ANNUAL CONVENTION OF COUNTY S. S. ASSOCIATION

HELD IN KNOX PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, JARVIS, ON TUESDAY, OCTOBER ...

The annual convention of the Haldimand County Sunday School Association was held in Knox Presbyterian church on Tuesday Oct. 14th. There were two sessions, afternoon at 2 p. m. and evening at 7:30 p.m., and both sessions were splendidly attended, workers being present from all over the county.

At the afternoon session the devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. W. T. Brown, after which the chairman, Mr. D. W. Hilborn of Selkirk, addressed the delegates. He stressed the increasing influence of the Sunday School in national life and community life, and urged on all Sunday School workers to make that influence tell in the coming plebiscite on the O.T.A., Oct. 23rd.

Following his address reports were given by the departmental secretaries. They were all very satisfactory; the one on Missions showing a decided increase in givings over last year.

Dr. P. K. Dayfoot, of Port Colborne, then addressed the gathering, hi subject being "Religious Education." Pointing out the wonderful place religious education has in the world today, interest in it is deepening all the time. Education is not, he said, putting into somebody what they have not got, but is a drawing out and amplifying of faculties they already posess. Religious education is exactly the same process, it uses the same principles and strives to develop the spiritual side of life to its fullest and largest extent. It was justified by the fact that man was born with a faculty for worship. The need for religious education was plain. One of the weak points of our educational system today is that we are not fully seized with the need of education along religious lines. We educate the child's muscle and brain, but we do not educate his spirit; we educate the head and hand and neglect the heart, and no education is complete that does not do that. More and more clearly it was being recognised that education without the Christian element is a menace to the country ond the world. It simply increases man's capabilities for evil. The nation that does not cultivate its spiritual side will fail. Religious education is needed nationally. Canada is in danger of falling down in the matter of religious education. Three agencies for this education are the home, the school, the church, and they must take up their task if the world is to be saved.

Following a very earnest address on "Service," by Rev. J. M. Whitelaw of Hagersville, who said that Christion men and women today are living under two great banners, those of Love and Service, the convention unanimously passed a resolution, proposed by Mr. Whitelaw, seconded by Mr. McKinnon, heartily endorsing the work of the O.T.A., and urging the S. S. workers of the province to throw all their weight on the side of Prohibition in the coming election.

The following resolution was passed unanimously by a standing vote, when the large assembly joined heartily in singing "Praise God from whom all blessings flow:"

Whereas, that on Thursday, Oct. 23rd, the electors of Ontario, our Province, will cast their ballots on the two questions: 1st, Are you in favour of the continuance of the O.T.A.? or 2nd, Are you in favour of the sale as a beverage of beer and spirituous liquors in sealed packages under Government Control? and whereas there has been committed to our trust the higher welfare of the rising generation and in asmuch, as the District Meetings and Conferences of the Methodist church in Ontario, have passed unanimously resolutions in favour of the continuance of the O. T.A. and condemnatory of Government Sale, and likewise the Presbyteries and Synod of Toronto and Kingston of the Presbyterian church in Ontario, and the Associations of the Baptist church, the Unions of the Congregational church, have without one dissenting voice similarly declared themselves and Lord Bishop Sweeney of the Diocese of Toronto in his Synodical Pastoral has declared himself on similar lines, and Rev. Father Minehan from Pulpit, Platform and in Press has spoken so strongly in favour of No. 1, as also the Teachers and Inspectors of Thomas Meighan in his new Paramount production, "The Confidence Man," which will be the feature at the Regah Theatre, Hagersville next Tuesday and Wednesday, is supported by an all-star cast that is all-star in every sense of the word.

He has appeared with the popular star in six of his pictures during the past three years. CONVENTION OF METHODIST MISSIONS IN CANADA

A convention, marking the first hundred years of Methodist Missions in Canada, will be held in Massey Hall, Toronto, from November 4th to 7th ext.

It appears that in 1824, just a century ago, the Methodist circuits and districts in Canada were organized into a conference, which proceeded at once to form a Missionary Society. The gifts of the first year, amounting, we are told, to $144.00, made it possible to provide services in destitute settlements and among the Indians.

The first missionaries were sent to places no more remote than the Niagara peninsula. Canada has come far since then and her churches have flung their missions to the fringes of the continent and overseas.

The addresses, pageantry and exhibition, with which Methodism will light the watchfires of a new advance in this work, should prove of great profit and equal enjoyment to all participating.

A church which has played a major part in evangelizing Ontario and English-speaking Quebec, could not, in self-respect, ignore the centenary of her own organized missionary activity.

The plans are for a week of notable events of historic and national significance. Dr. John R. Mott, missionary statesman, will bear greetings from world-wide Methodism. "A Century of Victory" is the title given the extensive pageant now under preparation. It is stated also that one ministerial, and also lay representatives, from each nearly nine hundred circuits of Methodism in the two provinces are being invited to attend.

HARVEST THANKSGIVING SERVICES

Flowers, fruit, vegetables and grain all contributed towards making a very effectively decorated church, on Sunday last, when Knox Presbyterian church observed their annual harvest thanksgiving service.

The pulpit, platform, choir loft, and windows were all beautifully decorated, and by the variety of the decorations bore testimony to the abundant harvest.

Appropriate music was rendered by the choir at both services, which were well attended.

Speaking in the morning on the subject of "Life's Harvest," Rev. Mr. Brown pointed out that the harvest time was the most beautiful time of the year; it was the summing up, and crowning point of the year's work, in it men reaped the reward of their labors.

From the harvest many lessons could be drawn. The harvest always presupposed a time of sowing, without the seed was sown there could be no ingathering. In life there is always a period of time when we sow the seeds from which comes later on the harvest; it is essential therefore that what we sow shall be the very best we know of.

But not only must seed be sown, it must also be well cultivated, what is neglected dies, and so we must earnestly cultivate the good seed sown in our hearts if we are to expect an abundant harvest. And then we must remember that there is the harvest time, the time when we reap the reward of our sowing and cultivating. What kind of a harvest we reap will depend entirely upon what kind of things have been given the uppermost place in our life.

In the evening the subject was "The Ungrateful Heart." Using the story of the Ten Lepers, he pointed out that there was nothing contrary to life in the fact that only one came back to thank Jesus, such things were happening all the time. The sin of ingratitude, whilst it was one of the meanest of sins, was also one of the commonest. It was to be found in every walk of life, private, public, and national. The more men had done for them the more they wanted. Oftentimes it was those who were least favored that were the most grateful, the man who returned thanks was a despised Samaritan. What men need more than anything else is a grateful heart, and then their gratitude will find expression in thanksgiving, in service freely and gladly rendered, and in lives transformed. "Freely ye have received, freely give" should be the motto graven on every heart as it contemplates the wonderful goodness of the Creator as it is manifest at this harvest season.

DEATH OF JOHN W. McINALLY

John W. McInally, fruit grower of Simcoe, died on Monday afternoon last suddenly out at his farm, two miles east of town. He leaves a wife and two daughters, Mrs. Chisholm of Toronto, and Mrs. Henry Martin of Simcoe.

Mr. McInally had spent the day out at the farm and his collapse occurred just before his daughter, Mrs. Martin, motored out to bring him home. For more than a year he had been under strict counsel of his physician, enjoined to be very cautious and carefut, but being a man of active disposition, he found it impossible to lead a life of idleness.

The late J. W. McInally was one of the first Norfolk farmers to introduce modern scientific methods into farming. Commercial fertilizers, orchard spraying, and the like, were introduced by him. He grew vegetables and fruit and developed one of the leading cherry orchards in Ontario. His 200 acre farm has been yielding strawberries, cherries, raspberries, plums, pears and apples in season, and considerable grain crop to provide the necessary humus and winter cover.

Mr. and Mrs. McInally were arranging to depart presently to spend a second winter in California.

Rev. Mr. Brown of Jarvis, assisted by Rev. Mr. Hall, present incumbent of St. Paul's Church, Simcoe, conducted the funeral service at the house on Thursday afternoon and interment was made at Oakwood Cemetery. The bearers were: W. C. Everett, S. N. Culver, B. B. Baillie, H. A. Stringer, Arthur Richards, and Wm. Burt.

BURGLAR ALARM ROUTS ROBBERS

Burglars, who had evidently come prepared to make a good haul at J. D. Caley's shoe store, at Port Dover, were frustrated Saturday morning about 3 o'clock, when they unwittingly set off a burglar alarm.

L. R. Tibbes, who resides in the post office block across the road, hurried to the telephone as soon as he heard the alarm and notified Chief Holden, who was soon on the spot, followed almost immediately by Mr. Caley in his car, he having been informed also.

The parties had decamped, leaving behind two leaves of an auto spring with which they had tried to force the street door and, failing in this, had gone to the rear, where they tried to raise a window, which was too securely fastened to be lifted. They then whittled away the window casing sufficiently to permit the window stops being removed and the sash pulled outward. Finding the door into the main part locked they removed a bottom panel with an axe, unlocked the door and opened it to their undoing. They had closed the door again, thinking that the alarm would stop, but it was not of the intermittent kind.

Not even a shoestring was secured by the marauders.
