The Sunday School Lesson

Lesson XII. March 20.

JESUS ON THE CROSS

Lesson—Matt. 27: 32-50.

Golden Text.—“God commended his own love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, he died for us.” (Rom. 5: 18).

Historical Setting Time.—Friday, Apr. 7, A. D. 30. Place—Golgotha, outside, Jerusale.

The Lesson Text.

32 And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, Simon by name; him they compelled to go with them, that he might bear his cross.

33 And when they were come unto a place called Golgotha, that is to say, The place of a skull.

34 They gave him wine to drink mingled with gall; and when he had tasted it, he would not drink.

35 And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments among them, casting lots:

36 and they sat and watched him there.

37 And they set up over his head his accusation written, This is Jesus the King of the Jews.

38 Then there were crucified with him two robbers, one on the right and one on the left.

39—And they that passed by rallied on him, wagging their heads.

40 and saying, Thou that destroyest the temple, and buiddest it in three days, save thyself; if thou art the Son of God, come down from the cross.

41 In like manner also the chief priests mocking him, with the scribes and elders, said,

42 He saved others; himself he cannot save. He is the King of Israel; let him now come down from the cross, and we will believe in him.

43 He trusteth on God; let him deliver him now, if he desireth him; for he said, I am the Son of God.

44 And the robbers also that were crucified with him cast upon him the same reproach.

45 Now from the sixth hour there was darkness over all the land until the ninth hour.

46 And about the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani? that is, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

47 And some of them that stood there, when they heard it, said, This man calleth Elijah.

48 And straightway one of them ran and took a sponge, and filled it with vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink.

49 And the rest said, Let be; let us see whether Elijah cometh to save him.

50 And Jesus cried again with a loud voice, and yielded up his spirit.

Comments

Verse 32. After the supper in the upper room came the agony in Gethsemane, the betrayal, the arrest, appearance before the Sahedrin, death of Judas and trial before Pilate and Herod. Golgotha had never been exactly located.

Verse 34. The purpose of the strong wine and myrrh was to deaden pain. Jesus refused it. He chose to bear His suffering without human aid.

Verse 35. Crucifixion was an unspeakably awful death, and was abhorred by the Jews. It was the guard, three soldiers and a centurion that cast lots for His garments. Gambling for Jesus' apparel lends a last touch of disgrace to the outrageous conduct of His persecutors.

Verse 36. Imagine the different feelings in the hearts of the motley group.

Verse 37. John says Pilate wrote this superscription. The cause for crucifixion was unusually written in Aramaic, Latin and Greek.

Verse 38. It seems that Jesus was crucified first. He took Barabbas' place.

Verses 39, 40. His accusers falsely interpreted Jesus' words as a threat against the temple (Mark 14: 58; John 2: 19).

Verses 41, 42. The dignified chief priest descended to the passions of the mob.

Verse 43. This testimony is from an unfriendly source, but shows that Jesus positively claimed to be the Son of God.

Verses 44, 45. Nothing but a miracle explains this darkness from noon until three o'clock. There was no eclipse.

Verse 46. No human mind can fathom the word "forsaken" here.

Verses 47-50. In their guilt the people acted foolishly. Note that no one of the Evangelists says Jesus died. "He yielded up his spirit." He voluntarily gave up His life. Illustrated Truth.

There is always a way of getting out of facing duty, but there is no way of getting out of it and keeping faith (v. 42).

Illustration—“Too bad about Burns,” one man said to another. “Just when he was beginning to make a name in politics he had to give it up and go home and take on his father's business. They tell me the whole concern is loaded down with debts.” “The business was left in a dreadful state,” his companion replied, “but Burns didn't have to take it on.” “Then, why didn't he stay where he was and save himself that trouble?” “Why? Because he wanted to save the business for the sake of his mother and the younger children. He thought more of them than he did of his own comfort.”

Topics for Research and Discussion

I. The Crucifixion (vs. 32-38). 1. Name the events in order, as they quickly followed the supper in the upper room. 2. Where is Golgotha? 3. Why did Jesus refuse the drink offered Him on the cross? 4. Why did Jesus' Jewish persecutors clamor for His crucifixion instead of some other form of death? 5. How did two robbers happen to be crucified with Him?

II. The Mockery (vs. 39-43). 6. What is the meaning of verse 40? 7. Would they have believed on Him if He had come down from the cross? 8. How do you explain the darkness here mentioned? 9. Does any one of the Evangelists say that Jesus died? 10. What is the significance of the expressed, “He yielded up his spirit?”

Advice to Girls

By Miss Rosalind Registered according to the Copyright Act

Miss Rosalind welcomes letters from young women asking for advice on any subject. All you have to do is to address your letter to MISS ROSALIND, 34 King William St., Hamilton, Ont.

Dear Rosalind— I am a young girl of 18 years of age, and have been keeping company with a young man nearly all last summer he is about four years my senior, and is a very considerate young fellow, respectable my parents are much in favor of him but there is something about him I don't know what that displeases me very much. In the fall I met a young man from a distance. He asked permission to call and see me, so I said he would, he called several times and I went for short motor rides with him, always returning early. Since the winter has set in he is too far away to come to see me, so we correspond, my parents are not much in favor of this, although they don't say much, I still go out with the first boy mentioned, just lately another boy, about my own age, has asked to call and take me to the rink, but I didn't know what to tell him, as I didn't think it right for me to go out with so many boys. I do not want to make love with any of them, all I want is a good time and plenty of friends, but dear Rosalind I am puzzled to know what to do, as I would rather have the company of either of the last two boys, I tell you about. I will value your advice very highly.

FAIR ONE. Dear Fair One— Don't you suppose he takes pleasure in seeing you skate so well and in knowing that he is your escort? Strange he doesn't care to skate, too. There will be plenty of time for shows when the skating season is over, goodness knows it has been short enough this year!

Dear Rosalind— I think nothing in any papers I read can be so helpful to young girls as your advice. I know I can hardly wait from week to week for the papers to come. I am a girl of nineteen. I have attended a college for sometime yet have never cared to enter into the sport which my comrades call dancing. I have a boy friend almost the same age as myself who is very fond of dancing, although he does not go to the big dances, merely attends the little house parties. I do not care for dancing. Now Dear Rosalind, would you think it proper for me to continue keeping company with him. I love him very much and he seems very attached to me. I never care to attend the little dancing parties which he and I are invited to and he doesn't seem to care to go alone. Please give me your advice as I know it will be very helpful.

Dear Rosalind— I am nineteen years of age and have been writing to a boy friend about eighteen for over a year. He has often spoken of coming to see me in his letters but has never come yet. I am very fond of this boy and would like very much to know how I could have him come to see me and still write to him. I wrote to him about 2 weeks ago and have never received any answer.

Dear Tilly— I am afraid you cannot do more than ask the boy to call—if he is within reasonable distance. But do not rush him too hard. Let him be one of several good friends. Do not write again unless he answers your letter.

Dear Rosalind— I am a young girl of twenty. I do not mean I am in love as I know I am much too young. I have a boy friend of whom I think a great deal. He is a real nice chum, but is always talking of a nice girl that he wants to take to the next dance. I told him he could take her if he wanted to. My parents think a great deal of him, too.

Dear Mickey— Why shouldn't he take any girl friend to a dance? You have no particular claim on any of your boy friends, my dear. Be sensible!

Dear Rosalind— I am a girl in my teens and there is a boy I know thinks a great deal of me. We have never been introduced and I think each one leaves it to the other one to speak first. Would you kindly inform me as to the boy's duty to speak first or is it mine?

Dear Reader— Ask a mutual friend to introduce you. After that when you meet, you speak first. It would be all right to send your boy chum a newsy letter of neighborhood affairs. Make it interesting and general, but not at all personal.

My Dear Miss Rosalind— Since the time that your advice has been published I have been interested very much and have been waiting to see if a case like mine would be published, but as yet have never seen any. I am a girl of eighteen, and have been going with different boys for this last year. My friends are many and I am popular with them all, both girls and boys; last fall met a boy—one I had known only to see him. It just seemed that he was the one boy for me and I the only girl for him. We went motoring very frequently and we were counted among the first in any gatherings. My father and mother like him. What I want to ask you is: This winter I have been skating as I am very fond of it, but, my friend doesn't skate, at least never at the rink, but he can skate, and skate good too. Every time I go to the rink he insists on escorting me there and paying my way. I hate to have him do this, even if he always does seem to have plenty of money. He watches me skating and seems to be very proud of me. But dear Miss Rosalind it is right for me to spend my time in my own pleasure. He rather enjoys a show. There is one in our town but he knows I am very fond of skating.

Dear Wanderer— If a boy asks you to write, tell him you will answer his letter. It is not necessary to ask a boy to come in just because he walks home with you. Thank him and say good-night. Tell him you do not approve.

Dear Narcisus— If a boy asks if he may walk home with you, just say, “Yes, thank you.” If you have made other arrangements, or any excuse that is reasonable and true. When mother says so.

Dear Phebe— I think you have answered your question yourself. If you have been going out with this boy for over a year, I suppose it is alright. Personally, at your age, I think you should have a greater number of friends instead of just one.

Dear Tootsy— Of course if you really do not care to dance, there is no use advising you to learn. But Tootsy, I honestly cannot understand a real live girl not wanting to dance. Think it over and if you really want to keep on going out with this boy, take a few private lessons and surprise him!

Dear Rosalind— I am a young girl of seventeen and live a few miles from town. I have kept company with many boy friends, but love one dearly—but he hasn't shown any love for me, so will you kindly advise me how to make him love me?

Fannie Dear— A girl of seventeen has no business to be talking about loving a boy dearly. You do not! You want boy chums, but you will never get them if you start that way!

Dear Rosalind— I am going with a boy friend who pretends to be very good, but he seems very independent, and even so far as to tell me that it wouldn't hurt me to go home alone for once. He flirts with other girls, but lets on to me that he is only fooling, and I don't know whether to believe him or not. Do you think he is a very nice friend to have? Sometimes he is very nice and therefore I don't know just what to make of him.

Dear Faith— A boy who knows he is popular is sometimes disposed to show off a little. Why don't you do a little flirting yourself and give him something to guess about?

Dear Bright Eyes— You are too young to think about boys except as chums. If a boy asks you to skate, say Administered internally, it will still the irritation in the throat which induces coughing and will relieve affections of the bronchial tubes and respiratory organs. Try it and be convinced.

The business of making a census of the seals which is done at intervals by the government is a comparatively easy task as the herds usually gather on two islands.
