SPRING

Sage remarks from Roy Hinds, traveller, author and student life:
 "Spring is the bunk. Year after year we say, 'what terrible spring weather!' It is always terrible: Thaw, freeze, snow, rain, chill; damp; slip, slish and suffer. But it is the beginning of summer, and we look forward to it, and then we look back to it and write poems about it. Same with youth. We suffer most before we are 30—doubt, jealousy, yearning, despondency, groping, disillusionment. Yet we love youth because it ushers in the larger experience of maturity—we love it illogically, as we love spring. Springtime and youth are both largely bunk."

 visions of the comfortable warm home they had left finally resulted in an "about turn." The youthful wayfarers arrived home at midnight.

Springfield, Ont., enjoyed a rather unique event last Sunday in having its "grand old man" Rev. Hiel Wood, who celebrated his 91st birthday last week, occupy the pulpit of St. John's United Church at the morning service.

In the main estimates tabled in the House of Commons, provision is made for the payment of annuities to Dr. F. G. Banting, discoverer of insulin, and to Dr. Charles Saunders, who originated the famous Marquis wheat. The annuity paid to the former is $7,500; to the latter $5,000.

Dreams entertained by several hundred residents of western Ontario of sharing in the vast estate believed to have been left by the late Robert Edwards, in New York, were rudely shattered the other day when members of the Royal Canadian mounted police reported that investigation had revealed signs of fraud. The Edwards heirs are numbered by scores in St. Thomas, and by the hundreds in the surrounding counties. The fortune they sought was valued at around $50,000,000, and organizers from Port Huron, Mich., and elsewhere went about forming associations and taking down in writing the claims of the would-be heirs. Naturally they collected a fair-sized fee.

PLYMOUTH ROCK

American Tourist: What sort of a chicken do you call this?
 Morg: That, sir, is, I believe, a Plymouth Rock.
 Am. Tourist: Ah! I'm glad it has some historic interest. I thought it was an ordinary cobblestone.

THE WORST STORY I HEARD ON MAIN STREET TODAY

Morg: talks so Gosh's the gent responsible for this worst story I heard on Main Street today.
 As most readers of newspapers and magazines are aware, the great American inventor, Thomas A. Edison; the universally known motor car manufacturer, Henry Ford, and the beloved naturalist, writer and white-bearded John Burroughs, for many years were close friends and enjoyed going on vacation trips together.

The three were going by motor car to the Adirondacks, and as they approached a mountain village two tires blew out in rapid succession. The chauffeur hailed a mechanic and asked if he could supply an extra tire. The mechanic was very obliging and offered to change the tires, but ere he had begun his task, the chauffeur, proud of his passengers, began introducing the "gender of tires" to the three celebrities.
 "I want you to meet Mr. Henry Ford, the famous automobile manufacturer."

The mechanic's eyes bulged.
 "And this is Mr. Thomas A. Edison, inventor of the phonograph, incandescent electric light, and many other remarkable things."

The mechanic scratched his head and a slight gurgle welled in his throat.

"N-o-w, looky here," he finally spluttered. "I'm a good fellow and can take a joke, but, if you introduce that guy with the white whiskers as Santa Claus, well, I-I-I just be d-d-d-darned if I change these here tires for you!"

Our Hired Man

When I told the boss that I smashed his truck in town the other day, and that it would cost $65.00 to fix it up, he said, "The auto giveth and the auto taketh away."

I hadn't milked many cows before I learned it didn't pay to weight a switching tail with a brick.

The other night, the boss and the missus had a spat over which was kept the cleanest, the kitchen or the milk-house.

"I scrub the kitchen three times a week," says the missus. "And I whitewash the milk-house three times a year," says the boss, walkin' out of the room.

Now's the time you can tell where the drafts in the barn come from.

Discussing small top milk pails, the boss says, "The milk goes in just as easy—and it's sure harder for the dirt to get in."

Last week we heard a talk by the County Agent on Bacteria in Milk—"It's the little things that count," he said.

"Big Game Hunter" Lauds Canadian Rockies

Col. Philip Moore, Princeton Graduate, big game hunter, war veteran, and mountain climber, is so well known in the Canadian Pacific Rockies that, as one guide put it, "he hails a grizzly when it passes him and asks after its missus and the cubs."
 Ever since Col. Moore first visited the mountainous regions of Alberta and British Columbia, he has managed to spend part of each year hunting, camping, and climbing in the Yoho Valley, where he added a few more miles to his 2,500 mile record on horseback as a member of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies.
 The building of good roads through the mountains and the resultant growth in automobile traffic is a new feature which adds greatly to the increase in tourists. The opening of the Banff Windermere road, and the road from Lake Louise to Wapta, thus making a splendid highway all the way from Calgary through the Kicking horse pass and the valley of the Yoho, has given tourists glimpses of wonderful precipitous canyons topped by some of the most majestic ice-clad peaks in the Rockies. Then, too, the growth of the bungalow camp idea has been phenomenal this season. Those whom the palatial summer hotels do not attract yield to the lure of log cabins, perched on the shore of a crystal lake, and shaded by overhanging mountain peaks. With a haversack on one's back, one may hike from camp to camp, or, if one does not scorn the saddle, ride a pony along the leafy trails.

 All these pleasures Col. Moore has proved, and intends to lecture this winter, as he has been doing for a number of years, about the marvelous beauty of his beloved mountains. He is not selfish. He wishes others to share the joys of the "hone trail" which has lured him into mountain fastnesses ever since he forsook the academic
