CULTURE OF GLADIOLI

Good Advice About Producing This Glorious Bloom.

A Deep, Rich Loamy Soil is Preferred—Get Good Varieties to Start With—About Asparagus—When to Cut Wheat—Poultry Increase Income.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Location.—An open, sunny position suits them best.

Soil.—They prefer a deep, well drained, fairly rich, loamy soil, but will do well in almost any good garden soil. Do not dig in fresh straw manure at planting time. If any manure is used, it should be well rotted, and should be dug in so as not to come in direct contact with the corns or bulbs. Manure is best dug in the fall previous to planting. The ground should be dug over again just before planting the corns.

Planting.—The corns (bulbs) may be planted any time in May or early June. Flowering corns should not be less than one and a half inches in diameter. Plant the corns from three to four inches deep and about six inches apart. They may be set either in rows about two feet or three feet apart, or in groups convenient for staking and cultivating. The small corns (small bulbs) should be planted about two inches deep with the old corns, or separately.

Cutting Blooms.—Cut those with fairly long stems when two or three of the bottom flowers have opened, and put in water as soon as cut. Cut off the tops a few inches above the ground, dig the corns, and put them in a shed or room away from the frost for about two weeks to dry, then put them in a cool fairly dry room or cellar, where they will not freeze, temperature about 40 deg. F. In very damp cellars they may be hung up in baskets, or tied in bunches and hung up to the joists.

Before planting the large corns for the next season a few inches above the ground, dig the corns, and put them in a shed or room away from the frost for about two weeks to dry, then put them in a cool fairly dry room or cellar, where they will not freeze, temperature about 40 deg. F. In very damp cellars they may be hung up in baskets, or tied in bunches and hung up to the joists.

The small corns (or cornels) should also be removed. The small plants from the corns should be dug and stored during winter much in the same way as for the large flowering corns. Save cornels (small bulbs) from the best varieties. It will take three or four years to grow flowering corns from the small corns to flower well.

The following are a few of the many varieties grown that will make a good collection for an amateur's garden:—Afterglow, America, Augusta, Blue Jay, Cardinal, Contrast, Dawn, Rochester White, Kunderd Glory, Princess, Pesseo, Panama, La Luna, Mrs. Frank Pendleton, Niagara, Sulphur King, Schreben, Scribe, Wm. Falconer.

Collections of hybrid Gladioli will often give good results and are cheaper than named varieties if a large number is had. The list does not include some of the quite new varieties. Fairly good collections can be bought for from one to two dollars per dozen, and even cheaper. It pays to buy good varieties for a start, as they can be increased rapidly from the small corns.

Note.—When cutting flower spikes for decorative purposes do not cut the stem too low down. Leave two or three leaves below where they are cut to assist the corn to grow and develop. Cutting off all the foliage prevents the corn from developing. —The late Wm. Hunt, O. A. College, Guelph.

About Asparagus.—At the beginning of July all cutting of asparagus should cease, the beds should be heavily top-dressed with manure, and the plants allowed to grow during the remainder of the season. Careful spraying of this crop with poison Bordeaux is necessary if the beetles are very active. Keep the wheel hoe going during the early morning, so that weeds will be killed during the heat of the sun. Apply water as often as necessary, so that the plants will make a constant growth. Never work among plants while they are wet, as this spreads diseases.

When to Cut Wheat.—Wheat may be cut with safety when the straw has lost nearly all its green color and the rains are not entirely hardened. If cut sooner than this, shriveled kernels will result. If left standing until fully ripe, a bleached appearance, due to the action of the elements, often results, and loss from shattering may ensue. Wheat that is fully ripe is also more difficult to handle. Where the area of wheat is large, cutting should begin as early as it can be done safely.

Poultry Increase Income.—Produce infertile eggs by removing the roosters from the flock in the summer time. Provide clean nests and keep eggs clean.

Gather the eggs twice daily during the summer, to prevent them from being heated by the sun. Keep them in a cool dry place away from the flies.

Market them at least twice each week. Insist that they be bought on a quality basis. Producers are admonished not to wash eggs.

THE LONGED-FOR APPLE

Rosy Cheeked, Thick Skinned and Well Flavored.

Fruit Eaters Will Welcome It — It May Be Growing To-day In Some Ontario Fence Row—Running an Egg Factory.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Somewhere on a farm in the apple growing districts of Ontario there are rosy red seedling apples. Seedling apples that may have characters that would make them valuable commercial sorts, if such could be introduced to the public. True, there are thousands of worthless seedlings, but some fence row or orchard area is now growing a tree or trees that produce a superior fruit.

Box Packing Apples at a Premium.

Ontario needs an apple suited to box packing, and it may be from an unnamed seedling that such want will be supplied. If those having really good seedling apples would bring them to light so that their qualities might be judged by those competent to do so, an apple worth while might be unearthed and introduced to the public. Western apples shipped in boxes have invaded the Ontario market because of their color and shipping quality. The bright red color attracts the buyer and the thick skin preserves the good appearance of the individual.

Thick Skins Most Desirable.

Thin skinned Ontario varieties will not stand the shipping and long exposure in the retail stores to the same degree as the Western thick skinned apples. Western apples may go puny and become unfit for use, but still look well, as the exterior will stand alone. Ontario needs a good box pack apple, something rosy red, of good quality, and a good thick protective coat.

Where, Oh Where, Is It To-day?

Perhaps somewhere in a fence row such an apple may now be found. Who knows. What have you? — L. Stevenson, Sec., Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

RUNNING AN EGG FACTORY.

Valuable Hints as to How to Make the Best of the Hen.

Every flock of hens is an egg factory. Like any other factory the stock can be run in the best materials in the world to work on and still fail to produce enough to pay for running the plant. Good feed in sufficient variety is necessary for egg production, but the ability to manufacture eggs from feed must be there first.

It pays to cull out the poor layers any time, to save the feed and labor they cost, but to make a profit on them it is best to cull in late summer or early fall, before the rush of spring chickens lowers the market price of old hens.

Shut up all the hens and pullets some evening. Count them and decide just how many can be readily kept during the coming year without crowding, for this is very likely to hurt egg production and increase the danger of disease. The next morning the flock's roosts will be culled.

1. Poor layers and all old hens.

2. Cripples, and hens with broken-down abdomens or frozen toes.

3. The sick, quiet, inactive hens that spend much time on the roost.

4. All "crow heads" with long, slim heads and beaks.

5. The large, coarse-headed hens with sunken eyes.

6. All very short, stubby hens with feathers extremely heavy for their breed.

7. All late-hatched immature pullets and those that are early hatched but much under-sized.

8. All hens that molt before August 1.

9. The persistent sitter.

10. All hens with solid, fat abdomens.

11. All hens having bad habits (cannibals, feather-pullers, egg-eaters).

12. All cockerels not needed for breeding purposes.

Keep

1. Strong, healthy, vigorous hens with short, neat heads and strong beaks.

2. The hens with long, deep, rectangular bodies and parallel top and bottom lines.

3. The hens with large, bright eyes, active appearance and short, well-worn toe nails.

4. The hens with dusty, worn feathers, especially worn tail feathers, but having a bright, healthy look.

5. The hens that molt late.

6. The noisy, happy, friendly hens.

7. The early risers and those late to roost.

8. The vigorous hens with the faded beak and shanks.

9. The hens with the soft, pliable abdomens.

10. The hens with the thin pelvic bones spread wide apart.

11. The early-hatched, well-sown pullets.

12. Large, strong, active, quick maturing cockerels of desired variety type and high-producing mothers.

There are five major factors in profitable poultry production—breeding, culling, feeding, housing, and care. These are the essentials; combined they will put the poultry business on a practical business basis.

Ontons once frozen should remain frozen until time to use them.

If you want stocky, healthy plants in your hotbeds or greenhouse, ventilate well. Too much water and heat make tall, spindling, weak plants.
