WAYS AND MEANS
 There are probably few farmers or farmers in this situation. First, there is the evident intention of the Conservatives to prolong the present session as late as possible to make it very difficult for Liberals to assist in the provincial general elections this summer in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and for the Progressives to have a hand in the provincial contest coming in Saskatchewan. Second, there is the attitude of private members generally in the House that whether or not there will be a Federal general election this year they will take no chances and are, therefore, getting "on record" this session for campaign purposes.

NO CLAIMER FOR GENERAL ELECTIONS
 All this fear of a Federal approach this year is in the face of various indications that the King Government is apparently making no plans for an election before 1926. One evidence is in the fact that a conference has been called for the latter part of June of the representatives of the various British West Indian with the Dominion Government with a view to laying the basis for a new trade pact. Then, again, there is to be the conference between the provincial and the federal Governments on the question of amendments to (Continued on last page) any policy of that sort, because it has been abundantly proved that the Maritime Provinces will be injured by it, because if such a policy were inaugurated, it would do more to drive a wedge between the different sections of this country than anything else that I can conceive of. For these reasons I do not think the people of this country will ever support a protective policy."

THE WEST AND THE MARITIMES
 Making an appeal for some reciprocal action by the Western provinces toward the Maritimes Hon. Mr. Motherwell had this to say: "There is an opportunity for the men on the prairies to reciprocate. They say they are in favour of it only if it is all their own way. When something is to be done for the Maritimes, let them have their protection. When protection ceases to be in existence in Canada then they may cast a stone at this in the Maritimes. I do not know whether protection in Canada will ever cease or not; but if the West refuses to accept this Budget on the ground of what is claimed to be high protection on coal for the Maritimes, but which was agreed to by Premier Greenfield of Alberta and many others in the West and as regards which the only kick came from protected Ontario I am afraid our Western friends are losing an opportunity of showing a reciprocal feeling for the Maritimes, for what the Maritimes have been prepared to do for the West at every opportunity since we have come down here."

LONG DEBATE NEARING END
 Seldom has a Budget debate extended over so long period. With the intervention of the Easter recess its termination will not come with the most important division of the House in the session before April 21. Meanwhile the leaders of the two old parties in the House will speak. It also is expected that Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, and possibly Hon. Ernest LaPointe, Minister of Justice, will have something to say. A comfortable majority for the Government on this important division is assured.

THE OCEAN RATES INQUIRY
 Commencement of the enquiry of the Special Committee of the House named to deal with the Government's proposal to control and reduce the ocean freight rates was made on Tuesday morning. When it resumes on Friday, April 17, there will begin one of the liveliest pieces of work of the fourteenth Parliament, for the representatives of the North Atlantic Shipping Conference are determined to put up a strong fight, aided and abetted by the Conservatives who by their present attitude seem to fear more that the Government's plan will work than that it will not work.

OTTAWA, April 16th, 1925.—This session's Budget debate promises to be a record-breaker both as to duration and as to the number of members of the House taking part in it. Already it has occupied 15 days and it is not likely to conclude before the end of next week which will make the total number of days in excess of 20. It is estimated, too, that about 100 members of Parliament will have taken space in Montreal before the House votes on the motion at 11 a.m. James A. Bell, Acting Minister of Finance, is to take the Committee of
