Sidney H. Juggins Found Hanging Under Stump

WALPOLE FARMER KILLS HIMSELF; DESPONDENT

Picks Lonely Spot on Farm of W. Rodgers to Erd His Own; Wednesday Afternoon Spent in Fruit-lers Search Found Thursday.

Half sitting, half kneeling Sidney H. Juggins, who resided on a farm about a mile and a half north of the village, was found hanging beneath a vine-covered, uprooted pine stump forming a natural arbor over-looking the Nanticoke creek, at about 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

Mr. Juggins disappeared Wednesday morning and all that afternoon until it was too late to see and again early Thursday morning, practically all the country side, headed by Constable R. A. McCarter, joined in the search. For a time it was thought he had wandered away. Thursday morning the searchers divided at the junction of the Talbot road and the county line, part going south and the others north, and following the creek. About a quarter of a mile south on the Walter Rodgers farm, and about the same distance behind the home of Arthur P. Hodgson, George L. Miller and James Jones found the man dead.

The place where he hung himself was so low that he could not enter it without stooping. It was on the west side of a sloping aid in one of the most rapid and picturesque spots in the neighborhood. The farm house is vacant and he had evidently walked past it, through the barn yard and past the barn as well as several other places which would have been more suitable to the mission on which he was bent.

His determination to die was evidenced by the position in which the body was found. He could have easily loosened the rope by merely rising to his feet but he evidently found it too long, after he first tied it for it was looped up over a broken branch to shorten it. There were no signs of a death struggle for the grass about his feet was not even disturbed. His cap had fallen off and lay on the ground beside him.

Mr. Juggins left home early Wednesday morning and came to Jarvis for some oil for a tractor. He had been despondent for some time. Others at his home wanted to come in his place and when insisted on making the trip Mr. Juggins wanted to accompany him but he objected. He took a quantity of eggs and left them at the store of J. A. Burwash where he ordered the oil but did not wait for some change he had coming, he drove to the Methodist church sheds where he left his horses. When it was found the door leading from the sheds to the cemetery was open it caused the searchers to go west. That was the only clue to where he might be found.

Mr. and Mrs. Juggins have lived in the vicinity of Jarvis for about 15 years. They came here from Tillsonburg where they lived a couple of years. They went there from England. Mr. Juggins was 47 years old. Dr. S. H. Quince, coroner, decided an inquest was not necessary.

MASONS ENJOY FRATERNAL VISIT

Nearly 75 of Hillcrest Lodge A. F. & M. visited King Solomon Lodge No. 229 Friday night, and exonerated the work in the first degree.

Both the lodge room and the Music Hall, where a banquet was served following the degree work, were crowded by visitors and the Masonic brethren of Jarvis. Visitors were also present from Simcoe, Hagersville and Port Dover.

Hillcrest lodge was accompanied by orchestra which added much to the enjoyment of both the work in the lodge room and the program at the banquet. As soon as the visiting brethren arrived in the lodge room they took the chairs and initiated one candidate.

Worshipful brother Ivan W. Holmes was toastmaster at the banquet and first proposed the toast to "The King" which was responded to in the usual manner.

Worshipful brother George L. Miller welcomed the visitors and urged that the Masonic brotherhood be a part of the world in all walks of life.

The response to the address of welcome was made by Worshipful Brother Newell, a former resident of Jarvis and a member of both King Solomon and Hillcrest lodges.

The toast to the "Grand Lodge" was responded to by Vesp. Worshipful Brother Leach and Right Worshipful Brother Madill of Hamilton and Right Worshipful Brother William Jacques, of Jarvis.

Right Worshipful Brother Madill, in forecasting what would be considered at the next meeting of Grand Lodge told of plans made for aged Masons and the orphans of Masons. Right Worshipful Brother Jacques paid a tribute to the members of Hillcrest lodge for the manner in which they exemplified the work in the lodge room. Worshipful Brother J. P. Jones, of King Solomon lodge, and Worshipful Brother Springstead, of Hamilton, responded to the toast to the "Craft."

Brother Lewis Johnson and Brother W. A. Crockett responded to the toast to the "Visiting Brethren." Brother Rev. W. T. Brown, of Jarvis and Brother Monsfield, of Hamilton, also spoke during the evening. Brother Walker, of Hamilton, delighted the audience with an exhibition of club swinging and dancing. Songs were rendered by Brothers Williamson, E. Turner and Cakebread.

ODDFELLOWS AT CHURCH PARADE

About 700 persons, 175 of the Oddfellows, attended the church parade of Jarvis lodge, No. 191, to Knox church Sunday evening.

The church was crowded, it being necessary to carry in as many chairs as could safely be placed in the aisle and even then many persons were forced to stand.

During the service the choir sang two anthems "The Lord Our God", and "Rock of Ages". Mrs. Andrew Miller sang "My Task" with expression that won the appreciation of the congregation.

Rev. W. T. Brown, pastor of the church preached a special sermon on "Four Ways of Looking at a Neighbor."

"In the parable of the Good Samaritan," he said, "Jesus sets forth his social gospel. He portrays vividly four attitudes towards our fellow men, the attitude of the robber who created the problem, the priest of the Levites who ignored it, the inn keeper who treated it professionally and the Good Samaritan who solved it."

"The first class Christ pictures for the 'robbers'. Under the picture of these men we have typified that great class of people who seek to get all they can from their fellows; all they can see in their neighbor is a man or woman who presents an opportunity for exploitation. There are many unfortunately in this class to be found in the world today, many of them outwardly respectable. Examples of them are easily found."

The play "Safety First" given under the auspices of St. Pauls church by the choir of All Saints church, Hagersville proved a success.

The performers were greeted with a well filled house, and they each deserve credit for the able manner in which they took their parts.

The orchestra consisting of Miss Meta McMurry, William Watson, John Parsons and Bruce Hair, rendered several much appreciated selections throughout the evening.

JARVIS SCHOOL WILL HAVE INSPECTION FOR HEALTH

Cost of Important Service Will Be Less Than Half Mill on Assessment

The Jarvis school board has decided to take advantage of the opportunity to obtain the services of a school nurse under the unit plan as provided by the provincial authorities, providing enough Haldimand county schools join in the scheme to provide a unit of sufficient size.

Although all the districts which are expected to join in the scheme have not been heard from, assurance has been given that the unit will be formed.

At least 35 class rooms are required for the unit and the maximum of 40. It is expected there will be 40 in the Haldimand unit. The following are the schools expected to accept the opportunity: Jarvis, Hagersville, Caledonia, Cayuga, Dunnville, Selkirk, Garnet, Lutheran school at Rainham, and Seneca. One nurse will examine all the children in the unit.

The cost of the plan is to be $40 per room but the provincial government makes a grant of $10 per room, making the net cost $30 per room. In Jarvis the cost means less than half a mill on the assessment.

The need of such an examination was demonstrated here recently when Miss Margaret Lee, provincial nurse demonstrator, examined the pupils of the Jarvis school.

She found that 59 of 86 pupils in the school needed dental attention or medical attention. Of that number 19 needed their teeth attended to, 10 had abnormal tonsils, seven were affected with abnormal nasal breathing, 11 appeared anemic, five had abnormal glands, one was affected by scabies and two with pediculosis mits.

Miss Lee gave a talk to the pupils on care of the teeth, breathing and the skin and also called at the homes of the parents of some of the pupils.
