NIAGARA FALLS OVER 30,000 YEARS OLD

Chicago, March 29.—Niagara Falls was heavy with age when King Tut's slaves were building his tomb. When the falls came into being, the Neanderthal man was becoming ancient history.

Mother Nature created the falls 30,025 B.C. at Leadston, N.Y., according to an announcement today by the University of Chicago.

"Estimates based on careful study of the falls, the gorge and the Great Lakes indicate that Niagara Falls was born at Leadston, N.Y., from 30,000 to 40,000 years ago," declared Prof. J. Harlen Bretz, university geologist.

"Nature has left us a record, if we read it aright, showing how long ago, in years, the Northern States were covered by glaciers. It is the Niagara Falls. The falls are wearing away the rock over which they tumble and are undercutting it at the rate of about four and a half feet a year, so that the falls are moving up-stream. They were originally at Leadston and Queenston. They took origin when the ice sheet retreated from the southern part of the Great Lake country."

Bowl is Suspended

THE Melotte bowl is suspended by a spindle from six ball bearings above. It runs continuously without vibration. Friction and resistance is practically eliminated. Machines with bearings below the bowl may get out of balance from wear—the bowl vibrates—the machine turns hard—skimming is imperfect—cream is lost in the skim milk. Examine this original Melotte with the suspended bowl, now. Its use means added profit.
