TRAIN DITCHED BY SPREAD RAIL

LOCAL MOURNERS INJURED - UNABLE TO ARRIVE IN TIME FOR FUNERAL

Wabash train No. 3, westbound from Buffalo, was derailed at about 11 o'clock on Tuesday morning, about one mile west of Diltz, due to a soft spot in the track permitting the rail to spread. The engine remained on the track, but the observation car and the next two were derailed, turning over into the ditch.

Mr. Richards, of Diltz, notified Drs. Rig and Abbott, of Dunnville, who were quickly on the scene. A number of the passengers were injured, four rather seriously. Many of the passengers were foreigners, who gave their addresses as Detroit. The negro porter suffered a severe laceration on his arm and the conductor one on his head.

The four most severely injured passengers were rushed to the Dunnville War Memorial Hospital, where their injuries were attended to. Their names and injuries are: Mrs. Harry Tatten, of Buffalo, left breast crushed; James Charbers, of Bronxville, N.Y., severe laceration of the scalp, left ear badly torn and face badly cut, and generally bruised; A. E. Lambert, of Harrison, N.Y., severe laceration of the face and left leg; Franz Barleth, Detroit, a severe tear of the lower lip.

The first three mentioned were enroute to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. Sarah E. Sowter, which was to take place in Jarvis that afternoon. They were given first aid at the hospital and resumed their journey, but unfortunately arrived too late for the services.

Conductor Alex. Thomson, of 60 Flora St., St. Thomas, who is one of the best-known and oldest men in the service, sustained a nasty gash on the head and a cut on the leg. He was able to go to his home in the afternoon after having his injuries attended to.

Many others in the train received a shaking up or minor injuries, but all were able to proceed on their journeys after another train had been procured.

The train, in charge of Conductor Thomson, with Engineer Joseph Grice and Fireman James Gattfield, of St. Thomas was traveling about 40 miles an hour when the engine and cars left the rails.

Fireman Gattfield had just been back in the service about three weeks after recovering from injuries received in an automobile accident.

DEATH OF MRS. HANNAH DEAL

On Thursday morning, April 22nd, occurred the death in St. Joseph's hospital, Hamilton, of Mrs. Hannah Deal, wife of the late John Deal in her 66th year.

Deceased, who was born in Nanticoke, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackson. For the past 12 years she lived on the farm at Sandusk, but when she disposed of her property a short time ago, moved to Jarvis to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Hoebel, where she had been practically confined to her bed up until a week before her demise. She was taken to the St. Joseph's hospital for an examination, when it was found that she was suffering from inward goitre. Her condition was found to be too weak for an operation, and every effort was made to rally her, but she gradually grew weaker, passing peacefully away on Thursday morning.

Deceased leaves to mourn her husband, John Deal, of Toronto; six sisters: Mrs. Ira Walt, of McTaggart, Sask.; Mrs. Lizzy Clark of Weston, Ont.; Mrs. P. S. Benn of Grimsby; Mrs. David McNeilly, Marburg; and five brothers: Chas. Jackson and Wilson Jackson of McTaggart, Sask.; Thos. R. Jackson of Port Qu'Appelle, Sask.; J. W. Jackson of Indian Head, Sask., and Henry Jackson of Jarvis. The funeral service was held at the home of her daughter on Saturday afternoon, April 24th, the Rev. W. T. Brown officiating. Mrs. A. S. Blight sang a hymn in a very affectionate manner. Interment was made in the family plot, Knox Presbyterian church cemetery, Jarvis.

Those acting as pallbearers were: Earl Benn, Gordon Benn, Joseph Innis, Walker Weidrick, Harry Duxbury and Stewart McNeilly.

TIMELY TOPICS

From Near and Far, outside our own Community, condensed to make clear and quick reading possible

Three Magistrates Take Turns.

In less than 10 minutes last week, the county police at Chatham had the somewhat unusual spectacle of three magistrates occupying the bench. Magistrate S. B. Arnold of Chatham opened the ball, giving place later to Magistrate A. B. Carscallen of Wallaceburg. Before court was over, Magistrate Caldwell of Tilbury, came in to preside over a case adjourned from that town, and made the trio complete.

E. H. Harrison the Canadian representative of the Imperial Tobacco Company of Great Britain and Ireland, announced last week that his company would start immediately the erection of a large leaf plant in Chatham. It is expected the plant will employ 150 to 200 men in the tobacco season.

Dives To His Death.

A leap from from an aeroplane into the ocean as a stunt in an air circus at Vero Beach, Florida, killed J. L. Bell aged 24, of Louisville, a volunteer performer. Several thousand persons on shore witnessed the accident. He dropped from the plane 50 feet into the water, struck the surface on the back and ricocheted about 20 feet. The body did not appear on the surface again. When he learned that a friend was to make a parachute drop Bell was said to have asked to be allowed to do a trick, saying he once dived into the Ohio river from a fast train. He had no experience as an aviator. The plain was travelling 50 miles an hour when he made the fatal plunge.

Officers "Battle" Over Beer.

Just like a play was an accident late one night recently in Hamilton, when Constable Charles Boecker and Police Sergeant J. O'Brien went at it toe to toe in a short but sizzling fight in a backyard. A case of beer was responsible. Boecker was doing duty as a plainclothesman. He had found a quantity of beer and placed it in the backyard. He then went to a rear door and upon turning saw the "evidence" disappearing around a barn corner. Boecker made a leap. It was dark but the "thief" turned and a blow was struck. Another blow followed. "So!" said Officer O'Brien. "Bedad!" said Constable Boecker, and the fight started. It was short but spirited, when almost simultaneously each discovered the other's identity. Inspector O'Brien, it appears, also received a complaint to search the same house.

A Very Unique Will.

A unique will was filed a few days ago for probate at the county buildings, London, Ont. by the executors of the estate of the late Wm. North Noolyill m m m m mfwyp vbkgk graves, McGillivray twp. farmer, who died March 31st. CHEAPSIDE W. I.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Neill at the parsonage with 21 members present.

The meeting was opened by the President, with the usual opening ode and the Lord's Prayer which was repeated in unison. The minutes of the last meeting were then read and adopted. An interesting event came next, the presentation of the silver cup to Mrs. Austin Pond's baby girl, Bernice, it being the first to be presented. It was moved, that we keep the book on "Laws of Ontario," also we get the Institute program for next year. Then an interesting program followed: Reading on "Education" by Mrs. Norman Buckley; instrumental selection by Mrs. George McBurney; reading, "The Family Row," by Mrs. E. Lofthouse; "Keeping a Maid," by Leitha Greenbury; singing, "Oh Canada," reading by Mrs. Sherk, "Two Homes;" "Joy Riding," by Mrs. Meehan. Then two new members were received. The meeting closed with singing the National Anthem. The hostess served a dainty lunch and hearty vote of thanks was tendered her for her hospitality.

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Wm. Greenbury's on Tuesday, May 18th, at 2:30 p.m.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM CRAIG McCARTER

It was with sincere regret that his many friends in this community learned of the death of William Craig McCarter, who passed away at the John Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md., on Thursday, April 15. He had been in ill-health for some time and finally, a few weeks ago, decided to seek the aid of the best medical skill in America, but without avail.

The late Mr. McCarter and his family came to Simcoe about two years ago from Duluth, the father seeking a place of retirement after a life of considerable activity. He purchased the "Norfolk Heights Farm" immediately east of Simcoe and made numerous improvements to the property, previous to his illness.

Deceased was born in Jarvis, Ont. He went to Duluth in 1892 and established the Duluth Business University, which was considered for many years, and is today, the foremost institution of its kind on the continent. It was under the personal supervision of Mr. McCarter for over thirty years.

He was a prominent and very active member of the Rotary Club of Duluth, and was also distinguished in many branches of the Masonic Order. He was a life member of the Palestine Lodge No. 79 A. F. & A. M., also a life member of Keystone Chapter No. 20 R. A. M., Duluth, and in addition was a member of the Scottish Rite and York Rite bodies, as well as having been a member of the (Continued on Last Page)

DEATH OF SARAH E. SOWTER

On Sunday night death again entered in our midst and removed from us one of our most respected residents in the person of Mrs. Sarah E. Sowter. Mrs. Sowter had been in fairly good health until Tuesday last when she was taken with pneumonia and quickly succumbed to it on Sunday night.

Mrs. Sowter was born on Sept. 27th, 1857, on a farm near the village and lived there until her marriage with the late Wm. E. Sowter, when they resided on Talbot Street. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Agnes Chambers, of Jarvis, and one granddaughter, Doris E. Mason, to mourn her loss.

Floral tributes were received from Mr. Mason and Doris, Mrs. Chambers and Mrs. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thayer, Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Farr, Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Lewis, Mrs. Wm. Wood, Jarvis Women's Institute, St. Paul's Auxiliary, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Aiken, Dr. and Mrs. Jaques, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Mason and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Harris and family.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon at St. Paul's Church cemetery and was in charge of the pastor.

A DELIGHTFUL GATHERING

For weeks past a committee, consisting of Messrs. William Sackett, Fred Runciman and H. W. Roberts, who, by the way, are distantly related to one another, suggested that they get up a big party and dance, to be drawn from their respective relatives and close friends. Such an idea promptly caught their fancy and soon the "ball of perfect realization" was put in motion. The committee worked on in confident hope of ultimate success. April 16th was selected as the date and Old Orchard Pavilion on Dovercourt road was secured. Each member of the committee then extended invitations to their relatives and friends both in the city and outside. On the appointed date, the beautiful and spacious pavilion was tastefully decorated, in fact it resembled a fairyland and in conjunction with the lovely gowns worn by the ladies, added charm and grace to the occasion. By eight-thirty this alluring pastime got under way and then out upon the silvery polished floor glided the mirthful pleasure-revellers in pairs to the sweet beckoning strains of music that by this time was pervading the room. Music for the round dancing was furnished by Mr. Arley Maitland, on the band; Mr. Lawrence Barton on the violin and the Misses Edna, Etta and Hazel Sackett and Mr. Harry Reihon playing on the piano alternately.

The square and Paul Jones dancing music was supplied by Mr. Wm. Sackett, Mr. Joseph Black and Mr. Fred Runciman on the fiddle and Mr. Henry Richardson on the Hawaiian Guitar. (Continued on Page 5)
