CHORAL PROGRAM A MUSICAL TREAT

On Tuesday evening, the 16th, the Jarvis Choral Society gave their concert in the auditorium of the Presbyterian Church. The program was quite well chosen, and the singing of the choir was in very good tone. One or two minor indiscretions in the tempo were noticeable, but on the whole, the efforts of the singers were exceedingly creditable, and deserved a far larger audience than that which greeted them. The performance must have been quite gratifying to the Conductor, Mr. George Rapley, to whom, with Miss Meta MacMurphy as accompanist, great credit is due in rounding out the choir.

The assisting artists were, Mrs. Urith Taylor-Seymour, reader, and Miss Betty Appelbe, violinist, of Hamilton. Mrs. Taylor-Seymour has a pleasing stage presence and is equally at home in the sublime as in the lighter numbers. Miss Appelbe is a very promising young artist, who gets a rich tone, combined with a very good technique. We predict for her a bright future.

The program opened with the boat song, "Under the Crescent Moon," by Bonheur, the rhythm representing the rowing of a boat. This was followed by a violin solo by Miss Appelbe, Schubert's "Ave Maria." An encore brought Cui's "Oriental," a charming bit of picciato.

The coupled numbers, "Music When Soft Voices Die," and "Robin Loves Me," the latter an arrangement of a 16th Century air by Frank Damrosch, were well rendered. In our opinion, they might have been done a capella, with even better effect.

Mrs. Taylor-Seymour captured the audience with her first number, "An Irish Girl at the Telephone," while she proved her versatility in her other numbers, the dialogue between Marcus and Mercia from Wilson Barrett's "Sign of the Cross," and the Scottish "two Courtships."

The rendering of Offenbach's barcarole from "Tales of Hoffman," with violin obligato by Miss Appelbe, was very much appreciated, as was also the lighter number, "You Stole My Love," arranged by Macfarren.

Miss Appelbe played Carrie Jacobs-Bond's "Perfect Day," and the "Elves Dance" by Jenkinson, responding to an encore with "Mighty Lak' a-Rose."

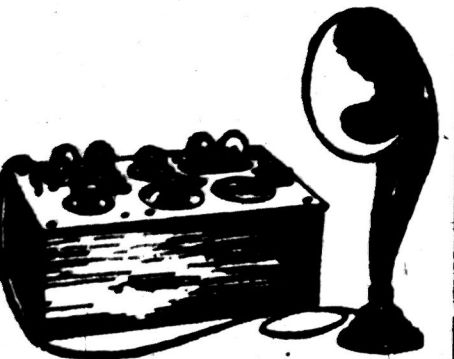

The choir gave as a finale Gounod's "By Babylon's Wave" and did it very creditably. We trust the Choral Society will continue next season, when they should be assured of a crowded house. We were pleased to note that the whole audience with the exception of two people, remained standing until "God Save the King" was finished. In many towns this courtesy is sadly lacking.

HONEY-TROUSDALE

The wedding was solemnized very quietly by Mr. Ellis Honey of Rockford and Miss M. A. Trousdale, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Trousdale of Walpole, at the Manse, Jarvis, on Wednesday, March 10th, at 3 p.m. The Rev. W. T. Brown officiated.

The bride, who wore a dress of rose-wood flat crepe, with hat to match, was attended by her sister, Miss L. Trousdale, dressed in black crepe satin. The happy couple left for a trip Hamilton and Toronto, and on their return will reside at Rockford.

E. J. Schmalz, the Kitchener man who escaped from the London jail on Monday of last week and was recaptured near Drumbo last Thursday, pleaded guilty to fraud, forgery and jail breaking. As a result of the escape, Louis Warner, turnkey at the jail, was suspended, Sheriff Graham, who has recommended his dismissal by the Attorney General, stated.

To find to what extent, if any, coal exists at Oshawa, drilling operations were commenced last week on Mill Street near the C.P.R. tracks. R. J. Ashton of Port Hope, is conducting the operations and will go to a depth of 100 feet. To date he is down 60 feet.

For the first time on record in the Diocese of London, a colored priest officiated at High Mass and preached a Lenten sermon in the evening last Sunday in the Blessed Sacrament Church, North Chatham. Rev. Fr. A. Norman Duckette was the priest.

Considerable quantities of 150 year old cognac, presented by Napoleon to the Russian grand dukes of the early 19th century are being sold in Russia for $20 a bottle. Ports, sherries, liqueurs and champagnes of the rarest vintages, the gifts of kings and heads of states to the Romanoff family, are sold for as little as 10 per bottle.

The law of supply and demand is inexorable. All the gold in the world would not stave off starvation unless that gold could be used to buy food. Tim Crawley, a Red Lake prospector, took a team of horses into the new gold field in Northwestern Ontario. He ran shy of oats. One of the air mail pilots agreed to get Crawley a bag of oats if the prospector would give him a claim in exchange. The bargain was closed. A gold mining claim is a pretty high price to pay for a bag of oats. But the horses needed the fodder. And when the supply of life's necessities falls below the demand, the prices immediately begin to soar.

With skull fractured and brain lacerated, Robert, 7 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sunstrum of Niagara Falls, is in the hospital as a result of being thrown from a coasting sled against a tree. Doctors say there is only slight hope for a recovery. With a companion who was steering, Robert was sleighing down a hill at Falls View, when a rut was struck, which threw the other lad out. The sleigh continued until the tree was struck. Parents, explain this article to your children, and show them the danger. They will understand this object lesson.

Production at Ford Motor Co. of Canada, Ltd., continues heavy. During the week of February 28th, no less than 6,706 men were on the company's payroll—the largest number in the firm's history.

Women and children, many only in night attire, were carried to safety down ladders when fire which wiped out the Benstein store, Pitt St., East, Windsor, threatened to destroy the entire upper apartment block. The damage is in the neighborhood of $35,000, the heaviest loss being sustained by Herman Benstein, proprietor of the store and block.

"VALLEY FARM" A FOUR-ACT COMEDY

"Valley Farm," the four-act comedy to be given by the young people of the United Church on Tuesday evening next, March 23, in Peacock's Hall, will be one of the events of the season.

It is a play that will amuse and interest both young and old. It is one of the plays that has no objectionable features about it. Although it is brim full of fun and amusement, yet it is quite clean and wholesome. It has a good moral running all through it, and like all first class plays, it reaches the climax when right prevails. "All's well that ends well." There is great variety in it and an abundance of entertainment throughout.

The admission fee is within reach of all. Bring your friends and come and forget your troubles for a while. See the bills for particulars.

SANDUSK W. I.

The monthly meeting of the Sandusk W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. C. Royce with an attendance of 30. The president in the chair. The meeting was opened by singing; the opening ode, followed by all repeating the Lord's Prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. A report of the social was then read, also a letter from Mr. Putnam. Mrs. A. W. Doughty then gave a splendid paper on "How to Promote a Community Spirit." Mrs. W. Werner gave a talk on "Caring for Our Cemeteries," and Mrs. Deal told how we should reverence the pioneer graves. The graves of our forefathers are, in most cases, sadly neglected and those are the ones that should be specially cared for, being the men and women that have paved the way and made our homes for us. The roll call, "How to Keep Abreast of the Times," was answered by all. Current events and suggestions for next year's program concluded the program.

Mrs. Werner then presented a silver spoon to Baby Lofthouse, Mrs. A. Lofthouse thanking the Institute in a very suitable manner on behalf of the baby. The meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem. The hostess then served a bountiful lunch and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered her for her hospitality.

"Valley Farm" is a comedy of four parts or acts, each one with plenty of amusement, given by our young people on March 23rd in Peacock's Hall. Don't fail to be there.

TO OPEN STORE ON APRIL 3

RENTON

The Cherry Valley hockey team came down to Renton for a match and were sent home feeling kinda blue. The locals put it over them by a score of 10 to 1. The ice was in splendid condition and all enjoyed the game. No doubt the defeat was due to a lack of combination playing.

Mr. J. W. Kniffin passed away in Detroit very suddenly, being ill only two days. Blood poisoning was the cause. His body was brought to Simcoe and interment took place at Oakwood. Mrs. Kniffin has the heartfelt sympathy of the neighborhood, where they formerly lived. Mr. Kniffin was working in the car shops and had engaged a house and intended to move out shortly.

SANDUSK

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ineson and Thelma motored to Buffalo last week, spending a few days there and at Dunnville.

Harold Hoebel has been visiting in this vicinity lately.

The Sandusk Young People were entertained at Wassal Farm on Saturday evening.

Mr. Chas. Nicol motored to Hamilton on Saturday.

Wm. Tyrrell had the misfortune to lose one of his best cows on Tuesday.

Harold Pond of Hamilton and Victor Pond and Murray Davis of Simcoe, spent the week end at J. R. Ponds.

The final hockey games for the Senior and Junior O.H.A. championships were heard over the radio last week with intense interest. Another thrilling series is expected this week.

Miss Mary Booth spent the week-end under the parental roof.

ONEIDA YOUNG PEOPLES PLAY WELL RECEIVED

Those who appreciate a clean and wholesome play with plenty of action to it, would certainly have enjoyed "Mary's Millions," the play which the Oneida Young People put on in Chalmers Church, Walpole, on Tuesday evening, March 9th, in aid of the cemetery fund.

There was a large and appreciative audience present. During the intervals musical numbers and readings were given by the Oneida Quartette, Mrs. McMorrin, Mrs. W. Gailing, Murray Gailing, David Smith and Mrs. Geo. Dunnett.

The play hinged around the love of a young surveyor, for Mary his school days friend, who had been left a fortune by her uncle in Texas. There were the usual complications brought about by a scheming aunt and a "bold bad villain" in the guise of a French count. Of course the villain was outwitted and "they lived happy ever after."

The parts were well taken throughout, but special mention should be given to the Countess, played by Mrs. George Dunnett; Mary, Miss Marion Smith; the Clerkess, Mrs. Herod; the "Village Constable," Andrew Smith, and the Civil Engineer, Andrew McConachie.
