HEALTH EDUCATION

BY DR. J. J. MIDDLETON

Provincial Board of Health, Ontario

Dr. Middleton will be glad to answer questions on Public Health matters through this column. Address him at Spadina House, Spadina Crescent, Toronto.

A few evenings ago I visited an Ontario town where a meeting of Public Health was being held. Just before the meeting I was attracted to a baseball game played between local teams. Quite a considerable crowd of people were present, but only this as exercise.

How much better it would be, I thought at that moment and since, if all the people could take part in sports and games instead of only a few. Nothing is better for maintaining and promoting public health than exercise in the open air, and yet a comparatively small number of people do get enough exercise. Especially in cities do sedentary occupations prevail, and even then the journey to and from business is made by street car or automobile.

Have you ever noticed a family going for an outing? How often this outing consists of a spin around or outside the city, the occupants of the car never leaving their seats until they arrive back at the door of their house. And yet many people regard this as exercise. True, an automobile ride is exhilarating and beneficial, but it is not exercise in the true sense of the word. Exercise to be really beneficial should aim to put the muscles into action and the more of these muscles are used, the more effective the exercise will be. How much better it would be for city folk and country folks to take a brisk walk of at least fifteen minutes twice a day. Brisk walking is one of the finest exercises a person can indulge in. It is said that of all the natural exercises one can take, swimming occupies a foremost place. Swimming, however, is not so easy to indulge in. Walking is accessible to everybody. The convenience of a street-car system in cities and towns is a mixed blessing. The tendency is to ride comparatively short distances which could be covered by walking with much greater benefit to health. Some day the health authorities will take a keener interest in exercise and recreation for the masses, and better health will be the result. To-day the practice of attending ball games, cricket matches and other forms of outdoor amusement is beneficial to only a few. In time to come facilities will be provided for all the people at convenient times to take suitable forms of exercise. When that day comes, the public health will be improved and a happier and healthier race of people will be the result.

GREEN TEA IN GREAT DEMAND.

Twenty-five years ago, Green Tea was more popular than Black, but due to the heavy importation of poor quality Japan and China Green Teas, the demand fell off. Ceylon and India started producing Green Tea on a large scale only in recent years. They were of such fine quality and delicious flavor that Green Tea drinkers immediately recognized their superiority and demanded them in ever increasing quantities. Salada Tea Company is practically the sole importer of Ceylon and India Green Teas in Canada.

Her Birthday.

When I was a little boy,
On a birthday day,
Fate provided cause for joy
And hid it far away;

Headed not my childish team;
Smiled, when I was young,
And her secret through the years
Faithfully she kept.

When I was a little boy,
On a winter's morn,
Fate provided cause for joy—
You had just been born.

—Gail Alexander

RED HOT JULY DAYS HARD ON THE BABY

July—the month of oppressive heat; red hot days and sweltering nights; is extremely hard on little ones. Diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and cholera infantum carry off thousands of precious little lives every summer. The mother must be constantly on her guard to prevent these troubles or if they come on suddenly to fight them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during the hot summer as in Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels and stomach, and an occasional dose given to the well child will prevent summer complaint, or if the trouble does come on suddenly will banish it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Blood Transfusion Now Rejuvenates.

Rejuvenation, the eternal dream of humanity, may soon be within reach of both man and woman, according to Dr. Jaworski, who communicated this afternoon to medical society practitioners the result of his experiments with blood transfusion.

Jaworski's method of restoring youth is to inject into the veins of man and woman a few drops of blood from another person showing certain biological affinity with the patient. "Blood marriage," Jaworski calls it. He explains there is a biological analogy between the cells of the human body and a composite liquid in which his patients bathe, and that if the liquid is renewed frequently enough cells can be regenerated almost indefinitely. Before operating he analyzes the blood of different persons until he finds one offering the required biological affinity. Transfusion is then a simple matter.

According to Jaworski, his operations have been attended with extraordinary success, old men and women having recovered unhopd for youthfulness. Persons suffering from arterio-sclerosis or other diseases symptomatic of premature senility have obtained a complete transformation of their general condition. The medical profession here appears to take Jaworski's discovery seriously.

Wealth From Waste.

There are enormous sources of wealth in the by-products of almost every industry, though few people realize this or the extent to which such potential wealth is actually utilized.

Take, for example, wool. The grease and dirt which are washed out of this are full of potash and potash salts. In the wool-scouring factories of France and Belgium these "by-products" are extracted from the water in which the wool is washed and produce profits running into tens of thousands of dollars.

Slaughter-houses, too, are perfect gold mines in the matter of by-products. Bones, blood, grease, hair, all are saved and transformed into useful articles by chemical and other processes.

Talking of gold mines, one of the most important of the chemical by-products of the slaughter-house, cyanide of potassium, is actually used in mining to take the gold out of ground quartz.

Snapdragons for Winter Flowers.

The Snapdragon has been so improved in size of flower and in color that it is now used in the cities as a cut flower, and the plants will produce very fine blooms in pots in the house. The flower heads are very much larger than when grown in the garden and the colors purer in tint. The solid colors, pink especially, are the favorites. You may buy the seeds now of any shade, or you may sow mixed varieties, and select the ones you like when they begin to bloom. Seeds for winter blooming may be sown in June or July in boxes and potted as soon as large enough and kept growing without check and make excellent winter bloomers, and if you have old plants you may take tip cuttings of these in August and root them easily in moist sand, and these will bloom during the winter. The seedlings make the more branching plants, but if the tip is pinched from the rooted slip it will branch also. The largest flower spikes are produced when a rooted cutting is grown to one single stem to produce one flower spike, though after this cut the stub will branch and bloom.

In argument the sharper the point the more easily it is blunted.

Dabble Your Feet in the Water.

Some of the rest cure and some for cure. To maintain and enable, the lake or the bay; And many, so many, just creep up and tread Where the cities are built and the pavements are laid— Just longing for something they know they can't do— But this thing you can—and it's take off your shoes And dabble your feet in the water!

Why, it brings back such pictures of far, vanished things— A brook and green trees, and a myriad wings Of birds and of insects that flash through the air— And you toss yourself back in your old office chair, And gaze through the window, and skies turn to blue, And in fancy you're taking off stockings and shoes To dabble your feet in the water!

The minnows come pecking your heel and your toe, And the meadows stretch ponder, the soft breezes blow, And the bees are so busy, the blossoms so bright— You've forgotten the city—well, may-be not quite— But sufficient to help you from feeling so blue, As you take off your stockings and kick off your shoes And dabble your feet in the water!

WOMEN'S HANDICAPS

Headaches and Backaches Often Make Life Miserable.

A woman's health handicaps her almost always. She has pains and disabilities which do not afflict men. Nature does not give her a fair chance. Her blood is more often thin and poor than a man's, and she often neglects the first beginnings of ill-health. Many women who seemed destined to a life of frequent suffering have been freed entirely from their suffering through the wonderful blood-making qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Many a woman boils all day with a pain in her back and side, a burning headache, and a sense of having no spine left.

What a pity women will not listen to their friends whom Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have saved from their misery. Whenever a woman suffers they will help her—in youth, middle-age and afterlife. Mrs. John Mitchell, of Middleville, Ont., gives her experience for the benefit of other women sufferers. She says:—"Some years ago I was so badly run down I could hardly walk around the house. I tried to do very little. My boys and husband had to do the rest. If I started up stairs I had to go very slow or I would fall, and I was just played out when I got to the top of the stairs. My head ached terribly, and my heart would beat very fast. In this deplorable condition I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I had finished six boxes I felt much better. Then I got a further supply, and by the time I had taken these I could walk anywhere without being exhausted, the headaches had disappeared and I am now perfectly well. Any woman who is run down should not hesitate to begin Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at once, as I am sure from my own experience they will build her up."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cts. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

EASY TRICKS Imitating A Duck

Whuack, whuack, whuack, whuack.

Pollyphonism, the "art" of imitating the sounds made by inanimate and inanimate objects, is an ever welcome form of parlor entertainment. It consists more in careful and intelligent observation of sounds than in either talent or skill, although each imitation requires practice.

A duck can be very easily imitated if you paid attention to last time you heard a duck. A duck does not say "quack." He says something that is much nearer "whuack." Open your mouth very wide and get the "ack" part of the sound as far back in the mouth as possible. If you will imitate a duck which starts very loud and getting softer and faster as you approach the end of the string, and imitation will be better.

It is a good idea to pretend, when you are doing the imitating, that a sofa pillow is a duck and that it is trying to get away. This gives you an opportunity, by acting the episode, to enable the spectators' eyes to help their ears appreciate the imitation.

(Use this out and paste it, with other of the series, in a scrapbook.)

Some seaweeds reach a length of 600 feet.

Be happy to think that you are useful, but don't assume that you are indispensable.

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

River Desert, Que.—"I used to have a severe pain in my side. I certainly got good results from it, too, as the last time I had a sore side was last May and I have not had it since.
