CALEDONIA WINS COUNTY LEAGUE PENNANT

By defeating Selkirk by a score of 6-3, in last Thursday's game on the local diamond, the Gypsies clinched the League Pennant for the fourth consecutive year and will hold the Jacques Trophy for another twelve months. The Selkirk crew came with blood in their eyes as they felt confident that they could take at least one game from the locals, but had to go home defeated and disappointed. Cox made the first score in the second inning and the Gypsies came right back in the last half of the second and taking the lead when they scored two runs and added four more in the fourth. In the seventh Hurst binged one for a homer for his team. In the first of the ninth it looked like anybody's game with three Selkirk men holding down the cushions and Culver, the noted slugger, at bat, and he did connect with a real drive which looked like a homer, but Moyer, who

THE REGAH THEATRE

"CODE OF THE SEA"

Thousands of women unconsciously love cowards, according to Jacqueline Logan, popular Paramount play-er.

"These," she adds, "are largely moral cowards—the kind of men, who could right many wrongs but are restrained because they fear what the world will think of them. Shifting blame to someone else and assuming ignorance is so much easier."

It is the second type of coward—the physical—which is portrayed in "Code of the Sea," a Victor Fleming Paramount production, in which Miss Logan is featured with Rod La Rocque.

This is the story of a young man with a yellow streak, a coward just as his father was before him.

There comes a night, when a violent storm at sea, with strong gusts of wind and driving rains arises. The yacht Neroid, with Jenny (Miss Logan) as a passenger, is trying to stagger to port against the fury of the demonic elements. At the same time the passenger ship Northern, captained by Jenny's father (George Fawcett), has lost its propeller.

By wireless, McDow (La Rocque), commander of a lightship, learns of the plight of both. The Northern commands him to stay at his post so that it can bring its human cargo to shore, and simultaneously the Neroid flashes that it is sinking.

Duty requires McDow, the coward, to stay at his post. The code of the sea is that no lightship can leave its moorings until relieved. Jenny on the Neroid faces death. On the yacht only a handful are endangered, while on the Northern there are hundreds dependent upon his decision.

And it is this decision which supplies the smashing, spectacular climax of "Code of the Sea," which will be shown on Friday and Saturday at the Regah Theatre, Hagersville.

The story was written for Paramount production by Byron Morgan and is considered one of the most powerful ever transferred to film.

THE CHEAT

Pola Negri's latest Paramount picture, "The Cheat," which will be displayed at the Regah Theatre for two days beginning next Tuesday, is a strong dramatic production with a decidedly happy finish. Jack Holt, popular Paramount star, plays opposite Miss Negri to fine advantage.

The villain in this story by Hector Turnbull is a white man who, for the purpose of dealing in Indian treasures, assumes the clothing, make-up and personality of an East Indian nobleman in order that he may trick the public, for business reasons. This is the part played by Charles de Roche, the French actor who made his American debut in support of Dorothy Dalton in "The Law of the Lawless."

ROBINSON BUSINESS COLLEGE GRADUATES PLACED

Sixty-eight graduates of the Robinson Business College of Waterford and Brantford have either been placed by the proprietors or have found positions for themselves since September last. Of this number, thirty were Waterford graduates. Those recently successful in obtaining positions are: Miss Rheva A. Swift, stenographer with the Mutual Life Insurance Co., Toronto; Miss Melissa McGregor, bookkeeper and typist, with E. D. Smith & Sons, Windsor (our 24th graduate to go to this place); and Miss Nona G. Glover, stenographer in the Federal Bldg., with a Toronto Lumber Company. Only four of last year's class yet to be placed. It pays to attend a high-class college. Fall term opens Sept. 2. O. U. Robinson, Principal (Tel. 98).

is always on his toes saved the day and gathered it in which looked like one impossible to get. Steeve scored on a sacrifice fly. Tod pulled one down in the fifth off Wardell's willow with his right ungloved grabber. The speed behind the ball knocked Reg. down, a dint can be seen on the sidewalk in right field.

Caledonia have one more scheduled game to play, next Thursday, which winds up the Haldimand Co. League for 1924.—Sachem, Caledonia.

AUGUST ROD AND GUN

In the August issue of Rod and Gun in Canada every sportsman will find something to his liking. Besides the regular departments there is an unusually interesting story, "Hunting for Pre-Historic Game Through the Bad Lands of the Red Deer River," by Lillian Sanders. The fisherman will eagerly read "With the Angler in August" by Robert Page Lincoln in his monthly "Fishing Notes." Frank Morris has written a fascinating account of an exploring trip through a famous vacation ground entitled "The Heart of Timagami." "Migration Route Hawks and Owls" by Bonny-castle Dale and "The Full-Webbed Swimmers" by J. W. Winson will hold the attention of all those interested in our feathered friends. The other regular departments and several interesting stories complete the various features of this issue.

Rod and Gun in Canada is published monthly by W. J. Taylor, Ltd., of Woodstock, Ont.

JULY MEETING OF JARVIS W.I.

MRS. MCNEIL GIVES INTERESTING PAPER ON "THE IDEAL WOMAN"

The July meeting of the W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. A. Owen.

The meeting was opened by singing the opening ode, followed by the Lord's Prayer.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. The roll call was answered by "The Opinion of the Ideal Woman." Mrs. McNeil read a paper on "The Ideal Woman. The meeting closed by singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds. Lunch was then served.

Following is the paper read by Mrs. McNeil:

"The Mother—What She Owes to Herself, Home and Community"

What type of woman makes the best mother? The Victorian mother had the same feelings and impulses as the modern mother of today, but she was too much concerned about doing conventional things to be a very entertaining companion. After her first youth she thought more about being genteel than attractive, she was even careful not to appear to be too happy, lest exuberance of spirit might savor of vulgarity. If she were a perfect lady, her health was never so good that she could not swoon at the proper time and place.

The interests of the modern mother are wider; she reads more and thinks less of personalities. She demands variety, new thrills, fresh experiences. She steps lightly in a short skirt and enjoys an unprecedented freedom, social industrial and political. Her time and influence is not confined to her own family and home. She has access to a wider scope in literature, art, music, etc., also professional life. Her talents have room for development. There is no need for the modern mother to bury her talent for safekeeping, as the more gifted the mother, the greater responsibility and the more to be reckoned for on the last great day when she stands before her Maker.

Our grandmothers had candles for lights. Would the mother of today be satisfied with candle light? The mothers advance with the universe, so we should be careful to not harshly condemn the fashions and attitudes of the younger generation. The mother of today needs to proceed very carefully as there is a tendency in the young people to go to extremes in dress, pleasure, etc. Perhaps the best way for mothers to control this tendency is to be moderate herself in all things. Henry Van Dyke says, "Be glad of life, because it gives you the chance to love, to work, and play, and to look up at the stars; to be satisfied with your possessions, but not contented with yourself until you have made the best of them; to despise nothing in the world except falsehood and meanness, and to fear nothing except cowardice; to be governed by your admiration rather than your disgusts; to covet nothing that is your neighbors except her kindness of heart and gentleness of manners; to think seldom of your enemies, but often of your friends, and every day of Christ."

Too many mothers today wear religion as a cloak, than can be put off and on as occasion demands. For instance, making a holiday of the Sabbath Day instead of the day of rest for which it was intended; not only physical rest, but a feasting of our souls on spiritual things which alone brings rest and peace. In the home where preparation is made on Saturday for Sunday meals and the house tidied so that little work is required of the mother, there is more chance for advancement in higher ideals. It is well for the young people to be encouraged to bring their friends to your home. Let the children have possession of the house on occasions, give them free rein to entertain and be frivolous, and feel that the home belongs to them; then they will love it, especially if the mother can be counted on to help with festivities and her valued advice and counsel will do untold good to not only her own household, but the community.

The mother is not responsible for the lives and character of those about her, but she is responsible for her own. Thus it behooves her to pattern her life, as she would have, not only the community, but the whole

HON. J. S. MARTIN SEEKS DANISH IMMIGRANTS

Hon. J. S. Martin, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, who is visiting Copenhagen, is reported to be negotiating with the Danish authorities to obtain the surplus Danish population for Canada. According to interviews with him published in the Copenhagen newspapers, Canada is ready to accommodate any number of Danish settlers on first-class soil, near rail-ways, at extraordinary favorable terms. He describes the Danish emigrant as a most desirable type.

In this travelling home Mr. Brock proposes to make a trip to California and will be quite independent of rail-ways and hotels. Employees of both may go on strike without interfering with his travelling arrangements.

GET $1,000 AN HOUR

Herald's New Puzzle Gives Chance to All; No Catch; Just Perception

A thousand dollars ($1,000) an hour! More money than the King of England or the President of the United States makes. Yet you can make it in much less than an hour. The Hamilton Herald's new puzzle contest gives you a chance to make almost $20 a minute, even if you take a whole hour to do it, and it's so simple that a school girl may win where a college professor fails.

There's no catch in it. Just look for the puzzle picture advertised in this paper. Don't turn it sideways or upside down. Just study it carefully. Pick out all the objects the names of which begin with a "C" and send the list in to The Hamilton Herald as directed in the instructions under the picture. If you do just that and nothing more correctly you'll win $30, so it's simply a matter of observation, quick perception and brains.

But why be content with merely $30 when you can get $500 for the same amount of skill and ability plus one year's subscriptions to The Hamilton Herald sent in with your list of names? And, if you're smart enough to get one yearly subscription, certainly you will be clever enough and have ambition enough to go out and get two yearly subscriptions thus winning a prize of $1,000. Even if you don't win the first prize, the prize you do win will be worth more according to the number of subscriptions you send in with it.

It costs nothing to enter, except time, which you can take, and brains, which you have. Start now to win $1,000.

The Old Way
Mary had a little cold;
It started in the head,
And everywhere that Mary went
That cold was sure to spread.
It followed her to school one day,
'Twas not against the rule;
It made the children cough and sneeze
To have that cold in school.
The teacher tried to drive it out,
She tried hard, but—Ah-choo-oo!
It didn't do a bit of good,
For teacher caught it too.

The New Way
Mary had a little cold,
So she was isolated;
The doctor called, prescribed and saw
Her treatment regulated.
She must stay strictly in the house,
Eat little and perspire;
Then have fresh air and cooling drinks.
Do nothing that would tire.
The teacher caught no cold from her,
The school was not infected,
The laws of health were well observed,
The public was protected.

CIVIC HOLIDAY

At the request of a number of the citizens, I hereby proclaim Monday, Aug. 4th, as the Civic Holiday for the Village of Jarvis.
GEO. L. MILLER, Reeve.

WIN HONORS

We are pleased to report that Miss Cora Henning, of Nanticoke, has been successful in passing her progressive examination in music, winning first-class honors.

Miss Leota Werner, pupil of Miss Cora Henning, was successful in her primary examination, winning honors.

TO OPEN DENTAL OFFICE

H. T. McLachlan, of Port Dover, has decided to open a dental office in Jarvis, above the Austin Drug Store. The rooms are now being remodelled and are expected to be ready for occupancy in about a week. Mr. McLachlan will be at the office every Wednesday and Friday, and those wishing to make appointments may apply to Mr. Darling at the Austin Drug Store.

ISSUE $160,000 DEBENTURES

At the meeting of the County Council on Thursday last tenders were opened for the $160,000 County of Haldimand debentures payable in twenty equal annual instalments at 5% interest. The tender of Wood, Gundy & Co., of Toronto, was the highest, vi. $98.89, and was accepted.

A HOME ON WHEELS

George Brock, of Buffalo, who is spending a week with his father, Robert Brock, on the old farm, between Simcoe and Jarvis, was in town on Tuesday. He arrived with his father in the new cabin-cruiser which he himself has built.

The strange craft attracted considerable attention. It is a cabin on wheels. The engine and chassis are those of a Willys-Knight car. On these he has constructed a roomy cabin of yellow pine with a natural finish, varnished with valspar varnish. The roof is covered with 16-oz. white duck, oiled and painted and the inner walls have been finished with paper board, painted and varnished. Electric lights, supplied by the battery, will light the interior by night, while a window behind and glass in the doors at the front admit sufficient light by day. A cot, table and folding chairs will make up the necessary furniture.

In this travelling home Mr. Brock proposes to make a trip to California and will be quite independent of rail-ways and hotels. Employees of both may go on strike without interfering with his travelling arrangements.
