HEALTH EDUCATION

BY DR. J. J. MIDDLETON

Provincial Board of Health, Ontario
Dr. Middleton will be glad to answer questions on Public Health matters through this column. Address him at Spadina House, Spadina Crescent, Toronto.

When the discovery of adequate means to prevent a disease is found, one would suppose that the disease would soon disappear, but often it does not. Why? One reason is that when scientific knowledge runs counter to custom, the mandates of science are not put into practice as readily as they should be. Custom and habit are two wonderful things. They are sometimes useful and sometimes just the reverse. An instance in practical illustration is afforded by the prevalence of a disease known as beri-beri, in the far East. For some time the relation of this disease to food has been known and recognized. In certain countries of the East the staple food of the people is rice, and the polished rice, evidently because it looks nicer and cleaner, is preferred, or at least seems to be oftentimes used. Now in polishing rice the vitamin-containing kernel is largely removed, so that a population whose chief diet is rice is actually developing beri-beri, and the disease is actually prevalent in some countries due to this very use of polished rice. What is the reason for the use of polished rice? It is largely custom, because the polished variety looks nicer and probably is more palatable to the taste. There does not seem to be any other reason for its use except that it is the custom to use it.

In this country, the use of iodine in proper quantity is very effective in the treatment of goitre, yet goitre is still prevalent. One wonders why this is so, and yet it simply means that people as a rule do not take enough iodine in their food or as a medicine. Iodine is not palatable and so its use is largely confined to those who have been educated as to its beneficial qualities in the treatment of goitre. Besides, iodine must always be administered under medical supervision. Progress often experiences unexpected difficulties, as is evidenced in such cases as have already been mentioned. There are many others that one may think of, but in every case the remedy is the same, and that is education of the public. Coercion falls to bring the desired results in a country accustomed to democracy. Education seems to be the most promising measure of defence against hidden dangers. It is usually a slow process in which the educator needs constant encouragement and support lest he waver from sheer weariness or despair. Medical history affords eloquent testimony of this.

Glass Houses.

Learn if you must, but do not come to me.
For truth of what your pleasant neighbor says
Behind you of your looks or of your ways,
Or of your worth and virtue generally;
If he's a pleasure to you, let him be—
Being the same to him; and let your days
Be tranquil, having each the other's praise,
And each his own opinion peaceably.

Two brothers once did love each other well,
Yet not so well but that a pungent word
From each came stinging home to the wrong ears.
The rest would be an overflow to tell,
And you may slowly have inferred
That we may not be here a thousand years.

—Edwin Arlington Robinson.

Small Hope Indeed.

"The Government hopes to keep out Canadian wheat."
"But has little hope, I suppose, of keeping out Canadian rye."

Flattery.

"Stiddy, there, lion; take it easy," quavered the Irish Zoo attendant, as the transfer of a wild beast from one cage to another was being effected.
"What's the idea?" asked a fellow attendant. "Callin' that hyena a lion?"
"Have ye no tact? Can't ye see 'tis flatterin' him I am?"
"Making a fortune is less unusual than knowing how to use one."

Lakes That Cost Millions.

Among modern engineering feats the building of the great dam of Tiro, Sardinia, opened recently by the King of Italy, ranks as one of the most imposing.

The second largest dam in the world it is 722ft. long and over 200ft. in height, the artificial lake formed by it containing 30,000 million gallons.

The biggest of all dams is that at Assuan, in Egypt, where, after years of failure, a great wall, nearly a mile and a quarter long, was built across the Nile by a British firm at a cost of $10,000,000. The building of this wall created a mighty lake nearly 200 miles in length, containing 10,000,000 million cubic feet of water, which is employed for irrigation purposes, converting in rich soil land that was formerly useless.

In the United Kingdom the best-known dam is that forming Lake Vyrnwy, North Wales, which covers what, up to a few years ago, was a beautiful valley containing several villages and hamlets.

The need for storing water for use in certain big industrial centres of the North of England resulted in the conversion of the peaceful valley into a vast sheet of water, having an area of over a thousand acres and a capacity exceeding 12,000 million gallons.

Considering the enormous pressure imposed upon them, it is astonishing how few dams have failed. Of the worst disasters of the kind occurred near Epinal, France, where a great dam slipped from its foundations and actually overturned, causing great loss of life. The exact cause of the catastrophe was never determined.

Although big dams are being built almost every month, we still know surprisingly little about the factors that govern their safety.

Trees.

"I think that I shall never see,
A poem lovely as a tree.
A tree, whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast;
A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts her leafy arms to pray;
A tree that may in Summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Whose intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree."
—Joyce Kilmer.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

The summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic diarrhoea, and dysentery, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to banish them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Departing Glory.

The famous smithy immortalized by Longfellow in his poem, "The Village Blacksmith," is to be destroyed. The "spreading chestnut trees" disappeared some years ago.

At least, St. Mary Cray, Kent, England, whose smithy is to go to make room for the increase of traffic, used to pride itself on being the scene of "The Village Blacksmith." The smithy, before the departure of the chestnut-trees, fitted the description of the poem, and Longfellow visited the Village with Eliza Cook during his second European journey.

But a generation has arisen which probably prefers the parodies of "The Village Blacksmith" to the poem itself, just as it prefers motors to horse-drawn, and the old smithy is doomed.

"Since taking Tanlac I have a wonderful appetite and my stomach never troubles me any more. My sleep is sound and restful and I get up mornings with renewed energy and really feel like active work for the first time in two years. I am strong for Tanlac." Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million Bottles Sold.

STOMACH TROUBLE DUE TO THIN BLOOD

It Usually Disappears When the Blood is Made Rich and Red.

Thin blood is one of the most common causes of stomach trouble. It affects the digestion very quickly. The glands that furnish the digestive fluids are diminished in their activity, the stomach muscles are weakened and there is a loss of nerve force. In this state of health nothing will more quickly restore the appetite, digestion and normal nutrition than good, rich, red blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood, making it rich and red, and this enriched blood strengthens weak nerves, stimulates tired muscles and awakens to normal activity the glands that supply the digestive fluids. This is shown by an improved appetite, and soon the effect of these blood enriching pills is evident throughout the whole system. You find that what you eat does not distress you, and that you are vigorous instead of irritable and listless. If your appetite is feeble, if you have any of the distressing pains and symptoms of indigestion, you should at once take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and profit by the better condition in which they will put your blood.

These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

EASY TRICKS X-Ray Eyes

The trickster asks a spectator to shuffle a pack of cards and to select a card, holding the cards face down so that neither he nor anyone else can see which card he selects. Without looking at the card, he puts it face down in an envelope which the trickster seals. The trickster holds the envelope at arm's length and declares that, with X-ray eyes, he will look through the envelope and name the card within. He names a card and opens the envelope to disclose the card he named.

The trick is largely in the envelope. This is prepared, really two envelopes being used. One envelope is pushed into the other and the flaps are pasted together. If this is neatly done the envelope will not seem to be prepared. Before the flaps are pasted together, a card is taken from the pack and put in the outer envelope between the second envelope and the front of the first. The selected card goes into the inner envelope. The flap is sealed down and most of the trick is done. The trickster names the card he put in the envelope in the first place and opens the envelope by tearing a hole in the front, while the card is being examined he absently puts the torn envelope in his pocket. There he exchanges the torn but prepared envelope for one which is torn but not prepared. As all eyes are on the card this will pass unnoticed if done deliberately and as if thoughtlessly.

(Oh! this out and paste it, with other of the series, in a scrapbook.)

Opportunity.

Will not for precious chances passed away—
Weep not for golden ages on the wane.
Each night I burn the records of the day,
At sunrise every soul is born anew.
Laugh like a boy at splendours that have fled,
To vanished joys be blind, and deaf, and dumb,
My judgments seal the dead past with its dead,
But never bind a moment yet to come!

—Malone.

Shark flesh has always been considered a delicacy among the people of Japan and the Far East.

One With a Song.

He sings; and his song is heard,
Pure as a joyous prayer,
Because he sings of the simple things,
The fields and the open air,
The orchard bough and the mocking-bird,
And the blossoms everywhere.

He sings of a wealth we hold
In common ownership—
The wildwood nook and the laugh of the brook,
And the dewdrop's drip and drip,
The love of the lily's heart of gold,
And the kiss of the rose's lip.

The universal heart
Leans listening to his lay,
That glints and gleams with the glimmering dreams
Of children at their play—
A lay as rich with unconscious art,
As the first song-bird's of May.

Steadfastly, bravely glad,
Above all earthly stress,
He lifts his line to heights divine,
And singing, ever says—
This is a better world than bad—
God's love is limitless.

—Jas. Whitcomb Riley.

MRS. DAVIS NERVOUS WRECK

Tell Women How She Was Restored to Perfect Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Man.—"I cannot speak too highly of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was a nervous wreck and I just had to force myself to do my work. Even the sound of my own children playing made me feel as if I must scream if they did not get away from me. I could not even speak right to my husband. The doctor said he could do nothing for me. My husband's mother advised me to take the Vegetable Compound and I started it at once. I was able to do my work once more and it was a pleasure, not a burden. Now I have a fine bouncing baby and am able to nurse her and enjoy doing my work. I cannot help recommending such a medicine, and anyone seeing me before I took it, and seeing me now, can see what it does for me. I am only too pleased for you to use my testimonial."—Mrs. EMILY DAVIS, 721 McGe Street, Winnipeg, Man.

Save Fuel in Cooking

Balls in 5 minutes Balls in 8 minutes

The illustration shows an interesting test you should try in your own kitchen. It proves the superiority of good enameled ware for cooking purposes. Take an SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan, and a sauce pan of equal size made of aluminum, tin or other metal. Into each pour a quart of cold water. Set both sauce pans over the fire. The water in the SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan will be boiling merrily in about five minutes, while the water in the all-metal sauce pan will come to the boil in about eight minutes—three minutes longer. Save fuel in cooking. Use
