Horse-Sense.

By Mark G. Brewer.

The following boyhood experience was related to me by my father: A few years ago I got the job of driving a grocery wagon around in a town that was unfamiliar to me. Consequently, I did not know the streets where I was to make deliveries. "Oh, that's all right," said the boss, "You'll soon learn the route."

"But you are going with me the first time, aren't you," I asked.

"Norte, you can depend upon the horse.

And so I went off, wondering whether this mysterious horse was really a man and the wagon a jinrikisha. No. the horse was a horse, and a beautiful He started off, went on for a block or two, then drew up to the curb and stopped in front of a house.

The system is the development of the old time bilge keel, or "rolling chock," as instead of the side fins to keep the ship steady, the German device calls for two long tanks, just below the water line and about midships. These fill and empty automatically and so rapidly that all side motion, or almost all, is checked before it begins. Of course, it does not prevent the ship pitching in a head sea. The Albert Ballin is not only equipped with the Frahm anti-rolling tanks, but also has the Forester system of bulges, which also tend to steady her, but which do not add much to her shipshapeliness, making her look like a maritime sausage. Squeamish passengers were, however, enthusiastic about the results and that is what

Ask a friend to write, without letting you see what he writes, a number composed of three different digits. Ask him to reverse the digits, making a number which is either greater or smaller than the number he first wrote. Ask him to subtract the smaller number from the larger. He now has, you will explain, a number which is either larger or smaller than the first number he wrote and which you cannot possibly know. Ask him to draw his pencil through any of the digits in this number (excepting a cipher) and to tell you the digits he did NOT cross out.

Immediately you will tell him which number he crossed out. This is another trick which utilizes the peculiar powers of the digit 9. To discover the number crossed out, mentally add the numbers he gives you and subtract from the nearest multiple of 9. The remainder is the number your friend crossed out. Make certain that the number first written is composed of three different digits. The trick will not work, for example, if he writes 666 (Clip this out and paste it, with other of the series, in a scrapbook.)

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.-"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoul-ders and under my shoulder-blades and dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My motherin-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer. —Mrs. EDGAR SIMMONS, R. R. 2. Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other n. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pink Singing is a Type of Play.

To those who are acquainted with what has been done to make singing a real joy in people's lives both on this continent and in England, the name of William L. Tomlins is familiar. In the last address the writer heard him deliver, Mr. Tomlins referred to singing from the play standpoint. He said, Us 'Play is an important part of life. The man who has never played is stiff and angular, not to say crabbed.

"Nature uses the joy-relaxations of play to assemble certain parts and SUNWIND DUST & CINDERS powers in us, to blend them in unity and then deploy them to advantage.
