THE NEWS OF 37 YEARS AGO

The following items are taken from THE JARVIS RECORD of July 9th, 1885:

Oh, Jimmie, how's yer maw?

Hot—red hot—and still getting hotter.

Dr. LeeChild had one of his patients out for a drive Thursday night.

The sidewalk on the east side of Main street is now complete from Talbot to opposite the City Hotel.

Harry Bourne has moved his household effects to St. Thomas, where he intends going to housekeeping again.

William Nichol, section boss on the Air Line at this point, will, with his family, leave Jarvis for Brandon, Man., in a few days.

A load of young ladies attended the Garden Party held at Villa Nova Thursday night. The driver was sick in bed the next morning, and we don't wonder at it.

It is stated that several young couples in this town contemplate matrimony in the near future. That's right boys, get married and send us a piece of the wedding cake.

A stone foundation has been put under the City Hotel. We are informed it is the intention of Mr. Erwin to have the entire building bricked over some time during the summer.

One night last week as George Ryerse was returning home from this village his house became frightened by the tongue of the democrat falling down and they ran away, throwing George out in no very gentle manner and hurting him pretty badly.

The Salvation Army are gaining rapidly now. They have lately been successful in making a number of converts. The singing for the past week or so has not been so bad, owing to the absence of one of the officers, but she returned again on Tuesday and then the discordant noises were heard once more.

John W. Boyle, foreman of the Mitchell Recorder, made us a pleasant call Tuesday night. The Jarvis girls have cause to remember Jack some few years ago when he worked in this office, and even yet, we believe, some of them would like to choke him. We are glad to see him looking so well and hearty.

A society has been formed in this town by several of our fair damsels for the purpose of keeping little boys out of mischief in the evenings. Their mode of procedure is to catch one hunt out a little boy and entertain him until a decent bedtime, when they quietly kiss him good-night and send him home to his ma. The plan seems to be working successfully, if one should judge by the appearance of things on Main street on Saturday night.

Bathing Au De Luxe

One of our most prominent citizens recently adopted a novel manner in which to enjoy a bath. One night recently when it was raining very heavily, the hour being about midnight, he donned a bathing suit and stepping out on his lawn proceeded to enjoy a real shower bath. Finding the bathing suit an impediment he removed it and retired only in nature's garb he was soon enjoying to the fullest degree nature's refreshing downpour. At this juncture a neighboring lady opened her window and looked out. Being somewhat endowed with a Canon Doyle belief she thought the apparition she beheld was a nocturnal spook, and spook disappearing very quickly as a result of the startled observer's sudden outcry.

With the Baseballists

At the games played here on the week-by-half-holiday last Thursday a crowd of enthusiasts turned out. The opening game brought together Jarvis and Hagersville in a league match, which the representatives of Indianville annexed by a score of 14 to 10. Jarvis and Selkirk Jan. 1st met in a township league game, the final team being victorious.

On Dominion Day the Jarvis team journeyed to Port Dover, and took part in the baseball tournament held there in conjunction with the celebration held at that place. In the first game they were defeated by the crack Simcoe team and after six innings struggle were victorious by a score of 6 to 5. Port Dover defeated Selkirk by 22 to 15. In final Jarvis defeated Port Dover in seven innings and won first place in the tournament, the score being 7 to 6.

The Ontario Soap Company have moved their stock of soap powder to Streetsville, where they claim they will establish their factory.

SILAGE FERMENTATION

Gives Bane or Benefit to Contents of the Silo.

Well-Packed Green Fodder Usually Comes Out Well—Various Conditions From the Same Class of Plants—Prevention of Tuberculosis In Poultry.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

When a large quantity of finely-cut or divided green fodder is packed within the silo fermentation begins at once. The temperature will gradually rise and considerable carbonic acid gas will be given off during the first five days. The temperature of the surface six inches may go up considerably above 100 deg. Fahrenheit, due to air entering and permitting fermentative processes which are not possible deeper in the mass out of reach of the free air or oxygen supply. Under good practice, where the ensiling has been well done, the temperature two feet down will not exceed 140 deg. Fahrenheit during the first five days, the temperature will then gradually drop back to 100 deg. or less.

Green Fodder For the Silo Should Be Well Packed.

Well-packed green fodder carrying a normal amount of moisture will contain within the small spaces just enough air to carry the fermentation to the desired point for proper silage making. If an excess amount of air is present through improper cutting and packing of the fodder the fermentations will be carried too far, moulds will form and spoil part of the silage. Numerous agents are present and ready to function should conditions favor their development in the ensiled mass. The plant enzymes, invertase and zymase, together with the acid forming bacteria lactic acid and vini aceti are of the greatest importance in silage making. Numerous other bacteria are present, and if conditions favor their development to a greater degree than they favor the development of the lactic and acetic acid formers the silage produced will not be of the highest grade. The plant cells of the cut or shredded green fodder that is placed in the silo are still alive and carry the chemical substances commonly known as enzymes. These enzymes are the agents that break down the starch and increase the sugar content during the first few days of the fermentative process, apparently preparing the way for the acid forming bacteria which become very active after the fifth or sixth day and control the completion of the silage making process if conditions are normal.

Many Activities In the Silo Useful and Otherwise.

The vast difference in the condition of the various fodders used in silage making at the time of ensiling gives rise to various activities both useful and otherwise within the silo. Different degrees of greenness or ripeness, different classes of plants, difference in moisture content, presence or absence of desirable bacteria in quantity, will have their influence on the final product. So we see silage of various colors, odors and flavors made from the same class of forage plants. The temperature within the silo after the silage making is completed may vary from freezing near the wall to 85 degrees near or at the center of the silo.—L. Stevenson, Sec., Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

Prevention of Tuberculosis In Poultry.

It is absolutely useless to treat poultry which is suffering from tuberculosis by any sort of medicine or patent poultry tonic. Preparations which guarantee to cure this disease are pronounced frauds by scientists. Once the bird is infected there is no cure. All effort should be directed to prevent the healthy birds from contracting the disease. If a flock is small and not of great value and if several birds have died or are known to be affected, it would probably be the part of wisdom to destroy the whole flock and start over again. The poultry house should be scrubbed out with good disinfectant and the walls whitewashed. If the floor of the house is dirt, remove about six inches and bury it out of the way. Resurface with fresh, clean soil. If the floor is well made of either concrete, tile or wood, soak thoroughly with disinfectant. If the floor is not of good material or hard to clean, lay a new one over the old. Turn over the soil in the runs. Boil drinking cups and cleanse all other utensils. After this is well done, secure the new birds, being very careful to purchase them from a flock which is free from the disease. If the flock is large or valuable and it is decided to attempt eradication without destroying all the fowls, great care and attention, even to the smallest details, are necessary. One will, of course, overlook some of the diseased birds on the first examination, but they may be observed later when the symptoms are better developed. Keep the floor as free from droppings as possible, and clean out and disinfect at least once a week. Do not allow the young birds to run with the older ones, for they are easily infected. After the first general weeding out, watch the rest and as soon as one begins to appear diseased, remove it from the flock and keep it alone, and then if it develops further symptoms destroy it at once.

For young pigs on pasture the self-feeder has given satisfactory results.

Slightly more grain may be required, which is offset by economizing of labor. The man who improves the live stock of a community or gives it a better variety of corn is deserving of praise as well as he who "plucks glory from the cannon's mouth."—W. A. Lloyd.

The Little Ol' Home Paper

Mrs. Robt. Batcher, of Brighton, Mich., in renewing his subscription to the "Record" this week expresses his feeling for his old home town paper in the following clipping:—

When you're feelin' kind of lonesome,
 An' the atmosphere is blue;
 When life's no bed of roses,
 An' the folks seem down on you;
 I know what will make you happy,
 An' will chase away the frown—
 Read the little ol' newspaper
 From the ol' home town.

You won't laugh about the trifling
 Things the paper has to say,
 For every word's a message
 From the ol' home far away;

Even Si's new chicken coop
 Will not provoke a smile—
 An' the great big city dailies
 Lie unopened all the while.

Bill's girl has gone to college,
 An' Joe's boy is home from France;
 The Ladies' Aid will give a social,
 An' the Masons give a dance;

So you read the local happenings,
 An' never miss a line;
 An' cause they're all your neighbors,
 You'll be glad the crops are fine.

Then—before you know it,
 You've read it through and through;
 An' all the world seems brighter,
 An' life seems good to you.

To chase away the frown—
 Take the little ol' newspaper
 From your ol' home town.

Hogs are selling at $13.50 per cwt.

This is For You

The Record invites free speech in the columns of your home town paper. If you have a topic of interest you wish to bring before the public for the betterment of the town, we invite you to place your views on paper and hand it in for publication. We much prefer signed letters, but if you do not wish your name mentioned, we will withhold it. All communications must be, however, signed by the writer to the publishers.

Mr. W. W. Hoebel, editor and publisher of the Enterprise, Leader, Sask., is spending his vacation in this district. Mrs. Hoebel is with him. They attended the recent meeting of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association held in the Capital City.

Jobs Depend on the Safety of the Forests

RIVER DRIVERS, shanty men, pulp loggers, and all men who work in the lumber woods, on the river or at the mill—get this: Your job depends on keeping forest fires from burning up the bush.

Every time you leave a camp fire or a smudge burning you are taking chances on a forest fire that will do you out of a job. Every time you throw away a burning match or a cigarette, or drop the "heel" of your pipe on the ground, you are taking a chance. In summer time, moss, dead wood, dry leaves or the regular wood-fibre soil of the forest are all ready to burn. Millions of feet of timber and pulp are being burnt up that way every year.

Ontario's forests are not growing fast enough to keep up. Forest fires will do you out of a job if they keep on a few years more. Watch yourself.

DON'T

DON'T take any chances with fire in Ontario's forests.
 DON'T throw away cigarette or cigar butts, pipe "heels" or burnt matches until you are dead sure they are out.
 DON'T neglect to drown out your fire with lots of water.
 DON'T build your camp fire against a rotten log or stump; nor on windy points; nor near moss patches; nor at the base of a tree.
 Build it in a former fireplace, or on a flat rock, or on a spot cleared down to the true soil below, or by the edge of the water.
 DON'T forget that the upper layer of ground in the forest consists of partially rotted wood which will burn.
