The wives of the township directors of the U.F.O. were appointed township directors of the U.F.W.O.

Carroll Lindsay, of Nanticoke, was appointed County Director of the U. F. P. O., an organization recently formed for the younger rural residents of the county.

NANTICOKE W. I. MEETS

The Nanticoke W. I. held their November meeting on Thursday last at the home of Mrs. J. F. Jackson. The meeting was opened in the usual manner. Mrs. J. F. Jackson and Mrs. W. H. Evans were appointed delegates to attend the annual convention held in Toronto.

A paper was given by Miss Mabel Thompson on "Women's Place in the World's History, Both Ancient and Modern." Miss Jean Oakes then favored the Institute by an instrumental selection. A very interesting paper was given by Mrs. Geo. Vokes on "How Can the Institute Supervise the Entertainment of Our Young People." The roll call was answered by members giving current events. Lunch was then served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Miss Julia Evans.

HAROLD S. FALLIS DEAD

Deceased was the son of Rev. Dr. S. W. Fallis, book steward of the Methodist Book and Publishing House of Toronto. He died on Sunday, November 9th, after an illness of two weeks, at his home, 115 Constance Street, Toronto. Though only in his 25th year, Harold Fallis had been working intimately with boys as a teacher in the Rotakin class of Howard Park Methodist church for three years, previous to which he had held office in the young men's organizations of the same church. He was a musician of some ability, and on special occasions presided at the organ in the Howard Park Methodist church.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Westery and family wish to thank the many friends who so kindly gave assistance and sympathy in their sad bereavement.

RADIOLA IIIA FOUR TUBE

REGAH THEATRE

"THE STORY WITHOUT A NAME"

After all, what is it the film fans really like? Comedy? Drama? Society stories? What is it?

According to Irvin Willat, Paramount director, the average picture patron not only falls for, but, whether he admits it or not, prefers the melodramatic thriller.

Such is "The Story Without a Name," Willat's latest Paramount production, which will be shown at the Regah Theatre, Hagersville, next Friday and Saturday, November 21st and 22nd. Arthur Stringer wrote the story, which ran serially as a Prize-Title story in Photoplay Magazine.

"Enough is enough," says Willat, "and I am of the mind that the fans have had enough society dramas and other such 'high-hat' pictures, for a time at least. And I believe that my new picture is going to more than please them just because it is a little off the beaten path. We tried, and when I say 'we,' I mean every last man in the production company from featured player to electrician, to offer in 'The Story Without a Name' a picture that for sheer novelty, if for no other reason, would prove a big attraction with the fans. Just how far we have succeeded remains for the fans themselves to decide. For one thing it is about radio, in which everybody is interested."

And, if we may be permitted to say so, Willat has succeeded admirably. A trip to the Regah will more than convince you of that.

"FLAMING YOUTH"

The whole of Hollywood's famous beauty market was cornered by Flaming Youth, a picturization of Warner Fabian's sensational story of contemporary life, being shown at the Regah Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 25th and 26th.

In the ballroom and bathing pool scenes of this elaborate photoplay are at least a dozen handsome girls who came into filmdom through the winning of beauty prizes. Two of the most noted are Doris Stone, who won the London Daily Mirror prize, and Dorothy Dial, of Dallas, Texas, whose form was adjudged the most shapely in the Southwestern States.

The judges of the contest, which chose Miss Dial as Howard Chandler Christy, the famous illustrator, and Flo Ziegfeld, of follies fame. More than 1,000 girls from Texas, California, Arizona and New Mexico competed in the contest.

PASSING OF AN OLD PIONEER

Thomas Westerby, a well known blacksmith, died at his residence at Sandusk on Thursday, November 13, after a lingering illness.

The late Mr. Westerby was born at Castleford, England, August 2, 1854. At the age of 15 he began his apprenticeship of six years as blacksmith. After serving his term he enlisted in the 13th Somerset Regiment for foreign service, serving six years in India at the time of Lord Roberts' march from Kabul to Kandahar. Returning to England he married Hannah Mary Wood, of Knottingly. He then came to Canada in 1884, where he served three years in the employ of Steel & Sower of Jarvis. In 1887 he bought the business and residence of the late Thos. Nicol at Sandusk, where he resided until his death.

There are left to mourn his loss: The widow and three children, Mrs. Wm. Swent, at Rainham Centre; Mrs. J. Gillip, at Dunnville, and John, at Sandusk, who will carry on the business.

The funeral was held on Saturday, November 16th, and interment took place at St. John's church cemetery at Cheapside, Rev. Mr. Maunsell, of Nanticoke, officiating.

The floral tributes were contributed by the Sandusk Women's Institute, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wood and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fleming, of Rochester, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hallam, Mr. and Mrs. C. Swent, Mr. and Mrs. A. Swent, Mrs. T. Westerby, and a pillow by the family.

THE COMING ECLIPSE

Our readers will be more or less interested in the total eclipse of the sun which is to be visible in this district. The eclipse is timed to take place between 9:05 and 9:06 on the morning of January 24th, 1925, and it will last for about a minute and a half. At the instant of totality Jarvis and district will be immediately plunged into total darkness, just as if night had suddenly come. As soon as the moon has passed over and the time of totality has been completed, daylight will come back just as instantaneously. If the sky is clear on that day, the opportunity of witnessing a sight which has not been visible in this district for five hundred years, and will not be visible again for five hundred more years.

INTERNATIONAL'S VARIED PROGRAM

The Twenty-Fifth Anniversary celebration of the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago, November 29th to December 6th, will contain much of interest to every member of the family, both city and country dwellers. A varied program has been prepared by the management, featuring the visit of President Coolidge, which will furnish a crowded week of entertainment and education for the thousands of visitors who will flock to the "Agricultural Capital of the World" on this memorable occasion.

The Third National Boys' and Girls' Club Congress and the Sixth Annual Reunion of the I-H Club Family will be held in the Club headquarters Building on the Exposition grounds and over a thousand junior farmers and home-makers, champions among the 60,000 enrolled in the United States, will be present and participate in the activities of the gathering. They will exhibit their prize winning calves, lambs and pigs, their choicest samples of corn, and many articles made in their club projects. Selected teams will give daily demonstrations of the various phases of club work and a National Health Contest will be staged.

The ceremony of crowning the 1924 kings of the agricultural world will be a feature of the Grain and Hay Show. In spite of the unfavorable season, Superintendent Christie reports that the quality of the corn and small seeds this year will be the best ever seen at Chicago. The record of 649 samples established last year has been far surpassed, the increase being especially large. (Continued on Page 5)
