"What's your opinion of civilization?"
"I think it's a good idea. Somebody ought to start it."

Few merchants really have the proper appreciation of what advertising means to them. A writer in an exchange aptly puts it this way: "If a man spoke to his wife only once a month, or every couple of months, she wouldn't recognize his voice. Yet some businessmen advertise only once a month or once every couple of months and then wonder why they don't get more business. Advertise—every week. Remember 'the used key is always bright.' The store that tells the public what it is doing every day is the store that is always filled."

Pity the poor carpet tack. Its days are numbered. Like the bustle, the corset and the hairpin, it may soon be numbered among the casualties of the onward march of progress and barwood, waxed floors. Manufacturers who agreed to cut down the number of sizes of tacks from 299 to 186, in the interests of reducing commercial waste, barely spared the life of the good old carpet tack. It was pointed out that the changes in interior decoration in recent years had made it nearly obsolete. A compromise was finally agreed upon to include it in the list, but to select another name for it. Whether a carpet tack by any other name will feel as sharp, the bare feet of the immediate future will discover.

Joe Moore, the well-known trapper, has been telling the Porcupine Advertiser that wolves are comparatively harmless, so far as man is concerned, except in the eerie hour at dawn or at the dusk of evening falls. But is there not, perhaps, some significance in the fact that those are the very hours when human beings are inclined to shy at shadows and suspect dangers where none exist?

MARCH ROD AND GUN

A handsome special section containing the winning photographs of the amateur photo contest recently conducted by "Rod and Gun" is an interesting feature of the March issue of the magazine, which has been just published.

The cover design of the March issue is also of great interest. It is a very fine color reproduction of a remarkable photograph of two bull moose lying with their antlers interlocked, having fought to the death. The contents of the magazine for March are of equally interesting nature for sportsmen.

The month's stories include a very live article by George H. Charles who recites an entertaining narrative of a Tenderfoot Hunt in the Wilds of British Columbia, as well as other hunting and fishing narratives.

The regular monthly features are good and Raymond Thompson continues his series in the Big Woods of Canada with the Fox Family, while A. Bryna Williams has another good chapter of the series Brerens from the West. Ronnyville Dale deals with Canada Hunting on the Great Plains of Nova Scotia.

"Rod and Gun" is published monthly by W. J. Taylor Limited, Woodstock, Ont.

HA! HA! HA!
SINGING

(The blummiest poem we ever wrote
O woe could be nicer to look at
And woe could be sweeter to hear,
Than a crow singing out in the sunlit
And to think that it does it by ear!

But, as human beings on 't'other hand
Haff to learn how to sing a song,
And tho' we think we sing wondrously
We often are generally wrong.

Dogs can't sing and know it
But cats spend all night trying,
Therefore people ask for dogs
When doin' their animal buying.

Many people won't sing in the parlor,
Or the dining room or the hall,
Sing all their mite in the bath tub
Proving cleanliness conquers all.

When a baby's mother sings it to sleep
It listens all intense,
But when its father goes and tries it
Baby goes to sleep in self-defence!

"Mountain Glissade" is Gaining Popularity

1. Start of Ladies Ski Race during the Revelstoke Carnival. 2. A new diversion—Hockey on skis with a football. 3. Ernest Field winning Descent Race at Revelstoke.

High up on the wooded slopes of Mount Revelstoke a long thin line of black figures is silhouetted against a background of snow. Suddenly a shot rings out and the thin black line breaks into a series of energized units. It is the start of Revelstoke's latest innovation in the long list of thrilling sport spectacles which hundreds of visitors enjoyed recently during the city's twelfth annual carnival. This latest winter pastime is known as the "mountain glissade" and was performed at the Revelstoke carnival for the first time in Canada.

Two thousand feet below the starting point, crowding the street ends of the little town, visitors and citizens alike watched those alert black figures as they sprang away from the bluff, some to the right, some to the left, some straight ahead, but all downward, downward toward the distant goal within the town. Dropping swiftly down the first open expanse of snow the figures disappeared into the wooded depths of the first ravine only to emerge seconds later here and there, helter-skelter, through the trees and snow.

There were spills a-plenty as down the mountain side plunged these mad ski-shod figures, facing unmediated hazards every foot of the way. But skiers spill only to pick themselves up again, taking no count of bruises and scratches until the wild race is over.

Gaining momentum in their downward course, the skiers veered sharply from trees and stumps, leaping through the wooded patches, gliding gracefully across the frozen benches of the hills, ignoring the kindly incline of the mountain road which they crossed and re-crossed in their descent. Figure after figure used its repeated levels as a take-off to carry them forward and downward in their mad rush through the frosty air.

Suddenly all the figures were lost to view as they neared the foot of the mountain and disappeared into the adjacent forest of spruce and pine and balsam. The crowds in the city streets converged to one point where the race was to finish. Then a shout went up as far across the railway tracks and rounding the last foothill, a swiftly glissading figure flashed into view, and Nels Nelson, Revelstoke's famous ski king, glided swiftly into the city street, down through the avenue of cheering crowds and past the tape.

In exactly five minutes this intrepid world champion ski-jumper had dropped more than 2,000 feet covering approximately two miles in his swift descent. Running him a close second came Ernest Field, another Revelstoke boy who glided past the tape two minutes after Nelson. One after another the glissading skiers returned while the crowd lingered to give each one his mead of applause in a sport which is fast becoming a fine art at the various resorts throughout Europe and which has been introduced in Canada by the progressive members of the Revelstoke Ski Club.
