TENNESSEE ADVANCES

Down in Tennessee, home of culture, they are to hold a wonderfully inspiring contest at the University. It is a safe and respectable contest and will be kept clean and high-class without a suspicion of anything irreverent, or scientific or anything that might degrade the minds of the youth.

They are going to hold a hog-calling contest. They do it more honor—it is the "Annual Hog-Calling Contest."

Three cash prizes are to be awarded. Three judges will preside and will consider five points: volume, variety, intonation, musical quality, and facial expression.

Farmers are expected to enter from all over the state. Students will undergo most rigid examination before being permitted to enter. Even then they will be watched.

Anyone likely to ask a question about "how come" the modern hog, that sometimes runs to nearly half a ton in weight, so large and the razor back in the mountains so small—anyone doing that will be barred from the grounds. The hog just is and always has been. To say to the contrary is modernism and endangers the mortal soul of the sayer.

Suppose, just for the fun of supposing, some joker should bring in one of those monster Duroc Jersey hogs that is as red and as large as the modern busses and then should bring in a little runty, razor backed javelina from Texas and put them in adjoining pens! Horrible thought!

Some student might inadvertently point to the peccary with its little beady eyes, its 40 pounds of weight, its gray and black bristly hair, its vicious long tusks and its scandalous disposition, then point to the big, good-natured mountain of ham and bacon and chitlings and tripe, and knuckles and spare ribs and hocks, jowls and casings, and just say aloud or even whisper within the classic parlous of the campus: "See what breeding has made out of that little shimp."

That would be enough. Someone would start to thinking that breeding is nothing more than the result of change of environment, adaptation and — awful word — evolution!

Suppose the same sacrilegious student should take a farmer into the natural history department and show him skeletons or charts of skeletons of the ehippus and carry it on down to the modern horse, showing step by step the growth and change from the little scoundrel with pipe toes scampering over the tertiary rocks, on and on and up and up to the modern thoroughbred racer or the magnificent

Part III. Still Farther West.
Plugg proceeded leisurely down to the Blue Ruin Saloon from whence the cry came, only to find that the wicked and wily villain, Fatty Roscoe, had shot a hole through the glass of Ficker Galloping Sue was drinking. Plugg then and there sentenced Roscoe to eat his meals from the mantle-piece for two weeks. He then set out to jump Roscoe's Sapolio claim for Sue. While riding down the bed of a deep canyon, an arrow whizzed down from the cliff above and made itself into a flint-headed hatpin for Plugg's fifty-dollar spangled sombrero. Looking up, he discovered that he was surrounded by ferocious red men fully garbed in war paint.

NOT DEAD—JUST SLEEPING

A subscriber asks, if Jarvis is dead, and states there are no pointers to Jarvis.

A C. N. ticket agent in Ottawa tells the following:

"A man presented himself at the ticket window and asked the fare to Coteau Junction. I told him it was $2.00. He said he only had a $2.00 bill but could easily raise the other dollar."

When he returned with the three dollars and was asked how he got the other dollar he said:

"I went to a pawnbroker and pawned the $2.00 for $1.50. Then I sold the pawn ticket for $1.50. While you are making out the ticket kindly tell me who is out the dollar?"

SUMMER BIBLE CONFERENCE

of its kind in America.

The speakers for this year are among the most outstanding preachers in the Evangelical church today. These gifted Bible teachers and evangelists of wide experience in ministry will speak twice daily to those assembled in the great tent. Sessions daily at 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m., Standard time.

The speakers are as follows: Dr. P. W. Philpott, D.D., of Moody Memorial church, Chicago; Dr. E. E. Marsh, of London, England; Rev. Jos. Kemp, of Auckland, New Zealand; Rev. Herbert MacKenzie, of Cleveland, Ohio; Pastor T. H. Ballantyne, of Toronto; Pastor J. N. Miller, of Hamilton, and missionaries from the foreign field.

Special transportation has been arranged. Busses will start from the Gospel Tabernacle, now known as the Philpott Tabernacle, each day during the conference. Meals are also to be served in the refreshment pavilion. Many will be availing themselves of tent accommodation on the grounds. Address for information: Conference Ground Manager, c/o Philpott Tabernacle, Cor. Park and Merrick Sts., Hamilton, Ontario.

Percheron of today.
That farmer would start to think. Dangerous. He might go away from the hog-calling contest with more than learning about tonal effects, and dissonances in getting the sow and litter up from the acorn patch.

His thinking might lead to reading and investigation, with disastrous results. This student might even show the farmer some pictures of Pithecanthropus Erectus, of some Mousterian man, of the Heidelberg man, the Pit-down and the Cro-Magnon and the modern cannibal of the New Hebrides, of a Tennessee legislator, and finally, of a modern, intelligent, educated male American. What a shocking revelation that would be.

Of a truth the authorities in Tennessee may well guard that hog-calling contest. Therein lies a great peril.

TWO HUNDRED CASH PRIZES TOTALING $4,238.00 THE HAMILTON HERALD'S Treasure Hunt Contest

(1) This contest is open to residents of Hamilton, and also of Hamilton's Suburban Area, as set forth at top of page. Both old and new subscribers may enter. No person directly or indirectly associated with The Hamilton Herald or members of their family will be allowed to participate in the contest. Contestants must fill out Entry Form and enclose a paid in advance subscription of not less than six months nor more than two years, which will be credited to their accounts both as an entry fee to the contest and as a prepaid subscription to The Herald, which will then be sent daily until the expiration of the subscription.

(2) Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire, but each solution must be submitted in strict accordance with Rule No. 1. No contestant will be permitted to win more than one prize, those registered a solution cannot be changed. No solution accompanied by a subscription cash payment will be registered.

(3) The Hamilton Herald, as these prizes for individual effort and reserves the right to refuse solutions and to disqualify any contestants whom it considers undesirable—also the right to alter the rules and regulations—also to finally decide all questions which may arise. A paid in advance subscription and entry may be made in advance of a solution. All contestants must abide by The Herald's decisions.

(4) In the event of ties, such further contests will be held as are necessary to determine the winners. The amount of subscription prepaid will be a governing factor in deciding ties.

(5) Subscriptions for six months and over are transferable but only to individuals living in the City of Hamilton or within the boundaries of the Suburban Area as defined above. A subscription makes a very acceptable holiday or other present.

(6) The contest will open on Wednesday, July 7th, 1926, and will close, except in the case of ties, on Wednesday, September 15th, 1926. All solutions must be mailed or delivered to The Hamilton Herald on or before midnight September 15th, 1926. Solutions bearing post mark of that date will be accepted in the event of several contestants sending in correct answers. The contest will be conducted between September 20th, 1926, and September 25th, 1926, and the results immediately made known to the public.

The problem is to find the sum total of the figures shown on the Ape in the picture. There are no marks, lines or characters on the body of the Ape except figures. These figures range from two to nine, each one standing alone. There are no "ones" or "ciphers" in the Ape. There are no groups of figures—that is, the figure nine is the highest figure shown. There are no "23's," "55's," "97's" or like groups. If you find a "2" and a "3" are written so closely together that it looks like "23" it means that the "2" and the "3" are to be added just as you would if they were an inch apart. There are no figures in the picture except in the Ape itself. The tops of the sizes are distinctly curved, and the bottoms of the nines are straight or nearly so. There is no trick or illusion in the chart.

In addition to the cash prizes offered in the four areas, "A," "B," "C" and "D" The Hamilton Herald offers a GRAND CAPITAL PRIZE of $500, plus 25 times the amount of the subscription paid with the winning solution. Any one living in the City of Hamilton, or in the boundaries of the said Suburban Area is eligible for the GRAND CAPITAL PRIZE. The winner of the GRAND CAPITAL PRIZE becomes the owner of a golden rule of the Game Area, and the first prize in the Area in which the said winner resides will be eliminated.
