled prior to breeding, and carrying it on through until the lambs are sold. Each seasonal practice is brought out and educational points are featured. The third reel deals with the co-operative marketing of wool and lambs, and the fourth reel with the slaughtering of a mutton sheep, dressing the carcass, and then cutting it up for meat consumption.
 The average farm implement is only about half worn out by use alone. The rest of the wear is due to rust and decay. The greatest possible profit is made out of machinery when it is used continuously for profitable work until it is worn out.

Falls' 1921 Annual February and Furniture Sale Begins Saturday

ECONOMY, QUALITY, SURETY AND SATISFACTION

Are the four strong walls that protect every Falls' customer. It takes all kinds of Good F-U-R-N-I-T-U-R-E to make a Falls' Furniture Sale, but we have never offered in any sale so much good Furniture at guaranteed savings as we offer in this sale.

Probably that is why we will sell more furniture, or rather why wise people will buy more furniture at this sale than has ever been bought at any sale within many a mile of Simcoe since Falls began these February events many years ago, and as we have all kinds of good furniture, so also we have good furniture for all kinds of house needs, so that any list we may give is but partially suggestive of what the event holds for those who believe in buying good things reasonably priced rather than doubtful things at any price.

There are two sides to almost every question. We state our side of the Furniture question:

- A—We know something about Furniture, having been in the business in a large way for considerable time.
- B—We have special relations with almost all of the best makers.
- C—Almost all the makers of furniture with whom we do not deal is to the advantage of our customers.
- D—The largeness and completeness of our stocks leave no room to doubt as to where the assortments are.
- E—Everyone is relieved here from trouble about the reliability of woods, workmanship and values.
- F—No one has to bother and imagine "how things will look at home" as abundant time, opportunities and spaces are given to group pieces together and to judge effects.

People Come from Far and Near to Falls' for Furniture

We are assured by good judges of Furniture that our prices are lower than such qualities ever sell for. We have sent large shipments of Furniture to the following points outside of Norfolk. "If there is another store within a hundred miles of Simcoe that can say as much we would like to know what it is. There are spaces of truth that fly from the furniture into the faces and minds of all but the dim-sighted."
