TIMELY TOPICS

ately escaped serious injury.

Employees at the Startford incinerator got an unpleasant thrill Tuesday of last week, when they found 10 large, fully loaded cartridges in a load of rubbish just about to be dumped into the incinerator. The live cartridges were picked up somewhere around the uptown district, and the city officials would like to discover who it was that put them into the garbage.

Guy Massey died last week in a military hospital at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, just as music publishers were adding another chapter to a life already filled with war service, a girl's suicide, romantic wandering, dreams and poverty, by echoing charges that he plagiarized "The Prisoner's Song," a current popular ballad which brought fame to him, but fortune to others. Abscesses ended his life at 27. He was virtually penniless, although 800,000 copies of the waltz chant already have been sold. He was buried with military ceremonies, his funeral dirge the love lament of the song credited to him, his own dream of finally joining his sweetheart possibly realized through his death three years after her suicide.

The song today is heard America over, daily, carrying the following sentiment:

I'll be carried to the new jail tomorrow
Leaving my poor darling alone,
With the cold prison bars all around me,
And my head on a pillow of stone.
Now I have a grand ship on the ocean,
All mounted with silver and gold,
And before my poor darling would suffer
Oh, that ship would be anchored and sold.

James Booth, farmer of Innisfail Township, was committed for trial last week by Magistrate Jeffs at Barrie, on a charge of doing grievous bodily harm to Albert Woods, aged 17. Woods was injured by a rifle bullet from a 22 calibre rifle, alleged to have been in the hands of Booth last Halloween when a number of youths visited Booth's farm.

One of Brampton's worst fires occurred in the Brampton Milling Co.'s plant last week. It was two hours before Chief Harmsworth and the hundred-odd volunteers, made any progress against the flames. Total damage will be around $50,000, as two grain elevators, each containing some of the firm's stock, the whole office and all the machinery, had been reduced to wreckage.

St. Thomas have inaugurated their new system of bus transportation and with the continued success of the first few days, it looks as though the old street cars are gone for good. And now the St. Thomas council have the job of getting rid of the old street cars. Many citizens are anxious to buy them for garages and children's playhouses, while at least one person wants one for a summer residence. Alderman Meehan suggested placing the bodies on various vacant lots in the city and using them for polling booths at elections.

A huge snow melter invented by J. B. Lodge, of Beacon, N.Y., was demonstrated in New York last week. It consists of a great roller which can be heated to 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit, by oil burning inside. The roller is attached to a motor truck. Engineers say that the adoption of the scheme would mean a great saving in time, labor and money.

Mrs. John Downie, aged 55, residing on a farm 3 miles south of Bothwell, was instantly killed last week when the sleigh she was riding in was hit by Wabash fast passenger train No. 3, at the crossing near the C.N.R. Wabash Depot at Bothwell. The woman who was alone in the cutter apparently did not notice the approaching train.

Mrs. Frank Guy, of Chatham, who a week ago was run down and killed at Walkerville Junction, by a C.N.R. train, committed suicide, according to a coroner's jury at Walkerville.

On Saturday last, Feb. 20th, a monster "Jack rabbit hunt" was staged by the Western Ont. Fish and Game Protective Association.

The unconscious body of Ralph Frissora was found in the sidecar of a motorcycle on the River Road, Niagara Falls, with a considerable bruise on the back of his head. The police are searching for the man who drove the motorcycle and who has since disappeared.
