Firtis was a charge of attempted murder.

According to the story given the police Firtis made a fierce attack on his wife, using an axe as a weapon, and inflicting a painful, if not dangerous, wound on one of her thighs. Firtis, who has not been living with his wife for some time, it is said to have found her in another house. The attack was made after an exchange of angry words. There were half a dozen other men present, who succeeded in wresting the axe away from Firtis while the woman escaped from the house.

Firtis defeated attempts to hold him, and leaped clear through a double window. He was captured later.

Deny Constantine Burial In Greece.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—A despatch to the Times from Rome says it was intended that the funeral of former King Constantine of Greece should be a private ceremony, but that the Italian Government ordered military honors and an imposing ceremony at Naples.

The body of Constantine will be held in a room adjoining the Greek Church until permission is obtained for burial in the royal tomb at Tatoi.

A despatch to the Times from Athens says the Council of Ministers has decided to refuse to allow Constantine to be buried in Greece.

Bachelors Ask Jail Term.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 15.—Unemployed bachelors to the number of 200 asked the civic authorities Saturday to put them in jail as a means of providing them with board and lodgings. After their parade and unostentatious visit to the City Hall, the mayor received a delegation of four of the unemployed and pointed out that the city was not in a position to help them with work, and could not put them in jail.

Noted Cuban Bandit Killed.

HAVANA, Jan. 15.—Julio Ramirez, noted Cuban bandit, and companion of Arroyito, "The Robin Hood of Cuba," was shot and killed by rural guards while attending a cock fight yesterday afternoon at Guinness.

Ramirez and Arroyito have been terrorizing the countryside for months. "Robin" only recently escaped from jail in Havana for the tenth time.

Large orders for bricks are being filled by brick manufacturers for building construction planned to commence early in the spring at Toronto.

Death Came to Galt, 49 Years Old

GALE, Ont., Jan. 15.—Death came with tragic suddenness at four o'clock Sunday morning to Edwin M. Galt, prominent Galt manufacturer, in the Kitchener and Waterloo Hospital. With Galt's Granite curlers he had gone to Waterloo Saturday night for a friendly game, the first end of which was only nicely under way when Mr. Galt collapsed on the ice. He was rushed to the hospital and he lapsed into unconsciousness before his family could reach his bedside.

He was 49 years of age and was born at Beachville. With his father he came here about 35 years ago and entered the furniture and undertaking business. On selling the latter he moved to Toronto, where he was for a time assistant manager of the Adams Furniture Company, and later formed the Grove Bedding Company. About eight years ago he returned to Galt to accept the management of Norrow Fabrics, Ltd., at which he had been most successful.

While a big man, his health was never any too good. He was a member of the Public School Board and was prominent in curling circles.

Hungary Massing Troops.

VIENNA, Jan. 15.—The intervention of six Ambassadors at Budapest, representing the members of the Great and Little Ententes, over the Hungarian and Roumanian clashes, reveals the extreme gravity of the situation in Central Europe.

The foreign diplomats charged that within twenty-four hours Hungarian troops thrice crossed the Roumanian frontier, resulting in fighting. This statement contradicts Count Bethlen's published announcement that the Hungarians never violated the frontier.

Advices from Bucharest to-day announce a new important concentration of Hungarian detachments on the Transylvanian frontier.

Moonshine Plant Seized.

WELLAND, Ont., Jan. 15.—Local license and inland revenue officers here seized what they believe to be one of the largest moonshine plants in operation in Ontario, up in Pelham Township on Saturday, when they captured 30 gallons of alcohol, a huge still, and four men, who are held on serious O. T. A. and Inland Revenue Act charges. Two of these four men are Canadians, and are alleged to have operated the still. Two foreigners are charged with purchasing and selling.

Honey and some of its Uses :

Honey is the nectar of flowers gathered and modified by several insects, especially by the honey bee. Chemically, honey consists of sugar about 75 per cent., water 18 per cent, with small quantities of mineral matter and other substances such as protein; acid and volatile oils. Very little, about 1 to 2 per cent., of the sugar contained in honey is sucrose and levulose or invert sugars produced in the first stage of digestion of sacrose. The two invert sugars are present in about equal proportions, but may slightly according to the source of the honey. Sometimes the sugars separate and we find the dextrose granulated in the bottom of the containers while the levulose remains liquid on top. Honey varies in color from the different sources; thus we have a waterwhite honey flowers and fireweed, amber honey from dandelion and fruit bloom; while from buckwheat it is very dark, almost black.

Honey is usually marketed in two forms comb honey and extracted honey. Comb honey is a fancy product and appeals to many consumers because of its natural appearance. Sections filled with the white honeys are most desired. Extracted honey is produced more economically, as the honey is removed from the combs by centrifugal force and the combs are again use. Extracted honey is usually put up in half pound and one pound bottles or two and one half, five, ten, thirty and sixty pound tins. Practically all honey produced in Canada granulates soon after extracting but this does not affect its quality in the least but makes it easier to handle. The idea that granulated honey is adulterated is erroneous. Granulated back to its liquid state by gently heating to 155 degrees Fahrenheit, a higher temperature than this is likely to darken the honey and affect its flavor.

Honey should be stored in a dry place, as it readily absorbs moisture which in turn will cause fermentation.

Honey is a food which produces heat and energy. It is in concentrated form and ready for use at all times. There is no waste, as well ripened honey will keep in good condition for a reasonable length of time provided it is stored in a suitable place. Honey is an excellent food for children and adults and should find a place in the daily menu; it readily takes the place of jams or preserves or as an ordinary spread upon bread.

In cooking, honey can be used instead of sugar and has the advantage of keeping cakes, bread and biscuits fresh and moist for a long time. Honey also gives satisfactory results when used in making cookies, candies, ice cream, etc., and for sweetening fruit drinks such as lemonade it can also be used for preserving certain fruits. An excellent vine can be made from honey and it is also one of the chief constituents of cough medicines and other remedies.

A Deserved Diploma-- Certificate of Health

Miss M— lived in the Ottawa Valley, not far from the capital, with her mother and young sister. Work seemed the natural thing when she left school, and accordingly, she started out to get what she could for her services. Progress was not fast, but at least she did not stand still, and her earnings were always increasing.

With such prospects it seemed that her little sister could get the chance that she had been denied—a University education. The baby of the family went to Queen's, and this year, her alma mater gives her the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Next year she's going to do better—Master of Arts. But here's where the sadness comes in. The elder sister, broken in health by overwork, is no longer able to assist. She is a patient at the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, but it is hoped that she too will shortly graduate—with "A Certificate of Good Health."

Seventeen thousand patients have been cared for by the National Sanatorium Association in its hospitals in Muskoka, and at Weston. Half of them have been restored to health and happy homes. You can share in this great work if you will. Contributions may be sent to Hon. W. A. Charlton, 223 College Street, Toronto.
