Lost Mines!

The newspapers and mining journals are devoting considerable space to the old question of "lost mines." Whether this is merely one of those numerous "hot weather subjects" or merely illustrates the fact that men like boys have periods of adventure—some desires, is hard to determine. At any rate various yarns and tales are afloat concerning lost mines. No doubt most of the "lost mines" are fabrics of the imagination or born of exaggeration granted upon a grain of truth, but the search for lost mines that are more to be desired than the search for fabulous wealth. Those mines are the mines of opportunity. Some are lost, beyond the recall of time. Others are hidden away, and but need to be explored to reach a harvest of happiness and financial remuneration.

These opportunities exist all about us. They are manifest in every vocation and calling. They need but to be seized, to be realized. But it takes the spirit of the prospector. It takes the hope and the faith, and the never-give-up spirit that overcomes obstacles. Everyone can explore for "lost mines."

Here and There

It is anticipated that English orders for Canadian wool will exceed 1,000,000 pounds this year, which will be a considerable increase over the 700,000 pounds of 1923, amounting to 300,000 pounds.

Definite advice has been received at Victoria, B.C., that the Japanese training squadron, consisting of the "Kishima," "Asma" and "Azuma" will visit Victoria during the winter. The squadron will leave Japan early in December, following the annual fall manoeuvres.

Approximately 60 per cent, or 1,252,691 of the population of Western Canada live on occupied farms. Of the balance, 474,516 live in its 20 cities and towns of over 2,500 and 228,962 in 3,200 small towns and villages of 2,500 or under.

The work of re-ballasting the main line of the Canadian Pacific between Montreal and Toronto (the Lake Ontario shore line) has just been completed. Nearly 2,000,000 tons of crushed rock, or about 35,000 carloads, were used in this operation. Officials state that the roadbed is now as excellent as it can be made and second to none in the world.

Successful strawberry culture 300 miles north of the international boundary has been proven possible by J. A. Gordon, of Edmonton, Alta. One hundred plants brought from Ontario wintered well, blossomed freely and produced a profitable crop of well formed, fine-flavored fruit with rich color and flavor. Mr. Gordon has likewise had much success with cherries, wild plums and crab apples.

Successful operations have been made by the mammoth industry in Canada during the past decade. The Bureau of Statistics reports that whereas the Dominion imported nearly 7,000,000 pounds in pre-war days, it imported only 1,096,000 pounds in 1923. Nine factories, with a capitalization of $873,000, now operate in Canada, with an aggregate output approximating 11,500,000 pounds.

Whaling operations off the coast of British Columbia this season have been very successful. Four seasons and six or seven whalers are working. Sixteen of the vessels have returned to head so far this year. Whale oil is selling well in England and whale meat, canned, is an established commodity in West Africa. The entire British Columbia whale meat pack of last year having been sold there.

Arrangements for the re-building of the Chateau Lake Louise, the Canadian Pacific's charming hotel in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, are already under way. The contract has been awarded to Carter-Halls Aldinger, of Winnipeg, and Barrot and Blackadder are the architects. The building will have a greater number of guest and public rooms than existed in the one which preceded it, as the hotel is now too small for the crowds which visit it. The work is to be completed in time for next season. It will be recalled that the old wing of the Chateau was destroyed by fire some months ago.
