

Canada from Coast to Coast

Charlottetown, P.E.I.—Over 4,000 cattle owners in 200 districts have voted to make Prince Edward Island a disease-free area under the Dept. of Agriculture arrangement which calls for a two-thirds vote of all cattle owners. There have been no negative votes.

Halifax, N.S.—The expenditure of more than $200,000 in the extension of the Imperial plant here, property of the Imperial Oil Co., for the purpose of establishing a West Indies trade and providing facilities for the relative development and increased employment, which this extension will bring, is announced by the company. The extension of the plant at Imperial will include the erection of a complete case and can manufacturing plant, and in these containers the oil will be shipped to the West Indies.

Montreal, Que.—The Dominion Engineering Co. has received from the International Paper Co. an order for four new printing machines for the new mill at Three Rivers. The machines will be of 164-inch width and will be of the latest design. They will be built for a running speed of 1,200 feet per minute and will be the first high speed machines with a worm drive.

Cornwall, Ont.—Another outlet for the sulphite pulp manufactured in Canada is being established at Cornwall. The mill of Courtaulds, Ltd., which is being constructed in this city, will be finished sometime this summer. Upon completion part of the mill will be given over to the manufacture of artificial silk made from Canadian pulp.

Brandon, Man.—A buffalo park within 16 miles of this city is planned by the Brandon Board of Trade which is taking the matter up with the Federal authorities. The only difficulty in the way of the park's establishment now is the financing of the big fence to surround the range. The buffalo will be obtained from the Wainwright Park in Alberta.

Regina, Sask.—Wool growers in Saskatchewan and Manitoba have signed twice as many contracts this year as at the same period last year, states W. Thomson, manager of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers' Association in the two provinces. With the majority of the sheep reported to have wintered in fine condition, the 1925 clip should prove of normal quality of good strength.

Wainwright, Alta.—Two thousand young buffalo from the Wainwright herd will make a 700-mile trek northward this summer to the buffalo reserve on the Slave River, where they will be turned loose to mingle with the wood bison which roam that area.

Vancouver, B.C.—The Coast Cement Co., recently organized, have acquired a plant on Granville Island for the purpose of establishing a cement factory. They will import cement clinker from Belgium and obtain gypsum locally in British Columbia. It is expected that the plant, the remodeling of which will involve an expenditure of $750,000, will be ready for operation by the end of June.

HEAT WAVE IN STATES CAUSES 12 DEATHS

Crazed from Extreme Heat Ohio Man Shot to Death Eight Members of His Family.

A despatch from New York says:—New York mapped a red face on Thursday, as the heat wave swept the entire country, forcing the closing of some mills in New England.

There was no sign of a let-up while the mercury hit the high spots and people fell in their tracks in the steaming streets.

The usually beneficent sun became an evil thing. Old Sol hung over the sluggish city, hardly moved by the light southwest breeze. Folks peeled their coats. Babies squaled in hot tenements and gasped for air. The subway reeked.

Many persons were prostrated in the metropolitan district. Six were killed and three were injured, the heat being indirectly blameable for the accidents.

This brought the tally for the duration of the heat wave so far to twelve killed, five in the city itself.

The mercury reached 93 degrees here by 3 o'clock. This is the high mark for the season.

Reports indicated that the only cool spots in the United States were in the far West. In some parts of the South it was cooler than in New York in the early-morning hours. It was 76 in Pensacola and Jacksonville, Fla., at 8 o'clock, while in this city at that hour the thermometer registered 78.

Beyond the Mississippi, electric and wind storms came with the heat, took heavy toll of life and caused large property damage. The highest temperature recorded in the morning hours was 82, at Key West, Fla., and the lowest 36, at Boise, Idaho.

While Washington was sweltering, with the official thermometer at 99 degrees, a water famine was threatened. Citizens have been warned against using a cooling hose or trying to wet their lawns down to dissipate the heat of the sun.

At Hamilton, Ohio, Lloyd Russell became crazed from extreme heat during the night and shot to death eight persons—his mother, brother, sister-in-law and her five children.

Neighbors called police to the Russell home, and there they found the eight bodies strewn through various rooms of the house, and Russell with an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound in his chest.

There is something better that a man can give than his life, and that age of 70 or thereabouts, and he has his living spirit.—Woodrow Wilson.

NAVAL SEAPLANES TO RELIEF OF AMUNDSEN

Mystery of Polar Expedition Still Remains Unsolved After Fortnight's Absence.

A despatch from Oslo, Norway, says:—A fortnight has passed since Captain Roald Amundsen with his five companions disappeared into the Arctic wastes in their quest for the North Pole, and the mystery of their whereabouts is still unsolved.

Amundsen is understood to have left with Captain Hagerup, of the steamer Farm, sealed instruction, to be opened a fortnight after his departure.

What these contain has not been divulged. Meanwhile, the Norwegian Government, at the request of the Aero Club, which promoted Amundsen's flight, is despatching on Saturday two naval scout seaplanes by the 4,700-ton steamer Ingertre, placed at the Government's disposal by the Great Norwegian Coal Company of Spitzbergen.

The Ingertre, it is expected, will arrive about mid-June at King's Bay, where the seaplanes will be unloaded and flown to Wellman Bay, Dane Island, to connect with the Farm and Hobby, and will then begin immediately a systematic search of the ice edge along about the 81st degree of latitude.

Arab Was Boy of 13 When Napoleon Was in Syria

A despatch from London says:—There is one man living who claims to have seen Napoleon Bonaparte. Members of the Royal Geographic Society were told of him by H. B. Philby, formerly political officer in Arabia.

The man is Haji Tahir, one of the many visitors to King Hussein during his stay in Transjordan. He claimed to be 140 years old, having been born when about 12 or 13, Haji Tahir migrated to Palestine when Napoleon was operating on the Syrian coast.

"I do not vouch for the soundness of his claim," said Mr. Philby, "but it is locally accepted on the evidence of the oldest inhabitants, who declare that they have never known him as anything but an old man."

"He is sound in mind and limb, and has an enormous appetite, and, strange of all, an indisputable power of mastication with the aid of what purports to be a newly sprouting but still invisible third set of teeth."

"He declares that he committed matrimony for the first time at the age of 70 or thereabouts, and he has recently married again."

Relief on Way to British Columbia Gold Miners

Stamperders to new gold diggings in the Cassiar County of northern British Columbia are suffering under severe privations, according to a despatch from F. J. Cotter, a sordough poet and miner, published by "The Post-Intelligencer." The despatch, which came from Telegraph Creek, B.C., said:

"No supplies or equipment are on the ground, but it is believed the condition will be relieved when a pack train completes the 102-mile trip from here. The Hudson's Bay Co. sent a five-ton tractor loaded with supplies to Dease Lake last week, and the Dickinson's Mining Co.'s tractor with a trailer and a crew of twelve men left May 29.

"There is much snow still in the hills and the streams are running up to the banks."

King George Confers Order for Services in Saving Life

A despatch from London says:—Tuesday's list of King's Birthday honours contained the name of B. W. Tibble, who was awarded the Order of the British Empire, "for public services in saving life." Lord Knutsford, Chairman of the London Hospital, has disclosed the nature of these public services. Tibble some time ago informed the London Hospital authorities that he was prepared at a moment's notice to give a pint of his blood to save a patient's life. Since then he has on 44 occasions given a pint of blood. The usual fee for each transfusion is five guineas, but Tibble always refused to take payment for his services. The Governors of the hospital therefore elected him a life Governor in recognition of his unselfishness.

Ripley, Bruce County, is Ontario's Youngest Village

A despatch from Ripley says:—Ripley, Bruce County, is proud in its new status, having graduated as an incorporated village on June 1. Glorifying in advancement, its citizens have honored one of their number, who has been active in the community's welfare as a Trustee for the past seven years, with the office of Reeve—a distinction accorded to John B. Martyn by acclamation.

DUNLOP FORMALLY COMMITTED FOR THEFT

Former Provincial Inspector to Stand Trial for Thefts of Over $40,000.

A despatch from Toronto says:—Charges of theft totalling some $40,000 were faced by W. W. Dunlop, former provincial inspector of prisons and public charities, when he appeared in the police court Thursday afternoon before Magistrate Browne, who after hearing a summary of the case from the Crown presented by E. J. Murphy, assistant crown attorney, committed the accused to trial by jury. Bail was raised from $10,000 to $40,000 following the request of the crown that the amount be fixed at $50,000, but the magistrate took into consideration the $11,000 already refunded to the province by Mr. Dunlop. The court agreed to accept $10,000 of the required bail from Mr. Dunlop's wife, $10,000 more being provided by W. G. Spalding and $20,000 by David Hilton. The defendant was represented by R. H. Greer, K.C.

The original charge of the theft of $3,000 was retained against Fred C. Williams, assistant inspector, who through Craig McKay, his counsel, entered a plea of not guilty and elected trial by jury. He was admitted to bail for trial without any preliminary evidence in his case.

Prince Enjoys Crowded Visit at Durban

A despatch from Durban says:—In addition to opening the new dock here on Thursday the Prince of Wales' activities included reviewing a gathering of 15,000 children, a charming ceremony which found the Prince in his happiest mood, and the children ecstatic with delight, and an inspection of 10,000 Indians in review.

In the afternoon Wales led his team to victory in a polo match, 4 goals to 3. Of these the Prince contributed two goals.

Noted French Astronomer Passes Away

A despatch from Paris says:—Camille Flammarion, the noted French astronomer, is dead. M. Flammarion died at his observatory at Juvisy-sur-Orge, France. He made astronomy popular, and in a recently written volume claimed he had definite proof that the soul survives the decomposition of the body.

MEMORIAL ROAD LOSES 25 TREES

Four-Year-Old Avenue Being Destroyed by Vandals in Montreal.

A despatch from Montreal says:—Eight more trees on "The Road of Remembrance," in Notre Dame de Grace, were destroyed yesterday, bringing the total of mutilated trees up to 25, 17 having been cut down during Monday night.

The trees, which were in memory of fallen Canadian soldiers, were about four years old, and were growing admirably. Great indignation is being expressed in all quarters of the city over the outrage. A reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest of the perpetrator is offered by a local newspaper. All the trees were cut or chopped through about three feet above the ground.

Each tree was planted in memory of an individual Montreal soldier killed overseas, whose name and battalion were inscribed upon it. There were, in all, about 840 trees.

Inventions Are Expected to Cut Toll of Airplane Accidents

A despatch from London says:—Under the critical gaze of officials and experts in aviation, two airplanes were tried out at Croydon recently and satisfactorily gave safety exhibitions which, in the opinion of Major General Sir Sefton Branncker, director of civil aviation, "will eliminate about 50 per cent. of the accidents which now occur."

Two machines a ten-seater piloted by the Dutch pilot Fokker, and a single seater piloted by Flight-Lieutenant Bulham, underwent tests which showed that when a plane stalled owing to lack of flying speed and tilted downward preparatory to a nose dive, the pilot retained control. Instead of nose diving the machine merely sank a certain distance.

The ten seater is so built that it is claimed it will not stall at all, even under unfavorable conditions or through neglect or inexperience on the part of the pilot.

The small machine is fitted with a slotted control which consists of auxiliary planes on the outer portions of the wings. Between them are slots, and it is claimed that the closing of the slots enables full control. Pilot Bulham's demonstration was watched carefully by experts and at the close he was congratulated on what was termed a "wonderful performance."

Casket Containing Bones of Ethelbert Discovered

A despatch from London says:—While engaged in excavation work on Thursday in connection with the restoration of Sherborne Abbey workmen discovered the coffin of King Ethelbert, who died in 865, and was buried in the abbey in 866. The coffin was made of stone, and contained the bones of the King of the West Saxons.

Ethelbert, or Aethelberht, King of the West Saxons, succeeded to the sub-Kingdom of Kent during the lifetime of his father, Aethelwulf, and retained it until the death of his elder brother, Aethelbald, in 860, when he became sole King of Wessex and Kent, the younger brothers, Aethelred and Alfred renouncing their claim. He ruled these kingdoms for five years.

His reign was marked by two serious attacks on the part of the Danes, who destroyed Winchester in 860, in spite of the resistance of the children Osric and Aethelwulf with the levies of Hampshire and Berkshire, while in 865 they treacherously ravaged Kent.

Car Drops Thirty Feet But Women Escape

A despatch from St. Thomas says:—Mrs. Charles Beavis and Miss G. Woodworth of this city had a miraculous escape from death when an automobile in which they were riding dropped over the steep embankment at the west end of Talbot Street, falling a distance of thirty feet or more to the old traction line roadbed below. The bank at this point is almost perpendicular. Neither woman was injured, although the car was badly damaged. The gears had been left in reverse, causing the accident when the engine was started. The car had been out of the factory only a few days.

Call of Young Moose Saves Life of Canoe Man

A despatch from Ft. William, Ont., says:—The cry of a young moose calf saved Neils Nordahl, of Upsala Township, from death when the mother of the calf was making a furious attack on him.

The man was paddling around Jackfish Lake in a canoe, and when rounding a point near the summer cottage of Frank Spence, M.P.P., he spied a cow moose and two calves on the shore a few yards away. Nordahl emitted a shout to see the animals run away. However, the cow moose dashed into the lake straight for the canoe. The impetus of her charge upset the canoe, and when Nordahl fell out the canoe was fortunately between his person and the infuriated animal.

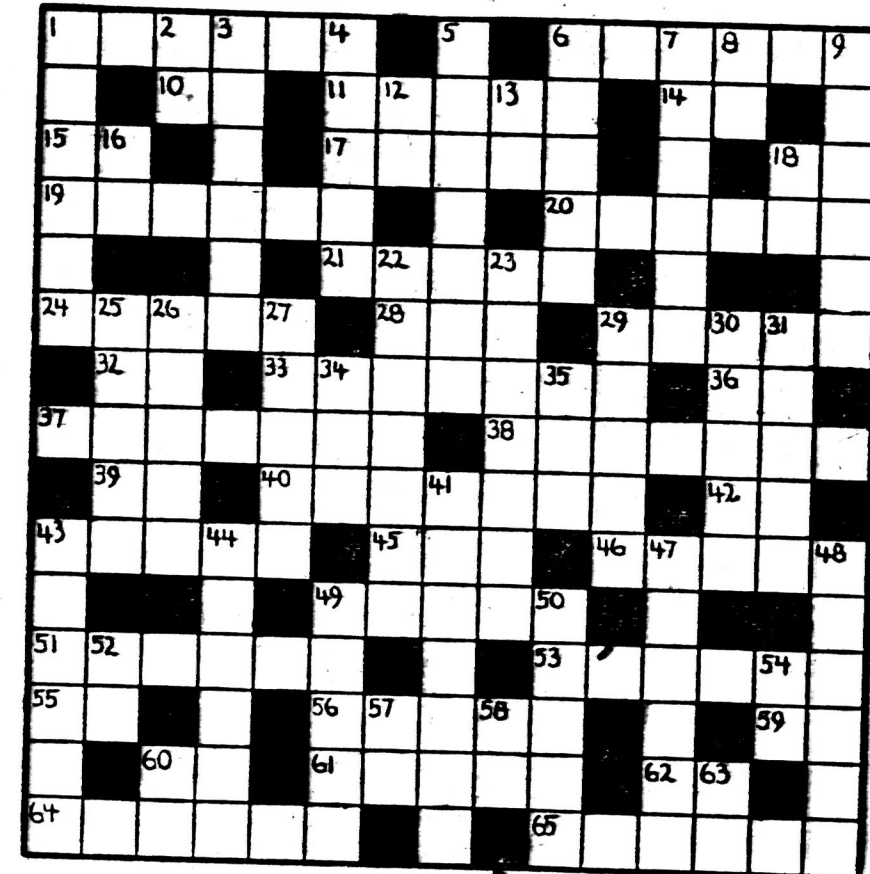

The man managed to keep the canoe as a protection while the moose charged and charged again. Steadily he kept moving backward into deeper water in an effort to put the moose at a disadvantage, as the canoe was being battered badly by the powerful animal.

Then one of the calves, thinking it was being abandoned by the mother, emitted a cry and the moose turned away from Nordahl to answer the call of her young. In the meantime Nordahl got the canoe away and made his escape.
