COMPLETE ORGANIZATION RE BORDER TO BORDER ROUTE

TOWNS EN ROUTE ENTHUSIASTIC OVER PLANS OF ASSN.

Southern Ontario Highway Association is now functioning and as soon as a name is decided upon the claims of beautiful drive-way along North Shore of Lake Erie will be set forth before the Motor Clubs of the American Continent.

The Southern Ontario Highway Association, organized for the sole purpose of thoroughly advertising the beautiful border-to-border drive-way along the north shore of Lake Erie, is now a working reality. It became a complete organization Wednesday afternoon last, in the Chamber of Commerce clubrooms, Grand Central Hotel, Tillsonburg, when the name of the association was selected by representatives from the principal municipalities along the route, a definite program of activities instituted and a budget of $6,400 fixed as the initial financial objective. The funds are to be raised by energetic canvassers in all the municipalities en route, each place being allotted an amount to raise in proportion to its population.

At the suggestion of Mayor Skillington of Blenheim, the manner in which municipalities will raise their quotas was left optional with the committees named for each place. Committees may endeavor to get the money by way of municipal grants or by private subscription or by both methods. In the majority of cases, it is probable that both methods will be pursued. In fact a membership drive was opened at the conclusion of the meeting Wednesday when all the representatives who had not left early advanced the minimum membership fee of one dollar and became charter members of the Southern Ontario Highway Association. The money thus subscribed will be credited to the respective municipalities represented and will be used to defray the preliminary expenses of the association. A fourth meeting has been called for Wednesday, December 3d, when all canvassing committees will be required to report on the results of their efforts and to deposit the amounts collected with the treasurer. At that meeting the tentative publicity plans will be submitted and action taken to have road maps, booklets and other advertising matter printed and distributed among the motor clubs in the United States. During the interim the officers of the association were instructed to get in touch with the officials of the Blue Waterway Association, with headquarters at Sarnia, and obtain as much information in regard to the operation of that very successful organization as possible. The Ontario Department of Highways also will be consulted in regard to road maps and the designation of Provincial Highway routes by numbers that it proposes issuing.

Names in Abeyance

No name was selected for the route at the meeting. It was decided, after a lengthy discussion, to defer the naming of the route until after the department had been heard from as it was deemed inadvisable to confer a name on the route that might conflict with that selected by the department. The representatives were in accord on the name question. The Tillsonburg representatives were opposed to a name incorporating Windsor and Niagara Falls, declaring that they saw no reason for giving those places so much free advertising. W. McPherson of Blenheim, one of the vice-presidents of the association, favored "The Windsor-Lake Erie-Niagara Falls Route." This was de-

REGAH THEATRE

"EMPTY HANDS"

With the exception of Annette Kellerman, the screen boasts no more expert swimmer than Norma Shearer, who is to appear in support of Jack Holt in "Empty Hands," Victor Fleming's first production for Paramount under his new long term contract. She is a Canadian born in Montreal, and was a consistent trophy winner and exhibition swimmer and diver in the famous A. A. A., of Montreal. She was one of three lady members of the club to give a swimming and fancy diving exhibition for the Prince of Wales upon the occasion of his visit to Canada in 1919.

In "Empty Hands," the Arthur Stringer novel which opens at the Regah Theatre, Hagersville on November 14 and 15, she will be seen to advantage in an aquatic role calling for great expertness in the water.

"HER TEMPORARY HUSBAND"

Whiskers, corn and crooks! These three widely different articles do not appear to have much in common, yet an admixture of the three, diffused by the master hand of John McDerrott, famous motion picture director, result in a farce comedy which is a sure-fire, rib-tickling, side-splitting laugh provoker.

The picture, "Her Temporary Husband," a First National screen version of Edward Paulton's stage success of the same title, is to be shown on the screen at the Regah Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 18th and 19th.

CHRIST CHURCH TO HOLD BAZAAR

The W. A. of Christ Church are holding a bazaar in the town hall, Nanticoke, on Friday, November 21st. There will be a sale of fancy work, home-made baking and candies and there will also be a fish pond and bran tub.

The sale opens at 3 p.m., and from 3 to 6 p.m. a lunch will be served; after that a good supper. Everybody welcome.

MR. AND MRS. MARSHALL ENTERTAINED BY NEIGHBORS

Wednesday evening of last week friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lea Marshall invaded their home at The Black Creek and gave them a merry surprise, it being a farewell party prior to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall leaving the district to take up their residence in Jarvis. Cards and dancing and a good old-time social visit kept the party enlivened until the small hours of the morning and after a most pleasant time the guests departed, but not before bidding their genial host and hostess "good luck" and abundant success in their work in our neighboring village.

Mr. Marshall, who for a number of years was in charge of Black Creek Creamery, is now residing in Jarvis, he being in charge of one of the most up-to-date and progressive creamery plants not only in this district, but in the whole province.—Pt. Dover Maple Leaf.

descriptive, he explained, and that was the kind of name that was desired: one that would attract the attention of an American motorist and hold it. The name suggested indicated the route clearly, whereas to merely call it the Southern Ontario Route might cause it to be confused with other routes through this section of the province. Aid. Meehan took a similar stand. The fact that the route follows the north shore of Lake Erie should be set forth in the name.

J. L. Thayer of Aylmer, did not think that Niagara Falls should be omitted, pointing out that the final objective of about ninety-five percent of the Americans who enter Canada in automobiles is that point. It is the mecca and the name should be explanatory that the route led to Niagara Falls along the north shore of Lake Erie.

W. H. Heard, representing Port Bruce, held out for the Southern Ontario Highway. This was a short an-

KNOX CHURCH OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY

On Sunday last, the anniversary of the Armistice on Nov. 11th, 1918 was fittingly observed in Knox Presbyterian church; the flag-draped pulpit and bunch of white chrysanthemums eloquently testified that the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice in the Great War was not forgotten.

Speaking on "A Vision of Peace," Mr. Brown said that all the great men who had helped the world in its upward and onward march were idealists, weavers of dreams, and seers of visions. Without this faculty men could not rise above the level of the prosaic. Isaiah was no exception to the rule. He saw a great day coming when men would turn the weapons of warfare into means of life, when the art of war should be forgotten and when universal peace would reign supreme.

Unfortunately Isaiah's dream had not come true, but the beauty of it had captivated men, and to bring it to pass they had been willing to struggle, suffer and even to die. Six years ago when the Armistice was signed, men had thought that the dream might be realized, but after events showed that mankind had not yet risen to the height needed for its fulfillment.

Today the same fear and suspicion that led Europe into war is still rampant. If the dream is to become a reality, men must be taught not to fear and suspect their fellows. The atmosphere of fear and suspicion must give way to that of love and goodwill. How can that be brought about?

Men must learn first the utility of force to change men's minds and hearts. You cannot change a man's heart by means of the bayonet, the machine gun, the rifle, or the high explosive. Those things may crush but they cannot change.

Christian men and women must learn to think internationally and to lay aside racial and national prejudices. That is what Jesus taught; that was His viewpoint. Only when we transcend the bounds of national prejudice and begin to get a world-wide vision do we become His real followers. Once we get that vision we cannot suspect those round about us. Finally we must carry on a constructive campaign of goodwill. If the money spent on armaments in the past had been spent in fostering goodwill amongst nations there would have been no war.

The great task of the church, as the guardian of the religion of Jesus, is to create that spirit of goodwill. The missionary work of the church is the Christian campaign for international goodwill, for by its missionary organizations the church can do more than any other institution to break down racial prejudice. The greatest task of the church is to show the world that Christians can think internationally and can rise above their narrow national prejudices into a noble world wide conception of brotherhood.

By means of slides Mr. Brown told the story, step by step how the Authorized Version of the Bible came into being. Pictures of the different versions gave an insight into its story, and portraits of the great names associated with the English version, Bede, Wycliffe, Coverdale, Tyndale and others, made its history more vivid. There was a good attendance and the lecture was thoroughly enjoyed.
