THE NEWS OF 35 YEARS AGO

A new Methodist Church is to be built in Cayuga.

Mrs. Meikle, daughter of James Abraham, returned to Glasgow, on Wednesday last.

The Simcoe Council has ordered 15 electric lights for the streets and 10 private parties have ordered them.

"What the town wants:—A lock-up; a magistrate who is at home when wanted; a mayor; incorporation; two policemen; a row of street lamps; 400 new houses; 40 additional stores; a high school; a watchman at the Railway Crossings; 10,000,000 bushels of grain on the market, forthwith.

Lady Amber's success at Orillia last week is another addition to her excellent record. She carried away 1st prize in the three minute trot, and 2nd prize in the 2.45 trot, premiums amounting to $127.50. Since June last Lady Amber has competed in seven races, winning 3 firsts, 3 seconds and one third prize, totaling in all to $587.50. The mare is a very handsome animal of a dark sorrel color, standing scarcely fifteen hands high, and is 7 years of age. We congratulate her proprietors, Weil Bros., on her excellent record.

COST OF COAL STRIKE

Losses of Owners and Men Both Are Heavy.

It is Estimated That Struggle Wasted Sum of $225,000,000 in Twenty Weeks — Even When Anthracite Mines Are Open Again They Will Not Operate to Full Capacity.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Suspension of work in the anthracite mines in the twenty weeks since April 1 has cost the country 32,000,000 tons of coal or 1,500,000 tons a week; the 150,000 miners $124,738,400 in wages based on the old rate, and the operators in lost profits, money expended to keep the mines reasonably safe and from damages consequent to the strike, $190,000,000.

In addition there will be additional losses to miners and to operators from inability to work the mines to capacity when work is resumed, and a consequent loss of tonnage to the public.

On the basis of the scale proposed by the operators in the New York negotiations, which has now been abandoned, as have the demands of the operators for a twenty per cent. increase, the loss in wages figured on the assumption that the mines would have operated as fully this year as last, totals $93,920,000 or $365,000 a day, or an average last year having been $1,047,220 a day, according to the figures of the anthracite information bureau, maintained by the operators.

That the mines have been seriously damaged in certain sections will be news to most readers who, noting that the union has left maintenance men at work, have assumed that no damage was resulting from the enforced idleness. These men, however, have looked out for such work as pump running and what might be called running repairs, but have done little of the timbering that is constantly being done when a mine is working.

On some properties hundreds of men are engaged in timbering or shoring up shafts and other openings when the mines are working. When they are not working the most that is done is to prevent actual cave-ins. In the Schuylkill and some other sections where the coal is found, veins pitching from 30 to 80 degrees there is at all times the danger of what miners term a "squeeze" unless cared for immediately. In the case of a cave-in, the timbering has caused many of these before actual coal cutting on a large scale can be resumed. In others, roofs have fallen.

The cost of this work, classed as uninsured damage, cannot be estimated in advance, but with the loss in business will run into immense sums on many properties.

Because of these conditions, Thos. Kennedy, president of District No. 1 of the United Mine Workers, estimates that it will be well into winter before many mines are producing coal at anything near capacity.

In addition to these losses, the operators are out the profits that the mines remained open. As stated by them, the average profit, after deducting taxes, is about 35 cents a ton. On the basis of 32,000,000 tons, to date this item approximates $11,000,000.

These figures, published for the first time, must make it clear why miners and operators are so anxious to avoid a shutdown in the near future. Both sides have learned, if they did not already know, that strikes are costly.

So far miners and their families have suffered little save in the depletion of reserves. With many bank accounts and stockings have been depleted. Liberty bonds have long since been sold. The more wealthy still have reserves, but the unfortunate and careless have begun to feel the pinch.

"We always have some who need help," one union official said, "but to date we have had comparatively few calls. As is to be expected in so large a number we have 150,000 people out—some needed help almost from the start. Generally, however, our people are in good shape. As for those who are not, we are amply able to care for."

Seeks Trade With Soviet.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—Learn from Russian sources here that Edouard Herriot, who has held a portfolio in several French Cabinets, is expected to go direct to Moscow, taking the first step towards a trade agreement between France and Soviet Russia. M. Herriot's visit to Moscow and the trade agreement which, it is expected will result, will not touch on political questions nor approach subjects involved in the Treaty of Rapallo, made between Germany and Russia so unexpectedly during the Genoa Conference.

First Papal Auto.

ROME, Aug. 22.—Pope Pius is to have an automobile. The people of Milan, where the Pontiff is archbishop before his election, however, presented him with a machine of the latest Italian model. The Pontiff, it is said, will use the car within the Vatican gardens, while he now circulates twice daily in his promenade, a distance of three and a quarter miles.

Bottomley's Old Riding.

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 22.—In the first round of the battle in the South Hackney by-election due to the expulsion of Horatio Bottomley from the House of Commons the result was given as follows: Capt. Erskine Hulse, Coalitionist, 9,044; Holford Knight, Laborist, 9,044. A recount being demanded, the final figures were announced to-day as follows: Hulse, 9,118; Knight, 9,044.

Will Advise New York.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Raymond Unwin, one of England's leading architects, will help New York City plan its future building development. He expects to make his first study of the metropolis about October 1. Unwin believes cities should be limited in population and favors the radiation system of settlement by which a big city is made up of a number of smaller cities connected by adequate transportation facilities.

TARIFF WALL IS HIGH

Uncle Sam in Favor of Drastic Protection.

Senate Has Passed Bill Expressing Its Views, But Their Proposals Will Become a Storm Centre in the House, Where 2,000 Odd Differences Must Be Adjusted.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The House will get the tariff bill back from the Senate this week, just a year and a month after it first acted upon it. Republican leaders plan to send it to Congress under a special rule this week, to compose the 2,000 odd differences between the Senate and the House.

The Senate passed the bill late Saturday by a vote of 47 to 25. Its passage was preceded by almost four months' debate.

There still was gossip at the Capitol that the bill might get into a deadlock in Congress and there die, but majority leaders declared the measure out and that it could be reported and probably would be ready for the President next month.

The judgment of leaders, generally, however, is that it will be rewritten in conference. If so it will be the third re-writing since it passed the House on July 21, 1921.

This measure, the first Republican protective tariff to be written in the thirteen years, became an even greater storm centre in the Senate than did the Payne-Aldrich Bill of 1909.

Chairman McCumber, of the Finance Committee, who piloted the measure through the Senate, said in a formal statement reviewing its provisions, it was estimated that it would yield more than $400,000,000 in revenue during the first year it was in operation.

Outstanding features in the Senate Bill are: "Flexible tariff provisions giving the President broad authority to increase or decrease tariff duties within a radius of fifty per cent. until July 1, 1923. The agricultural and provision schedule carrying rates generally higher than those ever before proposed on foodstuffs, meats, vegetables, fruits, grains, milk cream, eggs, butter, nuts and others. The sugar schedule, carrying a duty of 2.3 cents a pound on sugar. The wool schedule, proposing a duty of thirty-three cents a pound on the scoured content of raw wool. The chemical schedule, carrying increased duties on chemicals and vegetable oils and rates on coal tar, dyes and synthetic chemicals and explosives which are declared by opponents to constitute a complete embargo. The cutlery schedule, proposing duties on pocket knives, scissors, table, and other knives and razors, equivalent in some cases to several hundred per cent. ad valorem.

The last schedule, proposing duties of 90 per cent. ad valorem. With the exception of the agricultural schedule and the raw wool schedule, the Senate Committee, in its process of re-writing, while the bill was in the Senate, changed rates in most of the schedules. A number of reductions were made in the rates in wool, metal schedule and the cotton schedule. Many articles at present on the free list were transferred to the dutiable articles manifest, free of the rate proposed, were hides, green, 2 cents a pound; dried, four cents; boots and shoes, 12 cents a pair and five per cent. ad valorem; shoe leather, 5 per cent. ad valorem; and harness leather, 4 cents a pound and 5 per cent. ad valorem; common house brick, 25 per cent. ad valorem; Portland cement, 5 cents per hundred pounds, but with a retaliatory provision; harness, costing less than $40 each, rate that was proposed, 35 per cent.; logs of fir, spruce or western hemlock, $1 per 1,000 feet, including telephone poles, railroad ties, pickets, palings and hoops, 10 per cent.; chemical wood pulp, 5 per cent.; black or silver furs, $200 each.

FOUND IN HUN PRISON.

American Citizen Subjected to Severe Penalties.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—John Gurchison, former Yale student, who has been buried in the world for 11 years in a German prison at Heidelberg, has arrived in Paris an absolute human wreck.

The American Aid Society in Paris has placed him in a private nursing home in the suburbs, but he is in such a nervous condition that he attempted suicide twice in several days. American physicians pronounce him sane, but his terrible memories prevent him from sleeping. He acts like a man with delirium tremens, and his memory is almost gone.

Gurchison was raised in a farming home in New York, whose name is not known, but he worked his way through a year at Yale, and won a scholarship to Heidelberg. Soon after arriving at Heidelberg, he killed a German student in a duel, and was sentenced to five years in prison. Six years were added to his sentence for attempting to escape. Apparently no friends endeavored to secure his release.

Mr. Gurchison did not know anything about the world until released, and can scarcely grasp the fact. He has been in solitary confinement for 11 years, and his body full of scars inflicted by the wardens. His age is given as 29 years. The United States Embassy is attempting through the German Embassy to clear up the case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.

A tale of the sea, a becalmed ship, a starving crew and a mother with a newborn babe, to preserve whose life everyone else sacrificed rations, thrilled the waterfront here yesterday upon the arrival of the motorship Annie Johnson, with news of the San Francisco schooner William H. Smith.

The schooner was becalmed in the Pacific for 43 days, and was discovered on August 14 when Capt. Murray of the Johnson responded to her signals of distress and provided her with supplies.

A pitiable condition was found aboard the schooner. The crew of seven men had been 11 days almost without food, except the copra with which the schooner was loaded. They were unable to hoist the emergency rations over the ship's side. In the cabin Mrs. Neils H. Jensen, wife of the master, was attempting to nurse her baby.

For 116 days no word had been heard from the unfortunate vessel and she had been given up for lost.
