A Fish Story.
A famous English musician, who has recently died, once found himself at a musical "at-home" in the course of the evening's tortures, a young lady attempted a very difficult expression and many blunders. Next to the great composer sat an elderly lady, overflowing with gushing ignorance and vivid superlatives.

"Oh, sir!" she murmured, "do you not adore her singing? It is not full of soul!"

"Well, Madam," he whispered, with a twinkle in his eye, "for my part, I think there is more of the founder than the sole about it."

The Things I Have Not Had.
I pray I may be glad
For the things I have not had:
Glad that somewhere they wait,
And that near, or far, or late,
I shall find them, lingering so,
In the dawn or even glow,
With never a trace of tears
Left by the passing years.

They know not time nor space,
For they have not taken place.
Love which I never knew,
Beautiful, pure and true,
Awaits, and the distant gleams
From the heart's fires of my dreams
Which will one day come to be
Such a bright reality.
Glad for the past am I,
And for to-day's blue sky,
But I am more than glad
For the things I have not had.
—Elizabeth Scollard.

Low Tide.
The birds are gathering over the dunes,
Swerving and wheeling in restless flight,
A thousand wings go darkly by
Over the dunes and out of sight.

Why did you bring me down to the sea?
With the gathering birds and the fish-bark flying—
The beach is bare and the wind is hard,
Nothing is left but the old year dying.

I wish I were one of the gathering birds,
Two sharp black wings would be good for me—
When nothing is left but the old year dying.

Why did you bring me down to the sea?
—Sara Teasdale.

A WOMAN'S RIGHT TO GOOD HEALTH

It can be hers if she keeps her blood in good condition.

To every woman belongs the right to enjoy a healthy active life. Yet nine out of ten suffer, often in silence, from splitting headaches, torturing backaches or some other of the many evils that follow anaemia or bloodlessness.

That is why one sees so many women with pale, thin cheeks, dull eyes and drooping figure—all signs that the blood is out of order. These women should win the right to be well by refreshing their bodies with the new, rich blood of health that so promptly transforms them into healthy, attractive women.

There is no other medicine can supply this rich, red blood so speedily and so surely as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Through this medicine thousands of tired, suffering women have found new health. For example, Mrs. F. Lane, Paris, Ont., says:—"A few years ago I was in a badly run down condition. My appetite was poor, I fell off in weight and could with difficulty do my housework. Nothing I took seemed to do me any good until a neighbor advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had only taken a few boxes of the pills when I began to feel stronger and I continued using them until I had taken ten boxes, when I felt as well as ever I did, and had regained my lost weight. My husband and children have also used the pills with good results, and I would advise anyone who is run down to give them a fair trial."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Britain's Oldest Road.
One of the world's most famous thoroughfares is Watling Street, which runs from Richborough, near Dover, to Wroxeter, in Shropshire, an important place in Roman days.

Part of this road is now the scene of a great modern engineering feat for it is being widened and remade.

Watling Street, which passes through Canterbury, London, St. Albans, Dunstable, Towcester, and Wellington, was made by the Romans. The original name was Via Vitelliana, but when the Saxons came to Britain they renamed it after one of their heroes, Waelia. This person was a god who was said to live in the mass of clouds known as the Milky Way, which was also called Watling Street by the Saxons.

How well the old Roman road was placed can be judged by the fact that when the London and North Western Railway was being built, modern engineers could find no better route, and laid their line alongside it.

Resources of Culture.
A distinguished lecturer once told a story of an engagement he had made to deliver a discourse in one of the towns of the West on the subject of the "Beacon Lights of Civilization."

"I reached the place," he said, "a little behind time and went directly to the hall. A large audience had assembled. I was introduced in due course by the president of the literary society under whose auspices I was to appear, and laying my manuscript on the desk before me I opened it and waited a moment for the applause to subside. Imagine my horror when I found that I had accidentally brought along the wrong lecture—one on the "Wonders of Modern Electrical Science."

"What did you do?" asked one of the group to whom he was narrating the incident.

"I went right ahead," he replied. "The audience didn't know the difference."

Everychild.
Every child looks at us inquiringly from the streets,
From the many windows,
From orphan and foundling asylums,
From the squalid homes
And from the homeless places,
From the windows of the schools
He looks at us inquiringly,
He, the future of the race.
And far away
Into the distant future,
And sometimes in his eyes
There is hope and cheer,
And sometimes suffering and sorrow,
And sometimes reproach,
And sometimes despair.
We had best stop and look at Everychild.
He is not for the mother alone.
—Frederick Peterson.

School Music Credits.
The granting of school credit for music study pursued outside of the school with a private teacher, but under the direction or supervision of the school authorities has been introduced by many cities of the American continent during the past few years. And if a town is not one of those giving this credit, everything possible should be done to make it so.

Without this music credit, many parents feel that their children who are pursuing a high school course have too much work on their hands and that one may be neglected for the other. The result of this is that they decide upon music as an added impossibility for a high school student and it is therefore dropped. We have all heard the remark at one time or another: "My daughter will simply have to give up her music lessons. It is too much for her with her high school studies."

With credit for music toward graduation, music will be placed on a basis with other school studies. The student who has arrived at the stage where his interest is greatest and his enjoyment keenest, will be enabled to keep right on with his music without fear of neglecting his other school work or of not being able to graduate at the specified time because he gave too much time to his music.

Wishes for Wives.
A wise old minister, before parting with a young couple he had joined in matrimony, used to slip a card into the bride's hand, on which was printed this advice:

"When you marry him, love him. After you marry him, study him. If he is honest, honor him. If he is generous, appreciate him. When he is slothful, ignore him. If he is spiteful, spare him. If he is noble, praise him. If he is confidential, encourage him. If he is secretive, trust him. If he is jealous, accompany him. If he does you a favor, thank him. When he deserves it, kiss him. Let him think how well you understand him; but never let him know that you manage him."

GUARD THE BABY AGAINST COLDS

To guard the baby against colds nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are a mild laxative that will keep the little one's stomach and bowels working regularly. It is a recognized fact that where the stomach and bowels are in good order that colds will not exist; that the health of the little one will be good and that he will thrive and be happy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Grow Timber.
There is no reason why Canadian farmers should not put all their uncultivated land into timber and why they should not conserve their bush areas and turn them to the best advantage by removing dead and fallen trees, and otherwise putting to practical use what knowledge of forestry they have acquired. The government is beginning to wake up in the direction, but much remains to be done before a real start can be made. One difficulty seems to be to arouse the farmers to the potential value of their bush acreage and to a live interest in the importance of forestry generally.

Why Bake At Home
when you can buy bread like it, ready baked?

COUNT the raisins—at least eight big, plump, tender fruit-meats to the slice.

Taste it—see how the raisin flavor permeates the bread.

No need to bake at home when we've arranged with bakers in almost every town and city to bake this full-fruited raisin bread.

Just phone and they'll deliver it—all ready to surprise the family tonight.

It comes from master bakers' modern ovens in your city. And it's made with Sun-Maid Raisins.

That's another reason for its superiority. A real selection of nutritious cases and fruit—both good and good for you, so you should serve it at breakfast a week.

Use Sun-Maid Raisins also in puddings, cakes and tarts. You may be offered other brands that you know less well than Sun-Maid's, but the kind you want is the kind you know is good. It's the best, therefore, on Sun-Maid brand. They cost no more than ordinary raisins.

CUTICURA HEALS ITCHY PIMPLES

Face Inflamed and Disfigured. Lost Rest at Night.

"My face broke out with hard, red pimples which feasted and scalded over. They were in blotches and itched and burned so badly that I had to scratch them, and my face was inflamed and disfigured. I lost rest at night on account of the irritation."

"I saw an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample, which relieved me. I bought more, and after using four cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was healed, in about three weeks." (Signed) Miss Juliette Orta, Box 1018, San Diego, Calif., Feb. 7, 1921.

Use Cuticura for all itchy purposes. For full particulars, send for free booklet, "How to Cure Itchy Pimples."
