Three Years in Kingston
John Wintermute, who pleaded guilty to stealing the liquor of Thomas Hayes, about six miles from Hagersville, was on Tuesday sentenced by Judge Hopkins to three years in Kingston Penitentiary. The Judge, in passing sentence, was particularly emphatic in his remarks that stealing and housebreaking in Haldimand County would be dealt with most severely, and that this county would be a most unhealthy spot for anyone found guilty of these acts. According to the prisoner's record, in possession of the court, Wintermute has been in trouble "many times and oft" before and has served many sentences for theft, etc. But the prisoner has a mighty poor memory, and couldn't recollect any of his jail history covering a period of six years, even when the specific cases were cited to him by the judge.

Mothers' Day

REMEMBRANCE OF MOTHER
The three hundred and sixty-five days of the year are more or less set apart to commemorate and to eternalize sacred and historic events of the ages. One of the most important of these is that of "Mother's Day," which originated in the United States in 1908, when the second Sunday in May was officially set apart as "Mother's Day."

The object of "Mother's Day" is many fold; to bring more closely home to wandering sons and daughters sacred thoughts of Mother; to foster filial affection in children; and to bring home to Mothers the sacredness, responsibility and far reaching influence for good or evil of Motherhood. It also affords an opportunity for a sincere acknowledgment of the services of Mothers.
No one is more worthy of recognition than "Mother." Much has always been expected of Mothers—in service, in love, and in sacrifice—and it has always been freely given in a quiet unassuming way and with pleasure in the giving. We read of the sacrifices of our heroes on the battlefields of France and Flanders; but the hero as yet is still unborn who has faced the sacrifices with so little self concern as thousands of Mothers have done and are doing throughout the world to-day.

The sweetest word in the English language is "Mother." A writer has said: "There is no velvet as soft as a Mother's lips; no rose as lovely as her smile; no path so flowery as that imprinted by her footsteps." In these words we find the universal expression of all mankind. The Supreme Being above and kind Nature has intended "Mother" to sit upon the high pinnacle she occupies. It was to her our infant eyes were first uplifted. It was to her we looked for support and encouragement in taking our first steps in life. It was to her we looked for guidance and advice upon taking our place in life. It is to her we look in middle life, and to her we go for comfort when our hearts are heavy with care and sorrow.

The University man has more learning than she; but we would rather trust her God given powers of instinctive wisdom, than to all the world. "Mother" holds the greatest heart of all mankind, unless through sin that heart becomes as stone. God have mercy on the one, who, when tempted, does not hesitate at the thought of "Mother." "Mother" has been the saviour of more souls of men than all the ministers of God and upright men combined. "Mother" has kept the world more chaste than all the Directors of law and justice. "Mother" occupies a plane by herself without compare, she rules by love that is unrivalled and as substantial as the universe.

The thought of "Mother" is the strongest and most enduring of all. The patient on a feverish bed of pain invariably calls for "Mother." The wandering son on returning home, though father, brothers and sisters may be in sight, will first anxiously ask for "Mother." The thought of "Mother" carries us back to memories of long ago and to scenes forever past. To those who have been unfortunate in the loss of "Mother" cherish her hallowed memory and from her saintly life derive strength to live a more noble life and to play the game in the hope that they may prove worthy of a "Mother's Love," which is a perfectly unselfish love, and which asks from you no return, and therefore deserves the most generous you can give.

To those who have not as yet felt the greatest sorrow take warning ere it is too late. Look to the "Perfect example" between Mother and Son. He lived a perfect life, making his home gloriously happy, and from the agony of the cross his thoughts were of her welfare; his last request "Care for my Mother."

"Mother's Love" more than deserves some return. Be her dearest friend, her protector, as she once was yours. Deny yourself everything if need be for her comfort and happiness. Never fail at all times to show loving attention or overlook the opportunity to caress the silvery hair or to impress a kiss on the furrowed brow, as the day will surely come when it will be too late, and unless the heart is as stone, eternal regret will accompany you. A home is not a home without a "Mother."

MOTHERS' LOVE
A Mother's love is a wonderful thing; others may love you but only she thoroughly understands; she suffers for you, toils for you, prays for you and if need be dies for you; pardons any offense you may do, appreciates and understands you and the only wrong she does you is to die and leave you.

IN MEMORY of one of God's "Wonder Mothers" who departed this life April 9, 1919. (R. O. M.)

Six Nations' Chiefs Warn Their People
Brantford, May 6.—The Six Nations Indians connect of chiefs meeting at Oshweken to-day by resolution again went on record as opposed to compulsory enfranchisement of the Six Nations Indians and forbade any member or dependent to carry out any of the provisions under pain of dismemberment of the chiefs, and consideration as a traitor to Six Nations confederates.
The council also decided to send a deputation to Ottawa in company with George P. Decker, of Syracuse, N. Y., to appeal to the governor-general against encroachment of tribal independence of the confederacy.

Former Simcoe Girl Strikes Fine Oil Gusher in Montana
Simcoe, May 2.—Miss Retta Patterson, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Patterson, of Windham township and well known in Simcoe, who went to Montana about three years ago and became interested in oil boring, has just struck on her property a gusher throwing one thousand barrels a day. It is said to be a splendid sample. Miss Patterson was formerly employed in the Bell Telephone offices here.
