NANTICOKE

The St. Patrick's Social which was held under the auspices of The Women's Institute in the Town Hall Saturday evening, was a decided success. In spite of bad roads a large audience was present to partake of the "Pork and Bean" supper. The "Village Poet" rendered a St. Patrick's recitation, of his own composition and Master Lloyd Meade gave humorous recitation which was enjoyed. Solos by Misses Walker and Mrs. Thompson, Helen Lindsay and Mr. Burnett were thoroughly appreciated. The Jazz Band thrilled the audience with its selections. After the program The Lindsay Orchestra furnished music for dancing. The proceeds amounted to $26.75.

Rumor Says Dam To Be Blown Up

Nanticoke dam will be blown up, a rumor that is being taken to protect it.

In some quarters the rumor is being taken seriously and precautions are being taken to protect it. The rumor is that any person who attempts to destroy the dam are promised.

Mr. Stone said more than $4.00 to have the dam built. It is used to provide power for milling and other purposes.

PASTOR TELLS OF ISIAH'S VISION

At the morning Service Knox Church, Rev. W. S. Brown spoke on the "Prophecy Call on the Vision of the King." Basing his remarks on the vision which the prophet, Isaiah had of Lord in the Temple. The preacher pointed out that there were four well marked divisions in the vision. (1) Isaiah's vision of God. (2) His vision of himself. (3) His vision of his life work. (4) His answer to the vision. "Isaiah's vision showed more of the awfulness of God than anything else, he said. 'The prophet had not yet reached the stage when he could conceive of God, as anything but a stern majestic figure, upon whose presence the unclean man was smitten seceded; for him there was no vision of a loving Father. That vision, that conception did not come to men till a greater than Isaiah's exemplified. 'The vision of the King however was responsible for the prophet seeking himself as he really was. In the face of that infinite majesty that was shown him, he saw as in a clear light his own sinfulness and unworthiness. Along with that came the cleansing of his lips and his call to be God's messenger, a call which the prophet answered in the words 'Here am I send me.' In spite of the mockery of the ugly, despite of assaults from foes without and with in cheered by his vision of the King the prophet held steadfast and went through to a great faith and a great hope in the future of his people.

"The message of the vision was plain to every one. Humanity is suffering from lack of a vision of the King. The King is revealing Himself to us, but like the disciples of old our eyes are holden and we fail to see Him; we need too a vision of our own unworthiness, a new vision and a new outlook on life. And as the prophet's vision carried with it a call to service so our vision also calls us to the forefront of the battle line. It is never a call to a place where we can take our ease. Rather it is a call to men the battle line, to lead the forlorn hope, to attempt the seemingly impossible. Isaiah responded by a personal surrender - 'Here am I, send me' And the answer which the King expects from every loyal soul is the same."

In the evening, the subject was "Prayer," when the preacher asked and answered the question "What is Prayer?" and "How Should We Pray?" "Prayer is an essential part of any religion worthy of the name," the pastor said. It formed the central point of the heathen religions as well as the Christian. The great figures of the Christian church have been men and women of prayer. True prayer must always be in the spirit of Christ, who prayed, 'Not My will but Thine be done.' All prayer must thanksgiving and confession as well requests to God.

"How are we to pray? We are to pray, not to be seen of men, but of God. Our prayers must never become mere mechanical repetition of set phrases. They must be unceasing, unselfish and from the heart."

Ben Hokea Dance
A dance by the Ben Hokea orchestra will be held in the Caledonia opera house on April 4.

Affairs given by the orchestra in the past have always been a success and a large crowd is anticipated. Dancing will be commenced at 8.30 and will continue until 3 o'clock in the morning.

The admission will be $1.50 for men while ladies will be admitted free with lunch.

Introductory!

WITH this issue of The Record the management has been changed.

William D. Hulf has decided to enter a field where he will have a larger territory and Hugh B. Gilbert, late of London, has taken his place as editor and manager.

The policy of the paper may be changed. No promises are made but an endeavor will be made to gradually improve it and make it a paper that will deserve appreciation.

The field and territory are unknown to the new management. What will appeal is still a mystery but there is an earnest desire for an understanding of the needs of the community and a hope that The Record may be instrumental in changing the needs of the village and the surrounding district into an achievement.

The Record will be independent. That does not mean that it will shut its eyes regarding the merit of any question but it does mean that it will not be influenced by any clique creed or personal feeling, friendly or otherwise towards any person or group of persons.

The paper will be independent in politics. It will be interested and deeply interested in Dominion politics, in provincial politics and even in county, township and village politics. It will NOT be interested in party politics. It believes that if a government does wrong it should be criticised and that if it does good it should be commended, no matter what the party name for that government may be. If a government is extravagant the people are entitled to know in what it is extravagant and it is the duty of a newspaper to inform the people. If a paper does not do that it is not doing its duty to the people who support it. On the other hand if a government is economical the people are entitled to expect their paper to keep them informed so that they may support that government again. Friendly feeling on the part of the editor towards any political party will not be sufficient excuse for the paper hiding the wrongs of any government nor will any government be criticised because the editor does not feel friendly towards the party which is in power.

The Record will be on the square with all parties and all the people. That is the only promise that will be made and we feel that if that promise is fulfilled the people of Jarvis and the community will be satisfied.

CREAMERY BUYS REYNOLDS FARM

NANTICOKE MAN IS NOT CHICKEN THIEF

Nanticoke, March 21.- A mock trial, in which a man faced the bar of justice on the charge of chicken stealing, provided an amusing evening for the members of the U.F.Y. P.O. of Nanticoke Friday evening.

H. Vokes, the accused, for the first time in his life was charged with a crime but he was able to prove an alibi that proved satisfactory to the court. The was dismissed.

L. Secord was the judge and his clerks were J. Oakes and E. Vickers. B. Butcher defended the accused while the witnesses for the defense were S. Pratten, H. Lindsay, C. Henning and R. Henning. The complaint was made by C. Lindsay and the witnesses for the prosecution were J. Vokes and K. Vokes. H. Patten was the crown attorney.

The organization will meet again next Thursday.

The Caledonia Creamery company has purchased the James Reynolds farm on the east side of the village and will start erecting a building for a creamery as soon as weather conditions make it possible.

A drilling outfit is already on the ground to drill for water. On the strength of a creamery here about 160 persons in the vicinity of Jarvis have purchased stock in the concern. The capitalisation of the Caledonia concern has been increased to $300,000. A part of that amount is to take care of the cost of the plant here and the remainder is for the purchase of an ice cream plant in Hamilton.

It is expected that the creamery here will be opened about August 1. The work of erecting the building and installing the equipment will be rushed as rapidly as possible.

Selkirk Dramatic Club To Give Play

"The Poor Married Man", a farcical comedy, will be presented in the Jarvis Music Hall next Wednesday evening by the Selkirk Dramatic club.

Two and a half of good clean humor are promised. The play has been presented in other towns and had proven a success. A capital plot full of entanglements presented as it will be by a company with each member well drilled in his or her part gives promise of a real entertainment in and near Jarvis.

The play will be started at 8.30 o'clock.
