THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 4th, 1926

If there is anything that will make Mr. Ferguson's failure sure at the election on the 1st of December it is the too strenuous advocacy of the Liquor attitude by over-zealous newspapers, and candidates who abuse the Temperance cause. There are many Conservatives who will go with their party if they are not angered by insults to their principles no matter how weakly they hold to it.

The question is not whether strong drink or Temperance is the best for the country, but which is the best method of controlling the liquor traffic.

NOVEMBER

No shade, no shine, no butterflies, no bees,
No fruits, no flowers, no leaves, no birds—
November. —Thomas Hood.

The whimsical poet tells the truth about November in these clever lines, but not all the truth. He perceives the motif of the month and straightway proceeds to exaggerate the same—a privilege which belongs to a poet, and is assumed by some who are not.

Every month of the twelve has its characteristics and November an individuality quite its own. The vivid and varied color scheme of mid autumn gives place to a study in gray monotony. The trees are leafless and they stand sharply silhouetted against skies that are leaden and bleak. The wind rustles amidst the fallen leaves as if searching for something it has lost, and the fitful gusts scatter promiscuously the leafy heaps of brown and buff. There are hints not vague, but broad, that winter is near at hand and snow may fall any day.

There is a sombre charm in November days and nights. The air is often crisp and invites the pedestrian to fill his lungs to their peak with deep breaths and pure. The landscape is alluring, even in its undressed effect. Rarely there is a sunset of such weird beauty as would have John Ruskin to exclaim "It was well worth seeing."

The twilight comes early and deepens quickly into night. The constellations keep pace with the calendar, and shortly after supper mighty Orion makes his appearance and begins his triumphant march across the heavens. The insignia of November is the fender shock, the pumpkin and the turkey gobbler strutting to him doom. History and romance meet and mingle in this month, mellow with the memories of those days when America was young. It is easy now to see things at night. In the frosty twilight the rows of serried corn shocks resemble a village of Indian tipis and in fancy one sees the shadowy forms of warriors, their women and the children moving to and fro beneath the light of a harvest moon.

The time of the frying of doughnuts has come, the making of mince-meat and the baking of pies; the cranberry sauce blushes furiously for they are grinding knives in anticipation of Thanksgiving "dinner" out at old Aunt Mary's.

DOOMED

A storm of public opinion now brewing may sweep the unsightly billboard or advertising sign from the roadside of main thoroughfares in this country. Up to this time they have been multiplying in numbers, but there are indications that the public is soon to register a protest that will go far to abolition of these eyesores and vision breakers.

The roadside signboard has a certain advertising value and the public neither envies the advertiser for his profit from it nor does it desire to deprive the advertiser of any business advantage, but the highways are primarily for the benefit and pleasure of the people and the advertising sign detracts from those benefits and pleasures.

Motorists find the poster-board obnoxious for the three reasons that it mars the landscape, obstructs the view of the scenery and creates a traffic hazard by interference with the vision of the driver. All are sufficiently valid reasons why the advertising sign should be prohibited along main highways.

In the early days of the automobile the roadside poster-board was limited to circus posters on barn broadsides and motorists never dreamed of them as a future problem of highway administration. Public opinion then could not have been molded against the signboard. Today it is molding itself and may strike anytime. When the advertiser finds that his signboards are distasteful to the public he will not wait, if he is wise, until the passage of legislation before he removes them.

What jumps out of reach quicker than a promising future?

The height of ignorance is buying two neckties just alike.

What this country needs is socks guaranteed for 10,000 miles.

People smoke so much now it is hard to tell when to call the firemen.

Many men act as if asking them to pay a bill they owe were an insult.

The burning question of the hour is "Who will get up and start the fire?"

It is all right to follow your natural bent unless it makes you crooked.

When a woman plans a party, the fun consists in making a list of those she won't invite.

Municipal pride is at its best when a town first begins to worry about its traffic problem.

Winter brings back the man who takes a cold bath daily and lies about other things also.

Moving the telephone hook too rapidly doesn't give a signal, but it relieves the mind a little.

Women look better than men, but a man doesn't have to stay at home after he washes his head.

A foolish man seeks the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow while a wise man enjoys the rainbow.

Beauty secret:—Your eyes can be made bright and shiny by always having them on something you like.

Few inventors are bald. At any rate, the man who invented the custom of standing uncovered while talking to a lady wasn't.

TWO WEEKS AFTER CHRISTMAS

You wake up bright and early on Christmas morning. You open the stockings. Christmas presents on Christmas morning are the most wonderful things in the world. Under the soft light of Christmas candles, every present looks like a priceless treasure.

On the day after Christmas you begin to look at your presents more carefully. It is easier to decide which ones you like best.

One week after Christmas, your preferences are very definite. Two weeks after Christmas, you have to stop and think a minute to remember what some of your friends gave you.

Why not give your friends a Christmas present that they cannot forget, and would not if they could? The Youth's Companion comes once every week—fifty-two times in a year. For $2.00, what present could you possibly buy that would be more useful, more used, and better appreciated?

Just send your order to the address below and Santa Claus will take care of delivering the Companion to your home or to the home of a friend. Subscribers will receive:

1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues in 1927, and
2. The remaining issues of 1926, All for only $2.
3. Or include McCall's Magazine, the monthly authority on fashions. Both publications, only $2.50.

1926 Christmas Seals

The 1926 Christmas Seals, in aid of the Muskoka and Toronto Hospitals for Consumptives, have just been issued. These handsome seals, of different designs, are put up in assorted packets of 10, 25, 50 and 100.

The National Sanitarium Association is in need of funds to carry on the work of its hospitals in Muskoka and at Weston. Every dollar received through the sale of Christmas Seals is used for maintenance of patients there.

Why not buy these seals in lieu of others? Not only will you get good value in return, but your money will be made to serve a greater end, for it will go to help someone in distress. Look for the double-headed red cross on every packet. None others are genuine.

For sale by school children and banks, or direct from Xmas Seal Department, Gage Institute, Toronto 2, Ontario.
