Good Reception.

Tides and volcanoes, it appears, are two of the latest culprits that have been caught in the act of disturbing the radio peace. At least this is the theory advanced by a man who has spent the last year investigating radio conditions south of the equator. But this does not mean that reception in South America is not in many instances of the very finest. "I found reception best," this man wrote in reporting to the concern for which he has been working. "In Sattilo, Mexico, a place 5,000 feet high. Here on a five-tube set were received the Canadian stations and North American stations from the Atlantic to the Pacific." There are not many radio enthusiasts in Canada who could report on any better success than this.

GOD KNOWN BY SPIRITUAL SENSE

Material Knowledge Alone Inadequate.

Christian Science Doctrine Explains its Growth in Favor.

The lecture broadcast from Massey Hall, Toronto, last Sunday afternoon, as advertised in these columns, was given by Charles I. Oshroff, C.S.B., a Jew who saw that in Christian Science the teaching and practice of Christ Jesus should not antagonize Judaism. He said in part:

A great many people may now be said to know something about Christian Science. They know that many have been healed by it; that many women since becoming Christian Scientists; better husbands, wives, fathers, mothers, children, neighbors, friends, citizens. Many reputable doctors now acknowledge that Christian Science heals, and recommend it to patients whom they cannot cure. Many clergymen acknowledge that it is reforming a great many people, and that it is accomplishing a great deal of good in the world. But because most people are still unacquainted with the method by which these good works are brought about, with the teachings and application of Christian Science, its good works are still quite frequently attributed to other causes than that of which they are the demonstration and result—other causes than the power of God and of His Christ. The reason, it is but fair to assume, is not always the desire to be unjust to Christian Science. For generations upon generations people have become so used to trusting only material means to overcome troubles and to restore and maintain health, and so disposed to trusting God to help them that they find it difficult, if not impossible, to believe the Bible promises and assurances that God is "a very present help in trouble," and that in reality it is God who does as whether He is credited with doing it or not. Nor can the prevalent distrust in God be looked upon as strange when the training and customs of mankind through centuries for, as Shakespeare said, "Use almost can change the stamp of nature," and the true nature of man is to trust God.

The reflection of any yow here in a mirror must be obedient to you; or it could not be your reflection. Just so the reflection of God, man,—which means every one of us,—must be obedient to God, to good, in order to be man. Obedience to God, then,—that is, obedience to all that is right, and good, and beautiful, and pure,—constitutes the true man, and no one can be, nor is, man, without this obedience. It is by the true teaching as to what we really are, that Christian Science encourages and spurs us on to reclaim and to regain ourselves. It not only promises; it fulfills. Listening to it and obeying its demands, we mount higher, become more able, and more free; and through complete obedience to its teachings can that complete freedom for which we long, the kingdom of God on earth, be gained.

A Composer.

A woman was taken the other day to see the composing-room of our printing works.

"This," said her escort, "is the composing-room."

The woman gazed around with admiration. Her eyes lighted on a burly compositor.

"Do ask him," she said, "to play something of his."

Still in the Distance.

A very small boy was standing in the middle of a country lane with a large shot-gun, when a stranger came along and asked him:

"What are you hunting, little man?"

"I dunno," answered the little fellow; "I ain't seen it yet."

And Everything Moves in Curves.

Hubby (explaining late arrival): "Just as soon as the lodge meeting was out I came on a straight line for home."

Cultured Wife (doubtfully): "Well, I suppose that is technically the truth. Astro-physicists say straight lines are only parts of curves."

THE LIKENESS.

The near-sighted man and his wife were inspecting the latest art exhibit with critical care.

"That's the ugliest portrait I've ever seen," he cried angrily, striving vainly for a better view of the abomination.

"Come away, you fool," replied his wife. "You are looking at yourself in a mirror."

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

May Obtain Relief by Enriching the Blood Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

In the days of our grandfathers rheumatism was thought to be the unavoidable penalty of middle life and old age. Almost every elderly person had rheumatism, as well as many young people. It was thought that rheumatism was due to exposure to cold and dampness, and it was treated with liniments and hot applications which sometimes gave temporary relief but did not remove the trouble. In those days there were many rheumatic cripples. Now medical science understands that rheumatism is a disease of the blood and that with good red blood any man or woman of any age can defy rheumatism. There are now many elderly people who have never felt a twinge of rheumatism, because they have kept their blood in good condition, and there are many who have conquered it by building up their weak, watery blood. The blood-enriching qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is becoming every year more widely known and the more general use of these pills has robbed rheumatism of its terrors. At the first sign of thin, impure blood protect yourself against the ravages of disease by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have helped thousands—if you give them a fair trial they will not disappoint you. Their value in the case of rheumatism is proved by the statement of Mr. Finlay Beaton, Blackstone, N.S., who says:—"I feel it a duty to tell you of the wonderful benefit I derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I suffered untold agony from rheumatism and a run-down condition. The trouble left me incapable of work of any kind, and for a part of the time I was unable to move without the assistance of a cane. I took different medicine from doctors, and also other remedies that were recommended, but did not improve and had about given up hope of getting better when a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I did this with the result that within four months I was as well a man as ever I had been. I can say that I was a complete wreck when I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and that this medicine completely built up my health. This was some years ago, and I have had no return of the trouble since. I give this statement hoping it will benefit others."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Boats.

How lovely is the sound of oars at night
 And unknown voices, borne through windless air,
 From shadowy vessels floating out of sight
 Beyond the harbor lantern's broken
 glare
 To those piled rocks that make on
 Only a darker stain. The splashing oars
 Slide softly on as in an echoing cave
 And with the whisper of the unseen
 shores
 Mingle their music, till the bell of night
 Murmurs reverberations low and deep
 That droop towards the land in swooning flight
 Like whispers from the lazy lips of sleep.
 The oars grow faint, below the cloud-dim hill
 The shadows fade and now the bay is still.

"We Have Been Friends"

Madame Tussaud, who wrote the following verses, was a granddaughter of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, the dramatist. When very young she married the Hon. G. C. Norton, but the marriage was unhappy and ended in separation. This unhappiness led her to devote her life to literature and to the cause of women and children, and much legislation of recent years received its earlier impetus from her.

We have been friends together,
 In sunshine and in shade,
 Since first beneath the chestnut trees
 In infancy we played.
 But coldness dwells within thy heart,
 A cloud is on thy brow;
 We have been friends together:
 Shall a light word part us now?

We have been gay together,
 We have laughed at little jests;
 For the fount of hope was gushing,
 Warm and joyous in our breasts.
 But laughter now hath fled thy lip,
 And sullen glooms thy brow;
 We have been gay together:
 Shall a light word part us now?

We have been sad together,
 We have wept with bitter tears
 O'er the grass-grown graves where slumbered
 The hopes of earlier years.
 The voices which are silent there
 Would bid thee clear thy brow;
 We have been sad together:
 O, what shall part us now?

The First Mirrors.

Into a pool of clear water a woman (probably the first woman) gazed with quite as much satisfaction as her daughter of later years did into a glass of crystal clearness. That was the first mirror. Because a woman demanded a looking-glass that would be satisfactory on cloudy, windy days as well as on quiet, sunny ones no doubt the reason why polished metal became popular and looking glasses were fashioned of burnished gold, silver and bronze, set in elaborate frames incrustated with precious stones. These were, of course, owned only by persons of great wealth, while the poorer folk used looking-glasses made of the baser metals.

Glass mirrors were not introduced until the fifteenth century, and during this century steel and crystal were favorite materials, while mirrors of glass were occasionally made. At first glass mirrors were very expensive, and were often carried as an accessory of dress on a chain or ribbon. Many were beautifully mounted and were given as tokens of friendship among persons of high degree.

Famous Wax Works to be Rebuilt.

Madame Tussaud's Wax Works, internationally famous ever since Dickens wrote his "Old Curiosity Shop," which was burned out in a great fire more than a year ago, is to rise again.

The new company, Madame Tussaud's (1926) Ltd., which was formed recently to take over the century-old interests of the show, has now actually taken possession of the immense building, which has been an empty shell ever since the fire.

A new building costing $1,000,000 is to be erected on the old site, and this, in addition to the wax figure exhibition, is to hold a motion-picture theatre and a restaurant. The famous "Chamber of Horrors," which was in the old exhibition miraculously survived the fire, and the other wax figures, representing the world's famous people, are to be reproduced.

Madame Tussaud's was originally started in France during the French Revolution. It came to England in 1802, traveled about the country and about ninety years ago settled permanently in London. Since then it has been the mecca of London's youth and of young and old from the provinces.

A visit to London without seeing Madame Tussaud's has never been considered complete. A great-grandson of the original Madame Tussaud is one of the directors of the new enterprise.
