Ontario Canada's Richest Province

Ontario takes first position among the Provinces of the Dominion in point of national wealth.

Canada's aggregate tangible wealth in the year 1921 was $22,195,000,000, according to a survey of the national wealth of the Dominion just completed by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Of that total Ontario has an estimated aggregate wealth of $7,353,000,000, or 33.1 per cent. of the total, while Quebec was in second place with a total of $3,542,000,000, or 25 per cent. of the Dominion total. Saskatchewan came third with $2,846,000,000, or 12.8 per cent. of the total.

In a summary of the survey it is shown that the wealth was more widely distributed in three Prairie Provinces than in Ontario and Quebec. Saskatchewan led in per capita wealth with $3,757; Alberta was second with $3,317, and Manitoba was third with $2,705. In comparison Ontario per capita wealth was $2,507 and Quebec's was $2,347.

A Stumbling Block

Fortune from failure. How often has this been the result of undertakings of mankind. Some men seeking wealth along certain lines have failed in their enterprises and, being strong, snatched success from their apparent failure. Others have had fortune thrown into their laps, when their cherished project turned out wrong.

For instance, there was Columbus, who seeking a trade route to India (the commerce of which country never amounted to much anyhow), stumbled on America. As a result we now have jazz babies, radio and near beer. Ponce de Leon looking for the fountain of youth discovered only Florida. If you don't realize what this means read any real estate agent's prospectus, or perhaps you have bought a tidewater lot yourself or an undersea orange grove.

Now we have a man in West Texas who drilled an oil well and got salt water. But—the salt content of the well is such that he will be able to obtain three pounds of pure salt to the gallon of water. Estimates place the amount of recovery at about 3,000,000 pounds of salt a year.

Learn to Swim

With the advent of warmer weather the drowning season may be said to have begun, and public prints throughout the summer will carry entirely too many stories of lives lost in the water. Some will be those of swimmers, for even a person who is perfectly at home in the water may suffer a cramp or other accident, but the majority of drowning victims in any season are persons who do not know how to swim.

All animals swim by instinct; man must learn. But the point is that there is no one, young or old, who cannot learn to swim. The hardest thing about it is to overcome a perfectly natural fear of the water. Once that is done the rest is easy—no harder than learning to dance or ride a bicycle. Swimming is the perfect exercise. There is not a muscle in the body which is not benefited. In addition, swimming is most pleasurable, and what is most important, knowing how, may some day save a life. Everybody should learn to swim.

The Happy Editor?

The joys of running a weekly newspaper are many and not the least these are the shower of criticisms it is always the editor's lot to receive. He may please a reader nine times and he will never hear of it, but if he displeases just once he hears and quickly, too. Says the Burk's Falls Arrow:

"A few of our readers can't understand why we don't change the whole policy of our paper after they have called our attention to certain articles of which they don't approve. One good soul gets fearfully shocked if we refer to ladies' legs, but admits she read it over a second time. Another thinks we should not report dances, while another wants to know why on earth we give a whole column to a church anniversary services. So there you are. Some time when publication day falls on April let us are going to publish a paper that will embrace all the suggestions of our readers and after that we expect to go out of business."

One cent a word for first insertion; minimum 25c; 2c a word for 3 insertions, minimum, 50c; cash.

Such is the career of a newspaper editor. It's a great life if you don't weaken.

THE ETERNAL QUESTION

If you hold her hand, she may think you foolish;
If you don't, she will wonder why.
If you kiss her, she may think you a cad;
If you don't, she may think you slow.
If you offer her a cigarette, she may be offended;
If you don't, she may think you consider her puritanical.
If you tell her of the girls you have met, she may think you a rounder;
If you don't, she may think you've had no experience.
If you tell her she is the first you've loved, she may think you lie.
If you tell her she is the first you've kissed, she will know you lie.
Now what is a fellow to do?

CHEVROLET

—a factor in modern business and social activity

If the automobile were suddenly withdrawn from our modern business and social life, do you realize how speedy and complete would be the disorganization?

Wider in its influence and effect than any other factor of present-day existence—the automobile has become of vital importance, to commerce and society.

And Chevrolet can claim a prominent place in automobile progress, because it has brought quality and dependability within the realm of the popular-priced car.

Chevrolet transportation is the most economical per mile. Chevrolet reliability is an established fact among motor-car users. Chevrolet exceeds expectations in the beauty of its appearance and the completeness of its appointments.

The Chevrolet Utility Coupe (with its handsome "body by Fisher") is the choice of the commercial user—the business or professional man, or salesman, whose business the automobile has assisted so materially. The Utility Coupe is a car of which anyone may well feel proud.
