THAT MADE-IN-CANADA SPIRIT

The Financial Post, circulating to nearly every manufacturer in Canada, a goodly number in the United States, and others in other parts of the world, recently issued a special supplement dedicated to Essex County, extolling its merits, its advantages for manufacturers to locate branches in, and other statistical information of value to everyone. They printed in addition to their regular "run" 15,000 extra copies to be distributed free. With the exception of one or two towns in the county, each town or city carried, half, three-quarter or full page advertisements. Learnington was one of the towns that did not ad-

Our Hired Man

"That cow-tester's one mah I like to cook for," says the hired girl.

Well, he's one man who knows something about feeding.

I always enjoy helping the women folks around the house—like, for instance, pickin' the Thanksgiving goose.

Now's when the rockle-burs assert themselves in the cornfields that were sledged in June.

Now the County Agent's got the women folks interested.

That set of ours has saved us lots of motions picking corn.

Maybe the nights cost a little more for light, but the boss says they pay big every time he reads a good article on farming or dairying.

The boss says the articles show more practical and less theory, now-a-days.

vertise, and a week later proceeded to show their patriotism by placing a display advertisement at a good round figure in a Boston newspaper. And better still, they voted for "protection" down there.

TO FLOAT THE RED FLAG

Barnumsey, a London borough and largely inhabited by working-class people, has decided to fly the Red Flag over its town hall instead of the Union Jack, thus following the example of its sister borough, Battersea. The majority of the town council belong to the Labor Party, and said they intend no disrespect to the Union Jack, but there is a growing tendency for boroughs to fly their own flags, and they are following suit.

THEM'S OUR SENTIMENTS

Anyone owing this paper is requested to call and pay at once. Anyone not owing it is requested to call and subscribe and begin owing us at once. Anyone not owing us and not intending to do so, as above, is requested to move to — and make room for one who will.

TELL US THE NEWS

We are at all times pleased to receive items of news from our readers, but if you have an item which you could send us on Monday or Tuesday, don't wait until Thursday morning to send it in. It takes time to get news items into type, and as yet we have not acquired the ability to do three hours work in sixty minutes. Let us have whatever items you have as early as possible in the week. This will leave time for the later happenings to be put into type.

A NEW "POWER"

Radio experts have named a new kind of power, it is "fly-power". The currents flowing in an ordinary radio receiving aerial are exceedingly small and may be expressed in terms of "fly-power"—one fly-power being the energy expended by a fly in crawling up a window pane one inch in one second.

APRIL ROD AND GUN

Of considerable interest in view of the recent controversy in Ontario over the use of ulcers or not of the crow, is a series of articles on Jack Miner's work that is running in Rod and Gun, the sporting magazine. The April issue contains an interesting article with a reference to his advice on the establishing of a large bird sanctuary. The April issue of "Rod and Gun" also contains a very good offering of reading matter of interest to the sportsman, the lower of wild life and the outdoors and the casual general reader. An account of a wonderful bear hunt in the Wilds of British Columbia makes very interesting reading as do the current articles of Raymond Thompson's series "In the Big

The South-West Corner

THE WORST STORY I HEARD ON MAIN STREET TODAY

This was told me by a friend who can be relied upon. It was concerning a fellow who was being very liberal with his holiday spirits. At least he had poured out one for his friend, and was preparing to insist that he have another, although hoping that he wouldn't be just as "Dri-as" that: "You're going to have another, aren't you?" he asked.

"Waal," replied his philosophic friend "you never seed one of these beah airy-planes get started good with one wing, didja?"

The statement that he hasn't said is uttered by the gent Who in extenuation says As how he would of went.

PERILS OF PROHIBITION

The dry chief was approached by his secretary.

"Sir, you remember the new man you sent out with instructions to jot down the name of every agent he found corrupt?"

Now's when the cockle-burs assert "He's dead, sir."

"By violence?"

"No, writer's cramp."

Woods of Canada" and A. Bryan Williams' "Beezies for the West."

The regular department on the ing, outdoor life, sports, dogs and trapping, contain some good reading matter as well as instructive material.

Big Game Hunter gets Live Wolves

Rover and Patsy and on right, Captain Doudera, hero of the chase, with his shot trophy over his shoulder. A. Rover and Patsy photographed on arrival at the C.P.R. Windsor Station, Montreal.

Following his promise to James eating performance he insisted on seeing Frank Doudera, well known as a sportsman, arrived at the Canadian Pacific Windsor Station in Montreal, recently from Northern Ontario with two live wolves which he captured in Lake Temiskaming, at the junction where the River Kippawa flows into the lake. The two animals, named Patsy and Rover, are intended for the Brooklyn Zoo.

When taken out of their cages in the baggage room at the Windsor Station, both Patsy and Rover displayed decidedly nervous tendencies. Patsy is an ash blonde, endowed by nature with a pearly grey coat of fur, tinged with red, which glazes a little in the sun. Rover seemed to be a bit worn in spots, but his fur, whatever there is of it, is a bluish black, closely resembling a blue fox. Rover was inclined to rove. When taken into the express yards he buried his head in the snow. After a snow-

Doudera claims a record in shooting the best wolf after a chase which lasted only three hours and forty minutes. Usually it takes several days to corner a wolf. The animal takes long, powerful strides and covers ground at an amazing pace. But in the present case there had been a heavy fall of snow and the wolf had wandered alone until Doudera came within fifteen feet. The animal then turned, bared his fangs, let loose a series of howls and leaped at his pursuer. The captain pulled the trigger of his gun and a bullet pierced the wolf's heart and shoulder.

During the expedition the hunter was aided by Fred Arnott, who operates the Tem-Kip chain of camps. Captain Doudera brings with him six thousand feet of film showing authentic pictures of wolves in their native haunts. The sportsman reported that game was very plentiful in the Lake Temiskaming district. Deer are to be found within a few hundred yards from camp.
