Punishment of Crime

At a recent meeting of the American Bar Association in New York, Mr. Henry W. Taft, brother of Ex-President W. H. Taft, who is now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the U. S., gave figures showing that murder is twenty times as common there as in the British Empire, a fact which lays largely to the maladministration of criminal justice in U. S. In a stated period there has been 131,000 murders in the U. S. and only 2,200 executions, which is at the rate of about one capital punishment for every sixty-five murders.

Mr. Taft then gave figures from the criminal records of Great Britain (including Canada) to show the average of one execution for every two murders. He states that this great difference between the records of the two countries is the result of a sentimental attitude prevailing in his country and partly to such as that which excuses the accused from taking the stand or being assisted by the prosecutor for not doing so. These objectionable rules he would wipe of the books. He also regards the British newspaper practice of giving full and accurate accounts of trials to have a strong influence on the side of justice, and recommends the practice to papers in his own country. He states the American newspapers, instead of presenting a true judicial summary, had to deal with news points in their accounts of trial, causing the readers to guess wrong as to the outcome of the trial and inclining the public to the opinion that the court erred in judgment.

In referring to the part that newspapers play in moulding public opinion in murder cases, an ex-Chief Justice spoke of the dishonorable conduct of lawyers who endeavor to get their cases in the papers before they are brought before the proper tribunal. Then after a trial has been held and before the sentence has been pronounced, well meaning but meddlesome people will pester and sometimes weaken a judge. Political influence will be brought to bear upon the judge to sentence lighter than outraged justice demands.

Hamilton Methodist Conference

The Hamilton Methodist Conference ended its session held at St. Catharines on Tuesday of last week. The final draft of the stationing committee was as follows:—

Churches

Knox Presbyterian
 Owing to the absence of the minister, Rev. A. W. Hare, who was attending the general conference at Winnipeg, Rev. M. E. Siple preached at both services in Knox Church. Those in attendance heard two helpful and inspiring sermons.

Wesley Methodist
 Pastor Smitherman occupied the pulpit of Wesley Methodist Church at both morning and evening services. The morning subject was entitled "A Social Tragedy," while the evening theme was "God's Doorkeeper." Two helpful sermons were listened to by appreciative audiences.

St. Paul's Anglican
 The text on Trinity Sunday morning was Jude 3:—"Contend earnestly for the faith which was once delivered to the saints." The subject was—"The Creed of Saint Athanasius."

Athanasius was not the writer of this or any other creed. He was the champion of Christian orthodox teaching, as against the great arch-heretic Arianes and his followers, known as Arians. The doctrines under dispute, including the proper Divinity of Our Lord, were discussed at the great Council of Nicæa in Bithynia (Asia Minor) A. D. 325. Athanasius was born A. D. 297, at Alexandria, of which city he was elected Bishop in A. D. 326. He held that office for 46 years, during the whole of which time he was the subject of constant persecution on the part of his Arian opponents.

The newly revised prayer book now coming into use sanctions the use of this great confession of the true faith upon any day of the year, to be said or sung at morning prayer instead of the apostles' creed. Heresies are rife to-day. We, too, have to contend earnestly, as did Athanasius of old. The evening sermon was from Ephesians III; 14-15, and "God's Universal Fatherhood" was the subject.

Knox Church Notes

You are invited to the Young People's Meeting on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Rev. J. A. McGlashen, of Dartmouth, N. S., will preach morning and evening on Sunday.

St. Paul's Church Notes

The Bishop will visit the Parish of Nanticoke on Sunday next where he will administer the Apostolic rite of Confirmation. (See Acts 8:14-17)

Epworth Church Notes

Miss Evelyn Crouse gave an interesting paper at the Epworth League meeting Wednesday evening of last week.

The new League President is leading energetically, and the other officers are giving their assistance in a practical way, which points to good programmes for the coming year.

The young people of the church have charge of the Annual Garden Party, which is being held on the Church Lawn on Tuesday, June 20. They have arranged a splendid programme. Under youthful leadership this year all previous successes should be eclipsed. Everybody should attend this premier event.

ABOUT THE ATTIC TANK

Useful for Rural and Small Town Houses.

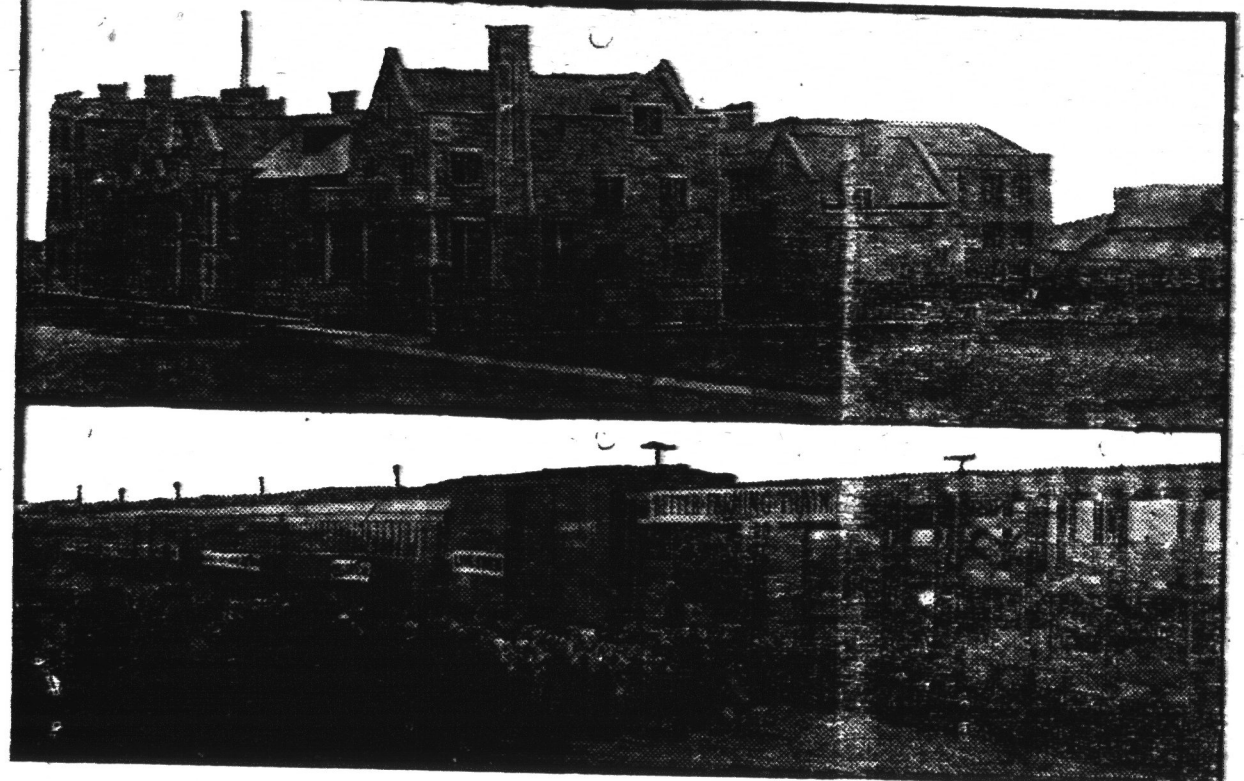

Not an Ideal System, However—Something Better Later On—The Making, Installing and Filling of the Tank Described.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)
 My last article described how the farm pump on shallow wells may be located inside the house or stable, thus doing away with the carrying of water. This arrangement, of course, will not provide for water under pressure, and, therefore, a complete plumbing system is not possible, nor is hot water made available. To secure these great advantages, it is necessary to either elevate the water to some form of tank at least a few feet higher than the highest fixture in the house, or pump the water into a strong metal high pressure tank against the enclosed air which when compressed into about one-half to one-third the volume of the tank will create sufficient power to force the water out when the faucets are opened. The first arrangement or system is usually called the Attic Tank water system, the second, the Compressed Water System.

Why Called "Attic Tank System."

This system is popularly known as the Attic Tank System because the water supply tank which supplies water under pressure is usually located in the attic of the house. To get enough pressure to force the water through the hot water boiler and the coils in the furnace or kitchen range and supply any fixture as sink or bath tub with water at a

SCIENTIFIC AGRICULTURE IN SASKATCHEWAN

Upper Picture.—Students' Residence, University of Saskatchewan. Live Stock Pavilion in the background.
 Lower Picture.—"Better Farming Train," showing how instruction is carried to the farmers.

Long after the try peered in at the upper windows of such splendid universities as Oxford, Cambridge or Harvard, such an institution as the University of Saskatchewan had not even been imagined. When Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who laid the corner stone of this new university July 29th, 1910, was a student poring over his books few but Indians had stood on the height of land which is the site of the buildings shown in the accompanying photographs, and watched the waters of the South Saskatchewan River gliding swiftly and silently northward.

Although the prairie soil was as rich and the river as broad and full then as now, the City of Saskatoon was unconnected. Even as late as twenty years ago, where now stands a city of 30,000 people on three lines of railway, there were not one hundred men, women and children and these were housed in a few tents and shacks. The wildest enthusiast would hardly have dared to prophesy that one day a university would grow there—yet there it stands.

The buildings of the University of Saskatchewan crown the height of land north east of Saskatoon and the site could hardly have been more fortunately chosen. It includes half a mile of well-wooded river front and altogether embraces 1,333 acres of rich land, 285 acres of which are set aside for a campus, 100 acres for purposes of agricultural experimentation and 948 for the Agricultural College farm. The plan provides for the eventual accommodation of 5,000 students.

Private Gold.

An enormous amount of hidden treasure has just been discovered near Cuxhaven, in Germany. It is valued at 20,000,000 marks (nominally $5,000,000) and is the biggest find of its kind in history. It was buried by the famous pirate, Stoorbecker, and people have been searching for it since 1390. It was found in a chest which, at first, was thought to contain pieces of brass. Tests proved these objects to be of the finest gold.
